

Much Pressure Being Exerted Against Ceiling Prices, Says Goff

Price Control Officer Points Out Dangers Of Letting Prices Get Out Of Hand.

"The principal problem confronting us today are why and how to comply with price control," D. C. Goff, district executive of the Charlotte office of War Price and Rationing, said as he spoke before the Lions Club Thursday night, and the Rotary Club on Friday here.

Mr. Goff cited instances of abnormal price increases after the last war, and compared those prices with today's market. "The price of steel today is the same as in 1939, which means $9 billion saved on steel alone during the past six years."

"Sugar after the last war sold as high as 35c per pound, and due to the sudden drop in prices in the early 1920's, some 17,000 farms went bankrupt, and 400,000 acres were sold under mortgage."

"There are 100 billion dollars saved up waiting to be spent, and this means a lot of pressure being exerted for new scarce merchandise. We must release this force of pressure by gradual means, and not let it get out of hand. The indifference on the part of consumers, and the uninformed merchants can create an unwholesome economic condition if not curbed," he continued.

Mr. Goff concluded his remarks by pointing out that price controls and rationing had cost about 17 cents per person.

Dr. Sisk Urges Immunization For Children

While there has been fine response to the requirements of the law that all children being enrolled for the first time in school be immunized against smallpox, whooping cough, and diphtheria, the law sets forth that these immunizations should take place by the time the child is six months of age, and before he reaches one year of age, according to Dr. C. N. Sisk, county health officer.

Dr. Sisk is urging that parents of all children six months and over bring their children in to the health department for these immunizations or take them to their physician.

"The law was designed to prevent the spread of these communicable diseases, and by early immunization it has been proved that many children need never suffer the contraction of these diseases."

"Since this is the first year of the law there may have been some misunderstanding about the necessity for the children of six months and not over a year of age having vaccinations against these three diseases, but we are urging all parents to comply with the law and get these immunizations done at once," said Dr. C. N. Sisk.

"To comply strictly with the law, it is also necessary for all those children now between six months and six years to be immunized so that we may catch up with the requirements of the law in full," further pointed out Dr. Sisk.
