World Needs To Have Faith, Says Speaker At Lake

Rev. James Elder Says World Has Feeling of Being Insecure About Future.

The Rev. James Elder, pastor of First Methodist Church, Gallatin, speaking under the auspices of the Young Ministers' conference in session at Lake Junaluska, July 1-7, chose for his Fourth of July theme, "Faith in the Future." One of the younger ministers of the Methodist denomination, Mr. Elder, 31, is a native Tennessean. He holds graduate degrees from Lincoln Memorial University and Boston University school of theology.

"A dangerous disease has struck at the hearts of millions of people in our day," declared the speaker. "It is the disease of feeling insecure about the future. The silent cry from hearts of people all over the world is the cry for faith to believe that somehow out of this darkness the light of a new day will dawn."

"The speaker cited three bases for belief in the future on the part of a Christian, namely, the total on-goingness of life, the fundamental integrity of the present generation of youth and the unpredictable interferences of God in the life of the world.

"God has invested too much in the world to foreclose the mortgage now," he declared. "We can trust that tomorrow life will go on, our children will have homes and happiness and tomorrow will be a great time to be alive."

"At the time of the death of Jesus, in all the Roman world there was not a soldier to defend the cause of Christ. Today millions are defending his principles. We can trust the youth of our generation to cooperate with God in the building of a new world."

The Rev. W. G. Cunningham, of Oxford, Miss., will be the representative from the Young Ministers group for Thursday evening's platform.

One of the most talked-of books of the modern reading age is The World, the Flesh and Father Smith by Bruce Marshall. You had better put in your reserve order for this as our information from the dealer is that we can get only limited orders, so popular is this book. All of you who saw "Going My Way" and the almost unbelievable acting of the Priest, will be interested to know that this book, The World, the Flesh and Father Smith is along the same lines although entirely of a different character. Sounds a bit paradoxical but you will understand what we mean when you read it.

Applications For Fuel Oil Should Be Made At Once. Users of fuel oil in Haywood are urged to fill out applications for their winter supply now. Rufus Siler, chairman of the War Price and Rationing Board, said yesterday.

Mr. Siler impressed the importance of ordering the first tank full of oil on the day coupons are received from the War Price and Rationing Board.

"Your tank is part of America's storage," he pointed out, "with bulk storage filled to capacity with fighting gasoline to delay your order now is to overburden transportation and run risks of cold homes this fall."

"Heavy storage will not be available to meet your instantaneous needs this fall, because transportation facilities are still inadequate for heavy demands," he added.

"Every tank which is filled to-day insures a warm home this fall and lessens the strain on America's manpower," Mr. Siler said.

YOU JUST BET I'M CUTTING PULPWOOD

Army Salutes PULPWOOD AT WAR! On its radio series "Weapons for Victory" Tune in Thursday, July 19th, To Your CBS Station. See your newspaper for program time.

"The war isn't over for me till the Japs are licked and the boys come home. As long as they are overseas I'm doing my part to get the supplies to them." One reason the pulpwood shortage is still so acute is that the supply problem is far more difficult in the Pacific than in Europe. Supplies have to be double and even triple wrapped for the long haul. Pulpwood is now one of our most serious war material shortages and is on the War Production Urgency List. By cutting pulpwood, farmers are helping shorten the war; giving themselves another source of cash income; and helping themselves raise and market their other crops, since one of the largest uses of paper and paperboard is in packing agricultural products and materials.
