Why Opal is Unlucky
 Some stone cutters are alleged to have started the superstition about opals being unlucky. These black and white opals from Australia were hard to cut, so the stone cutters started the superstition it is said.

SYMPATHY EXCEPTED
 Sympathy went unrecognized in an Atlanta court recently where a judge failed to see the motive.
 Arranged on a charge of drunkenness, an Atlanta man explained to the judge that a granddaughter had been suffering from hives, for which a physician had prescribed doses of lemon juice and whiskey. The defendant said he had sympathized with the girl's plight and taken some of her medicine. Police complained that this practice had led to noisy demonstrations to which neighbors had objected. The sympathizer paid a $12 fine.

Miss Hilda Way, who spent the week in town, has returned to Kannapolis to resume her work in the city schools there, where she is a member of the faculty.
