HUMAN SIDE OF LIFE

By—FRANCES GILBERT FRAZIER

Dream boats! There are very few of us who do not have a dream at moored to the pier of every-day reality.

It may be a pleasure yacht, bedecked with gay awnings and fluttering pennants; delightful music softly echoing through the air and mingling with gay conversation; or a slovenly, under-shot row-boat, one oar-lock missing and a small hole in the bottom that makes the owner bale out unceasingly.

It matters not the kind of craft, by all drift lazily down the stream of forgetfulness and out to the river of desire. For no one ever boards one of his dream boats and stays tied to the dock.

thrills that sweep past. The passenger on the safely balanced ocean liner peers eagerly into the future when he can relax on its decks and bask in the glorious sunshine of fulfillment; when he can visit the shores of foreign lands glowing in restfulness and enlightenment, and with the troubled waters of uncertainty far in the wake of his always advancing vessel.

The beautifully appointed pleasure yacht, with all its trappings, carries on its perfectly planned cruise one who would exchange all of the grandeur that is his for a single day when pain would not blur his memory of the little farm on which he started his career.

Perhaps the occupant of the leaking row-boat gets more out of his dream-boat than do the others. He watches the ripples of water sway softly toward shore and follows their tracery with pleading eyes.

In Virginia

JOSEPH GIBSON, Seaman second class, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. Gibson, of Lake Junaluska, is now stationed at Little Creek, Va. He entered the service on October 16, 1945, and took his boat training at Camp Peary, Va., from the latter he was sent to his present post.

by circumstances that force him to follow a circumference so small his emotions are cramped, he must go on rowing sideways and always baling so he will not be swamped in the undertow of environment. But nothing can keep him from loosening the rope of his dream-boat and go gently down the sweep of the river that leads to the shores of the future.

Kind Providence, who looks after our interests, probably makes reservations for these dream-boats of ours and sees to it that they are always ready for us to embark upon one of our trips. Regardless of how short the voyage, we come back with renewed interest and take up our present lives with greater ease.

Armed Forces Ask 20 Per Cent Pay Increase

WASHINGTON — The armed forces have put in a bid for 20 per cent pay hike and found first congressional reaction favorable, although the boost probably would cost $800,000,000 a year.

To many lawmakers reluctant about continuing the draft, the proposed increase in pay and allowances for all military personnel represented a fresh inducement for voluntary enlistments — and the more volunteers, the less demand of Selective Service.

The increase was recommended jointly by Secretary of War Robert P. Patterson and Secretary of the Navy James Forrestal, who said the objective was to bring pay schedules "more in line with the increased living costs," as well as to spur the current recruiting campaign.

The recommendation has Administration support, according to service officials who would not be quoted directly. They said it is in line with the White House approved policy for wage increases in industry.

These officials estimated that between $300,000,000 and $400,000,000 of the resultant increase would be required for the projected peacetime army of 1,500,000, approximately $200,000,000 for a 500,000-man Navy, and the remainder spread out among other services.

Soybean Rivals Egg For Making Meringues

WASHINGTON—The hen has a rival in the soybean—at least in one use for eggs.

Agriculture Department officials reported recently that laboratories have developed from soybeans "an improved whip material" which can replace eggs in making meringues and other confections.

The new material is extracted from soybean flakes and then a little protein and flavoring material is added.

On Sub Tender

R. VIRGIL HOGLEN, member of the crew of the U. S. S. Protos, a submarine tender, entered service on November 5, 1945. He was a student at Western Carolina Teachers College at the time, majoring in music. During his boot training he played in the orchestra at Camp Perry, Va.

His station is New London, Conn. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Hoglen, of route two, He graduated from high school in the class of 1945.

Former Haywood Man Makes First Visit Since '04

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Kelley, of Henry's Lake, Idaho, arrived on Tuesday to visit relatives in this section. Mr. Kelley, a native of the Pigeon section, son of the late James and Jane Kelley, of Haywood county, is making his first visit here since 1904. He will be with his brother Ralph Kelley and others during his stay in the county.

A veteran of World War I, he has passed through the state once since 1904, back in 1917 when he was in the Army. From 1906 to 1915 Mr. Kelley drove a stage coach in Yellowstone Park.

"When they put the automobiles to carry folks through the Park I lost interest in the job," he said. When he was discharged in 1918 from the army he decided to homestead in Idaho near the entrance to the Yellowstone Park. He has since resided on his ranch there and has raised cattle and sheep.

Despite the many changes in this section, Mr. Kelley stated that he was able to find his way without even looking at the signs, merely by following his directions as remembered.

Let's Tackle Inflation While We Can

You don't want your dollars to buy less and less and less!

You don't want your savings to melt away! Or the value of your life insurance to dwindle!

Yet that is what inflation can do to all of us. Therefore, thoughtful people everywhere are concerned with ways to smother it before it gets out of hand.

One major cause of inflation is a shortage of goods when people have money to spend for things they want.

That cause can be eliminated by the production of goods—fast—in quantity.

BUT THERE'S A BOTTLENECK

During the war there wasn't enough labor and materials to meet the needs of war and still produce all the civilian goods people wanted and could buy.

Therefore price controls on civilian goods were substituted for competition to keep prices down.

Today this country has all the labor and materials necessary to turn out the things people want.

Yet goods are still scarce. Store shelves are still bare. The national pocketbook continues to bulge. Inflation grows.

Why? Because price controls in peacetime hinder the production of goods. Business cannot live by producing at a loss. And so, goods that can't be made to sell at the prices fixed by the government just don't get made.

Nor will the raising of price ceilings solve the problem. When costs and selling prices are subject to change at any moment by government action, production has to be on a day-to-day basis.

That means uncertainty... reduced output... more inflation.

ISN'T THIS THE ANSWER?

Remove price control on manufactured goods and production will step up fast.

Goods will then pour into the market and, within a reasonable time, prices will adjust themselves naturally—as they always have—in line with the real worth of things.

Competition has never failed to produce this result.

This is the way you can get the goods you want at prices you can afford to pay.

Please think this over. Then tell your representatives in Congress what you believe should be done. You owe it to yourself... and to your country's welfare.

LET'S SMOTHER INFLATION... A postcard addressed to the National Association of Manufacturers, 14 West 49th Street, New York 20, N. Y., will bring your copy of a booklet explaining in detail why price controls cause inflation.
