

Sixty Haywood Farm Leaders Go On Tour Saturday

Approximately sixty Haywood farm leaders attended the tour of Alfalfa and Ladino clover which was conducted by the farm agents on Saturday. The tour consisted of visits to fields of alfalfa and Ladino clover in different parts of the county.

Farms inspected included those of Roy L. Robinson in the Thickety section, A. C. Walker in Crabtree, and O. Borne farm in Pigeon.

At each farm all the details of how the crops were grown, when planted and the methods used were given by the growers and the numerous questions asked by the group were answered. It was believed by the group that Alfalfa will produce more tonnage of finer quality than any other variety that can be grown in Haywood county.

The Alfalfa grown by Mr. Robinson was over knee deep, completely covered with dew and the stand was very thick and heavy, according to those on the tour. It appeared that the next cutting would yield about 2 tons per acre. The normal cutting per year are four, with the heavy yield.

They also learned that fall seed is not as good as spring seed. It was pointed out that the Alfalfa and Ladino clover are necessary for growing good alfalfa and seed is important in a good seedbed, well prepared.

At the O. Borne farm the speaker said that Ladino clover is superior to all other clovers because it is more resistant to frost and drought. It was pointed out that the O. Borne field is a fine example of seeding Alfalfa and Ladino clover well on a good seedbed, well drained.

WITH THE COLUMNISTS

DANGER SPOT . . . Drew Pearson

Several developments recently have made Trieste even more explosive. They are: Tito has forbidden American and British airplanes to fly over Yugoslav territory on reconnaissance flights. He has given his men orders to shoot such planes on sight.

Twenty thousand Russian troops have left Hungary and crossed the border into Yugoslavia. U. S. observers know this from the reconnaissance flights which Tito has now banned. Probably that's the reason he banned them—to prevent further knowledge of Russian troop movements.

U. S. troops in Trieste have been given orders to fire if the Yugoslavs enter the city.

The Italian government has offered to place 15 divisions at the disposal of the Americans and British. However, they lack heavy arms and would have to be given new equipment. The United States has declined this offer.

In brief, Trieste has all the potentialities of war.

WORLD STATE . . . Walter Lippman

Much has had to happen, much experienced, discovered, and learned, before the leading peoples of the world could arrive at the point where the formation of the world state was not only what many of them desired but what in fact they were engaged in creating.

Now the ancient ideal has become an idea, indispensable in fact, to which men have been compelled to turn: there is no other way they can exact justice for the crimes of war, no other way they can establish effective safeguards against the misuse of the weapons of mass destruction, no other way they can hope to make international agreements enforceable. The solution of the most urgent practical problems and the advance toward a wider and greater order of peace among men depend upon the same fundamental idea. We need not hesitate to recognize it and to proclaim it and to employ it as the creative principle of the coming order of mankind.

SUPPRESSING NEWS . . . George E. Sokolsky

When a "Big Shot" in government gives reporters an "off the record" story, he is usually attempting to suppress news which any first-class newsman should be able to pick up in a dozen places. Many columnists decline to attend such press conferences and refuse absolutely to listen to anything "off the record." They regard this trick as an indirect form of censorship.

Government agencies often issue distorted stories which being universally published are believed to be true. It would be advantageous if all such published accounts reveal the source of information whenever the source is wholly or in part responsible for the statements. Official distortion is a method of censorship.

What is here said about the press, goes doubly for radio. That instrument of expression is completely under government censorship through the indirect method of licensing.

WORLD FAMINE . . . Samuel Grafton

Mr. Hoover says we need no rationing (we alone on earth) because it would take three months to set it up, and it is only three or four months to the next crop, and Mr. Truman is only cause it has just rained in France.

One wonders whether those who have starved since 1940 can be restored by being fed a little for a few months. One has heard that it takes years to wipe out these marks. And one wonders whether the cheerful casualties of this approach would be tolerated in the case of a purely political issue before the Security Council.

MAN TO MAN . . . Harold L. Ickes

This nation ought to be on the mourners' bench for being the only power in the Pacific which, even in peacetime, has governed a populated area as a military base. The United States Navy has ruled American Samoa ever since 1900. Guam is in the same boat, although it sent a delegation to Washington several years ago to plead that it be taken out from under the Navy. The rule of the Navy may be beneficial but it certainly is not democratic.

PRICE CONTROL . . . Gladstone Williams

It is the policy of OPA to remove controls as fast as balance is struck on consumer items.

Most of our government and private economists are agreed that it would sheer stupidity to cast off existing controls until we reach something approaching an even keel in production.

In the face of facts by Mr. Bowles and other experts, it is disturbing to have men who should be leaders of thought agitating for a course that can mean nothing but injury to the rank and file.

POWER POLITICS . . . Wm. Philip Simms

Peace of the world depends upon ending the present game of power politics—in Europe, Asia and Africa. The most dangerous powder kegs are in the Middle East and the basin of the Mediterranean.

Therefore, if the United Nations could take Italy's disputed areas under their common wing, and appoint Dr. Zimmermans to manage them as international trusteeships, perhaps the world could get on with the vital job of peacemaking.

EMPLOY VETS . . . Eleanor Roosevelt

I saw in the paper that in New York State there are now 350,000 veterans who are jobless, and that the U. S. Employment Service feels this number will rise to 600,000 by mid-summer.

I feel quite sure that one of the difficulties is that we are not enforcing the Fair Employment Practices Act. Therefore a good deal of our unemployment is among our colored veterans.

The U. S. Employment Service estimates that about one-third of the jobs offered carry salaries of from $30 to $40 a week. Another third pay from $40 to $60 a week, with about 10 per cent below $30 and the remainder above $60. So they are going to make a drive to reach the employers and urge them to employ more veterans.
