Traffic On N. C. Highways Break New High Record

March traffic on rural highways in North Carolina created a new record for that month, exceeding by 2 1/2 per cent the volume in March, 1941, the previous high month, James S. Burch, engineer of statistics and planning for the State Highway Commission reported yesterday on the basis of counts made by 20 traffic recorders in various sections of the state.

"With an abundance of gasoline the large registration of vehicles, the resumption of new car manufacture and the increased availability of tires, there is every reason to expect all-time high traffic volumes on the highways during the summer and fall seasons to come," he declared.

Plans Underway To Continue AAA

Plans are now in the making for continuation next year of the AAA's agricultural conservation program in which North Carolina farmers received payments totaling $34,288,000 between 1936 and 1944. G. Tom Scott, state director of the Production and Marketing Administration, said recently.

County Triple-A committees are drawing up crop and payment recommendations to be made for inclusion in the 1947 conservation program, Scott said. He encouraged farmers to make their desires known to local committees. Deadline for submission of requests to the state committee is May 1, Scott reported.

Payments to farmers under the conservation program for planting recommended soil-building crops and applying other accredited farm practices, rose from a low of $963,000 at the beginning of the program in 1936 to a high of $7,609,000 in 1943. A drop in payments to $5,805,000 in 1944 was attributed to shortages of certain farming materials and a short labor supply.

Payments for practices in 1945 are expected to approximate those of 1944. A substantial increase in conservation money is predicted for this year.

He stressed the fact that the next few years will bring about changes in the schools that will be of great value, stating that much stress will be placed upon physical education. He also stated that through the combined efforts of parents and teachers we must be brought to the realization that we must try to understand our friends and enemies in other parts of the world and assume our share of the responsibility for their well-being.
