HIGHLIGHTS ON THE SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL

(The International Uniform Lesson on the above topic for Dec. 2 is Deut. 8:17, 18; Psalm 50:7-11; Malachi 3:8-10; Luke 12:13-21; 18:18-24; Acts 2:41-47; James 2:15, 16; 5:1-6; the Memory Verse being 1 Chron. 29:14. "All things come to Thee, and of Thine own have we given Thee.")

"AND THOU say in thy heart, My power and the might of mine hand hath gotten me this wealth." "But thou shalt remember thy Lord thy God, for it is He that giveth thee power to get wealth, that He may establish His covenant which He swore unto thy fathers, as it is this day."

"That is something for boastful man to remember, that it is not his wealth, but the Lord's and that only if he use it wisely shall it be a blessing to him."

In Psalm 50 God reproves the people for the spirit in which they bring their sacrifices to the altar. He owns all the world and all that it contains. It is not bullocks or goats that the Lord needs, but hearts full of love and thankfulness to Him. Without these the sacrifices are in vain.

In Malachi the startling question is asked, "Will a man rob God?" It is answered in the affirmative, because the Israelites had failed to pay their tithes. God commanded, "Bring ye all the tithes into the storehouse, that there may be meat in mine house, and prove Me now herewith, saith the Lord of Hosts, if I will not open you the windows of Heaven, and pour you out a blessing, that there shall be room enough to receive it."

People Are Ungrateful
The book of Malachi was written after the return of Judah from captivity, and God charges that the people were ungrateful for his goodness and mercy.

A man came to Jesus asking if he would intercede in his family affairs and ask his brother to divide the inheritance. Jesus asked him if he thought he was a judge. Then He told the man to beware of covetousness, and told a story of a man who had accumulated huge crops from his land, so much that he had no room in which to put it. So he planned to tear down his barns and to build a greater one that would hold all his wealth, and then take his ease. But God said, "Thou fool, this night thy soul shall be required of thee: then whose shall those things be, which thou hast provided?"

The rich young man asked the Lord what he should do to inherit eternal life, you remember. We have thus story often in our lessons. When Jesus told him to sell all his goods and give them to the poor, and to follow Him, he went sadly away. He couldn't think of doing that. Jesus, looking after him, said to his followers, "How hardly shall they that have riches enter into the kingdom of God!" It is true many times that when men, women, and even children have plenty of this world's goods, they forget to be grateful for their blessings, and goods seem the most important things in the world from which they cannot part—even to save their souls. This type of person "layeth up treasure for himself, and is not rich toward God."

Members Shared Possessions

Again the lesson refers to the early Christian church, the members of which sold all their possessions and shared everything with their fellow members. It was a joyous community in spite of the persecutions to which they were subjected much of the time. It has been proved again and again that such living is not practical for very long at any rate, but it worked in this early Christian community.

In James 2, the 15th and 16th verses, the practical side of Christian living is stressed. Says James: "If a brother or sister be naked, and destitute of daily food, and one of you say unto them, Depart in peace, be ye warmed and filled, notwithstanding ye give them not those things which are needful to the body, what doth it profit?"

Talk is easy. Words of sympathy and generous wishes are sweet, but helpful only if we try to help the sufferer in a practical way, and only then will we be truly doing God's will and carrying out the spirit of Jesus.

James has a final word for people whose whole life is given to acquiring wealth but who cheat their fellow men in the gaining thereof.

"Go to now, ye rich men, weep and howl for your miseries that shall come upon you. Your riches are corrupted, and your garments are moth eaten. Your gold and silver is cankered; and the rust of them shall be a witness against you, and shall eat your flesh as it were fire. Behold the hire of the labourers who have reaped down your fields, which is of you kept back by fraud, crieth and the cries of them which have reaped are entered into the ears of the Lord of sabaoth."

Household Suggestions

Taking care of a man's suit makes sense any time, but this fall brings special reasons for care of suits, new and old, say clothing specialists. Suits are still made of wartime fabrics that need help from the wearers to keep them looking well and to give service. Here are a few reminders for suit care. Keep suits brushed. Get dust out of folds and corners. Work with the grain of the cloth and use a good clothes brush. A whisk broom only hits high spots. A suit properly brushed and hung needs less pressing.

Hang coats squarely on broad wooden hangers of the wishbone shape made for men's suits. When a coat must hang on a chair, take time to pull shoulders into shape over chair corners. If a coat must hang on a hook, hang it by the loop at the back of the neck.

Best way to hang trousers is upside down, using a hanger with clips. If trousers must be laid over the crossbar of a wire hanger, fasten cardboard or thick paper over the crossbar, to prevent a sharp crease. Check buttons for tightness once in a while. It is still not easy to match lost buttons.

Trousers finished about one-half inch above the heels look and wear best at the lower edge. A strip of cloth or tape sewed just inside the edge takes the brunt of wear off the trouser cuff.
