Works Of Art Stolen By Nazis Being Returned
 MUNICH, Germany—Works of art worth about $132,000,000 looted by the Nazis have been returned to the countries which owned them. This represents only a small fraction of the Germans' accumulated loot and the Monuments and Fine Arts Section of the Military Government of Bavaria estimates that it will take at least another two years to complete the task of collecting and handing them back. Officers of the section March 7 gave estimates of the total value of the Nazis' cultural loot ranging from $580,000,000 to double that figure, with the possibility of new works of art being turned in or found in the hands of private individuals.

Sugar has been eliminated in cooking prunes. Secretary of War Robert P. Patterson, in a statement, pledged Army support to the food conservation drive, warning that starvation might cause disorders in American occupation areas.
