Indian on the Nickel

Several Indians have been publicized as the original of the Indian-head or "Buffalo" nickel but James Earle Frazer, who designed it, said the head is an idealized portrait and represents no particular Indian. Several Indians posed for him, at the time he was making preliminary studies, including Chief Two Guns White Wolf, of the Blackfoot tribe, and Iron Tail, a Sioux chief of the Pine Ridge reservation.

the funeral home and was later removed to Beach Island Presbyterian church, near Augusta, Ga. Here a service was conducted by Rev. R. F. Boyd, pastor of St. Andrew's Presbyterian church, of Charlotte at 2:00 o'clock Friday afternoon. Burial was in the cemetery of the church which was Dr. Walker's first charge.

Dr. Walker served the local church from 1930 to 1940, having retired in 1942. Since then he has been making his home in Charlotte and had supplied various churches out of Charlotte. His supply work was for short periods in York, S. C., Maxton, Rockingham, Monroe, and Lenoirville. He was a member of Mecklenburg presbytery and took an active interest in its work.

Dr. Walker was a native of Mecklenburg, S. C., born Sept. 8, 1873. On February 12, 1903, Dr. Walker was married to Miss Mae Ballenger, of Walthalla, S. C. He was graduated from Presbyterian College, of Clinton, in 1896, receiving the bachelor of arts degree (summa cum laude). This college gave him the doctor of divinity degree in 1918.

He received the B.D. degree at Columbia Theological Seminary in 1899, then in Columbia, S. C. He was ordained by the presbytery of Charleston, S. C., in 1899. The churches he served in addition to Waynesville were: Allendale, S. C., Hugo, Okla., Marietta, Okla., Hillsboro, Texas, Covington, Tenn., Lewisburg, Tenn., Paw Creek, N.C., evangelist of the Synod of South Carolina, with residence in Greenville, S. C., and following his pastorate here he served the McGehee church in Charlotte, from 1940 through 1941 after which he was pastor of the Henry Memorial church, Dublin, Ga., until his retirement.

Dr. Walker is survived by his widow, and one daughter, Mrs. A. Hull Withers, of Memphis, Tenn., and one granddaughter.

Meat Industry To Seek Relief From OPA In Meeting and handling of beef cattle and the products thereof, are deeply concerned over the present conditions existing in the industry.

"We feel that the efforts of the Federal Government to control inflation of meat and meat products have been utterly wasted and have tended to release, rather than control, those dangers. Due to price controls on both live and slaughtered cattle, and the impossible ratio set up between them, complicated subsidies and slaughter restrictions the entire industry has drifted into a most chaotic state. Producers are discouraged and legitimate slaughterers are being forced out of business, "black markets" are flourishing.

"Many animals are being slaughtered under the most unsanitary conditions, and as a result the health of our people is seriously endangered.

"We believe that the supply of beef, and the health of our people, would both be safeguarded if the sale and slaughter of cattle was placed back into the established channels and all regulations of stock yards and packing plants enforced by the Department of Health and Department of Agriculture as provided by State law.

"We therefore resolve: "1. That our members in Congress be requested to seek the elimination of price controls and subsidies affecting the livestock and meat industries.

"2. That our Governor and Council of State be requested to call the secretary of the State Board of Health and the Commissioner of Agriculture into joint conference to take such steps as will protect the cattle and meat industry in North Carolina against present regulations that are not practical for our small farmers and packers, and to safeguard the health of our people from cattle slaughtered without inspection."

Health Work Praised By Educational Head

"The public health nurses of this district are doing an outstanding job—one that the whole state is proud," commented Miss Helen Martikainen, assistant director of health education in North Carolina, at a joint meeting Tuesday night of the Hazelwood and Central Elementary Parent Teachers Association.

Miss Martikainen was presented by Mrs. J. R. McCracken, district supervisor of public health nurses. "The more I see and hear of the work being done on the health program in North Carolina, the more convinced I become that the state is far ahead of the nation at large, yet there are many grave problems that continue to face us," the speaker continued.

The inauguration of the statewide mass x-ray program to find tuberculosis was explained. "So many unsuspecting people have become victims of this sly and dreaded disease, that the new program of x-ray finds the disease in its early stages which means for a quicker and more definite cure," the speaker pointed out.

The drop in diphtheria and whooping cough was pointed out, and an explanation of the new state law requiring all children to be immunized against these diseases was given for the benefit of the preschool children's parents.

"Parent teachers organizations have played an important role in the educational phase of the health program, and the state and national departments deeply appreciate your efforts and cooperation," Miss Martikainen concluded.

Mrs. Carl Ratcliff was in charge of the program, and Mrs. Grady Farmer presided. After the program the association served re-

Cooking Macaroni

When cooking macaroni, spaghetti or noodles, put two to three quarts of boiling water and one tablespoon salt into a four-quart size pan. This is for four ounces of the macaroni, spaghetti or noodles. With water at bubbling point, gradually add the spaghetti so as to keep water actively boiling. Leave pan uncovered. If the macaroni or spaghetti or noodles tend to stick to the bottom of the pan, loosen them gently with a wooden spoon or a spatula after they have cooked about three minutes.

Washing Woodwork

When washing woodwork, use dry suds from whipped soap jelly to prevent streaking. Use a strip of cardboard to protect the wall next to door frames and baseboards from getting splashed.

freshments in the school lunchroom.

Saving of Food Program Starts

The U. S. D. A. is getting their program for conservation of foods and planting of more extensive gardens in the county under way, it was learned from Wayne Corpening, county farm agent, who is heading the Haywood group.

The organization is having printed a leaflet which will be attached to every menu used in the eating places in the county, which sets forth certain rules to be observed and an appeal to the managers and the public to cooperate.

Letters are to be mailed out through the schools to all families in the county, in which the critical situation of the world famine is told.

The following ways in which the citizens of Haywood county can aid in the drive to help save food for the starving millions is also incorporated in the letter:

Grow more Victory gardens and eat food at home.

Prevent waste of bread. It is estimated that five per cent of one slice out of every loaf of bread baked every day goes into the garbage.

Use less bread at each meal; use potatoes for example as alternates for bread; use oat cereals more often; a serving of oatmeal equals two slices of bread in food value.

Make better use of meat drippings for cooking and seasoning food.

Serve fewer fried foods.

Save and re-use fats and oils for cooking purposes.

Render excess fats on meats and save bacon grease for cooking purposes. Salvage all fats that cannot be re-used and turn in to your grocer who will send them to the right place.

The letter which is going to all families in the county is signed by Jack Messer, county superintendent of education, R. C. Francis, AAA county chairman and Wayne Corpening, farm agent.
