

Public Asked To Pack Boxes For Veteran Patients

At a meeting during the week held by the executive boards of the American Legion and Auxiliary it was decided to again sponsor the "Give a Gift to the Yanks who Gave" program...

COOKED A FINE DINNER; THEN THREW IT TO DOG

One lady recently stated that she used to throw her own dinner to the dog most of the time. It made her sick just to look at anything to eat. She was swollen with gas, full of bloot, had headaches, felt worn out and was badly constipated.

The local Legion and Auxiliary are asking that each member of their organization and each citizen of the Waynesville area of the county fill a package of anything usable, though not perishable for a veteran, who is now a patient in some government hospital.

The list of contents of the box should be pasted on the outside, so that the receiving hospital will not have to open the package. If giving socks the size should be noted.

Among suggested gifts are handkerchiefs, scarfs, cigarette lighters and fluid pack, needles, thread, and buttons, pajamas, bath robe, snuff warm bed jackets and toilet articles of all kinds.

Things not to give include stationary as all hospitals have their own, no breakables unless packed in wood or tin, no alcoholic drinks or soft candies, homemade firm candies or hard candy will be acceptable.

Gifts will be for both men and women, as there are WAVES, WAVES Mammies and others in the hospital who have also served.

Last year all the packages were delivered to hospitals in this county, but this year may go by plane to distant places, where the sick and injured men and women are in hospitals.

Late is like this: The man who always advised his friends that everything would come out all right blew out his brains.

Cash Prizes To Be Given In Essay Contest By Papers

own arrangements for judging the winners in its own school. The high school will then select the first and second best essays from its own contest and send both of them to either The Mountaineer or The Enterprise for entry into the county-wide competition.

All the winning essays from the high schools must be turned over to either of these newspapers not later than Dec. 15. The winners of the county prizes will be announced early in January.

As soon as the Haywood winners are announced the first prize essay will be sent at once to the North Carolina Press Association headquarters to be judged again in the state-wide competition. The state-wide winners will be announced shortly thereafter.

Honors For Winners

Since this contest is being sponsored by all the newspapers of this state, the winning students, and their schools, will receive the widest possible recognition and publicity throughout North Carolina. The two Haywood newspapers will publish the texts of all six of the prize winning essays in the Haywood contest along with the pictures of the authors.

All essays should be neatly written (preferably typewritten, though this is not required) on only one side of the paper; not more than 1,500 words in length.

In planning to write their essays in this contest, students should consider the purpose of this competition: "To focus the interest of the present student generation on the place and importance of newspapers in our modern society."

The essay subject means newspapers in general, not any particular newspaper in any particular community. So, the essay should be the student's ideas on the place and importance of newspapers in our modern society — how they serve the people of a democratic nation, keep them informed on world, national, state and local affairs; leadership they furnish in their nation, state and community; and the general service they give their readers in all the many aspects of a modern American newspaper.

Each essay entered in the contest should have the following information attached to it: Name, age, home address, name of parents, name of school, and class or grade in school.

The above outline of the county and state contests represents all the rules there are governing the entire competition. The high school principals are free to interpret this outline in any way they consider proper and reasonable—and to conduct their own competition in their own schools in any way they like.

All high school students interested in writing essays for this contest should clip this article out and keep it for reference. It gives them all the information available on this subject.

It is important to remember that high schools must complete their own contests and have the first and second best essays selected and turned over to one of the newspapers on or before Dec. 15, 1945. That allows just four weeks to do the whole job within the high schools.

MARINES ARE BACK ON OLD JOB

POLICING A TIENSIN STREET as nonchalantly as if there'd never been a war, this Marine proves the truth of the words in that famed Leather-neck marching song—that "if Army and Navy ever look on heaven's scenes, they'll find the streets are guarded by United States Marines." The Corps were in Tientsin to restore and maintain order, but all U. S. forces in China were soon to be withdrawn. (International)

"THERE'LL BE A HOT TIME" IF HE CAN DISTURB THE PEACE

In Houston, Texas, the police are wondering if they can see their way clear to allowing a returned soldier to have his fling. GREATER MENACE THAN ATOMIC BOMB

Fear of an epidemic disease is causing more worry to American health authorities in Nagasaki than the after effects of the atomic bomb blast. It is due largely to the enterprise of a young Massachusetts doctor that no widespread contagion has spread from the death and devastation caused by that epoch-making atomic blast.

FEWER AWOL SOLDIERS IN WORLD WAR I

Less soldiers are going AWOL than after World War I, reports show. This fact may be due to several reasons. Major General Edward H. Brooks points out. The fact that the men are better informed now than then plays a leading part but other features are equally responsible. The men are given recreational and athletic opportunities that make them satisfied with their surroundings. Too, transportation difficulties has its place in the reason for staying "put" and liking it.

FUTURE USE OF ATOMIC POWER UNLIMITED

It may be that within ten years, power companies designing new plants may be utilizing uranium's atomic heat instead of coal. This prediction was made by Dr. Arthur H. Compton, president of Washington University, St. Louis. Dr. Compton went on to say that this possibility of atomic power would not mean the abolishment of coal usage. Each would have its own field. Such as use in small heating units, kitchen stoves, etc. In fact, he said, the incursion of atomic power would increase the importance of coal to an appreciable degree.

You get in, simply drive it to the nearest airport, attach 36-foot wings, start the 75-horse-power air-cooled pusher-type engine, rise and go to whatever destination you have in mind, watching the clouds float by under you.

ROCKETS MAY BE LAUNCHED FROM SPACE SHIPS

General Henry H. Arnold says that Space Ships will "unquestionably be brought into being within the foreseeable future." These ships will move outside of the earth's atmosphere and be capable of launching atomic bomb rockets on an enemy. General Arnold further went on to say. He thinks the possibility of developing a type of strategic bomb to even a higher power than the ones used in World War 2 is almost certain. General Arnold has expressed his intention of retiring soon, it was announced.

ROGER BABSON THINKS ADVERTISING PAYS

Good salesmen and good advertising mediums are the most necessary implements of post-war business is the opinion of Roger Babson, the renowned business prognosticator. He says there will be plenty of goods to sell, but the necessity for putting these available goods before the public will call forth the efforts of both salesmen and advertising mediums. The world will have to be advised of what there is to buy and then the follow-up man will be the salesman. Both are co-workers for the common good of the mercantile world.

Timely, Practical Household Suggestions

By RUTH CURRENT N. S. State College

With the aid of an ordinary food or meat chopper the home cook can convert some of this fall's abundant nuts to butter or paste for sandwich fillings. These butters may be used in soup, scalloped vegetables, stuffing, and omelet, or as part of the fat in biscuits, cookies and cup cakes. For a half pound of peanut butter; 2 cups blanched and roasted nuts; 1 tablespoon bland table oil; 1/2 teaspoon salt. Grind through finest plate of the chopper twice or three times until the nuts have the consistency of butter. Add oil and salt. Mix well and pack in a tight container.

"The egg is the cement that holds the castles of cookery together," once said a famous chef. You may use eggs to thicken a custard or sauce, to leaven or lighten a soufflé or cake, to hold creamy mayonnaise. Use egg whites still clinging to "settle" muddy coffee.

Flat omelets, fluffy omelets—whichever you like, the ingredients are the same. One or two eggs for each person, 1 tablespoon of milk for each egg, and salt and pepper to taste. To make omelets fluffy, beat the egg yolks and whites separately. For a flat omelet, beat all ingredients together.
