MARGARET JOHNSTON
County Librarian

It is with pride and pleasure that we announce the award of the Caldecott Medal to Elizabeth Orton Jones for her illustrations in "Prayer for a Child," by Rachel Field. This award is given annually for the most distinguished picture book of the year. A copy of this book may be found in the Children's Department of our own county library.

Elizabeth Orton Jones lives in Highland Park, Ill., where she was born. She was graduated from the University of Chicago and studied at the Art Institute in that city. Later she went to France where she was graduated from the Ecole des Beaux Arts at Fontainebleau and had the expert instruction of the artist, Lesus in Paris.

Color prints of children are a specialty of Miss Jones, and she has worked out for herself an individual technique of etching. She had her own little studio press, which is usually deluged with orders from art dealers all over the country. In addition to etching, Miss Jones works in water colors and murals. She has had many distinguished exhibits and awards since the beginning of her career.

Among her books are: "Ragman of Paris," "David Maminka's Children," "Twig," all of which she wrote and illustrated herself.

She has done pictures for "The Scarlet Oak," by Cornelia Meigs; "Told Under the Magic Umbrella," and the latest, "Prayer for a Child," by Rachel Field.

NEW MEMORIAL BOOKS

Among the newly placed memorial books in the county library are: "The Tar Heel Editor" by Josephus Daniels in memory of James Atkins, Jr., by his family; and "Christ and the Pine Arts," by C. P. Maus, in memory of Miss Jessie Josephine Herren by her sister, Mrs. Lucile Herren Fox.

TOWN and FARM
in WARTIME

Prepared by OFFICE OF WAR INFORMATION

CIVILIANS AT WAR

The Government needs and asks its citizens in the 137th week of the war against Japan to:

1. Sign up for at least one voyage on a merchant ship bringing soldiers home from Europe, if you are a competent chef, butcher, or baker. Sea experience is unnecessary. Wire collect, Merchant Marine, Washington 25, D. C.
2. Use and put up all the fresh peaches you can. They may be the only plentiful fruit crop this summer, and commercially canned fruits will continue scarce next winter. However, ask for no more coming sugar than you will actually use. By taking only your fair share, you will help make the short supply go round.
3. Enlist your Shepherd, Schnauzer, Pinscher, or farm Collie dog in the Army K-9 Corps. The need is urgent for scout dogs to spot Jap snipers and save American lives. Write or wire Quartermaster General, Washington 25, D. C.

Sunday School Lesson

Man's Failures and God's Promises

HIGHLIGHTS ON THE SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL
(The International Uniform Lesson on the above topic for July 8 is Genesis 3-9, the Memory Verse being Genesis 8:22. "While the earth remaineth, seedtime and harvest, and cold and heat, and summer and winter, and day and night shall not cease.")

THE THIRD chapter of Genesis begins the tale of man's failure to live according to the word of God. Placed in the beautiful Garden of Eden, with everything imaginable to make life happy and worthwhile, still Adam and Eve sinned. The serpent, we are told, was the most "subtle" beast in the world. Seeing Eve by herself, he asked her if it was true that they were not to eat of every tree in the garden. They could partake of the fruits of all but one, Eve replied, and of that God had said, "Ye shall not eat of it, neither shall ye touch it, lest ye die."

The serpent assured her that there was no reason in the world why they should not enjoy this tree, too, and at last Eve tasted the fruit, found it good, and as Adam came, she gave him some and he, too, ate it.

At once they realized that they had sinned. What had seemed very natural and proper before, now seemed wrong, and they made garments of fig leaves sewed together to cover themselves. That evening, they heard the voice of God walking in the garden in the cool of the day, and Adam and Eve hid from Him. When Adam was called before the Lord he said he had been hiding for he realized that he was naked. By this answer God knew that they had disobeyed Him and He pronounced sentence upon them.

Serpent Is Punished

The serpent was to crawl upon his belly thereafter and he and man would be enemies. Adam and Eve were banished from their lovely home. Adam was to work hard to make a living. "In the sweat of thy face shalt thou eat bread," said the Lord. "In sorrow shalt thou bring forth children." Eve was told, and so is recorded the first sin and its punishment.

The next sin? Adam and Eve had two sons named Cain and Abel. Cain was jealous of his younger brother because Abel's sacrifice to the Lord had been respected and his had not. Meeting his brother one day, in a fit of envious rage, he killed him, and the Lord sentenced him to become a wanderer upon the face of the earth.

earth. Cain mourned, "My punishment is greater than I can bear." Then follows the description of the civilization following Cain's residence in the land of Nod and his descendants. Enoch was his first son and Cain built a city which he named for Enoch. Jabal, a descendant, was the "father of such as dwell in tents and of such as have cattle." His brother, Jubal, was the father of all who handle the harp and organ. A half brother was instructor of every artifice in brass and iron.

Eve bore another son and his name was Seth, and other sons and daughters were born to Adam after Seth. Ninth in the succession from Adam was Noah, who was a man of God. By this time when men had begun to multiply, they became very lawless. "And it repented the Lord that He had made man on the earth, and it grieved Him at heart."

Decides to Destroy Living Things

The Lord said, "I will destroy man whom I have created from the face of the earth; both man, and beast, and the creeping things, and the fowls of the air."

Noah had three sons, Shem, Ham and Japheth, and God told Noah to build an ark and to take on it his wife, his sons and their families, and two of every living creature upon the earth, male and female. Noah did so, and the rains descended and the floods came and beat upon the face of the earth for 40 days and 40 nights, and every living thing outside of the ark perished. The water continued to rise for 110 days more, making 150 days in all. The ark finally came to rest on Mt. Ararat, and "Noah went forth, and his sons, and his wife, and his sons' wives with him."

Noah built an altar there and sacrificed upon it—the first mention of an altar erected to God in the Bible. "And Jehovah smelled the sweet savor; and Jehovah said in His heart, I will not again curse the ground any more for man's sake; for the imagination of man's heart is evil from his youth; neither will I again smite any more every thing living, as I have done."

"While the earth remaineth, seedtime and harvest, and cold and heat, and summer and winter, and day and night shall not cease."

And He made a covenant with Noah and put a rainbow in the sky as token that there would be no more floods like this one.
