

That Nagging Backache

May Warn of Disordered Kidney Action

Modern life with its hurry and worry, irregular habits, improper eating and drinking—its risk of exposure and infection—throws heavy strain on the work of the kidneys. They are apt to become over-taxed and fail to filter excess acid and other impurities from the life-giving blood.

You may suffer nagging backache, headache, dizziness, getting up nights, leg pains, swelling, feel constantly tired, nervous, all worn out. Other signs of kidney or bladder disorder are sometimes burning, scanty or too frequent urination.

Try Doan's Pills. Doan's help the kidneys to pass off harmful excess body waste. They have had more than half a century of public approval. Are recommended by grateful users everywhere. Ask your neighbor.

Veterans Offered Correspondence Courses

A program of veterans' training is being offered through the public schools by the International Correspondence School of Scranton, Pa., with some 200 courses. It has been announced by Jack Messer, county superintendent of education.

The program will be offered to all veterans both graduates and to those who have not completed high school. If sufficient numbers are interested in the work, a school will be set up here with courses under a supervisor. A supervisor will be named, according to Mr. Messer, who will supervise the study course and see that all lessons are sent into the school in Scranton.

There must be a minimum of ten students signed up for the courses before the school will be established here, it was pointed out by Mr. Messer. There will be no cost to the veteran in taking the work.

If anyone who entered the service through the Waynesville draft board is interested in taking work under the program, he is asked to contact either the office of the county superintendent or the Waynesville Township high school.

Anyone residing in the Canton area of the county are asked to get in touch with A. J. Hutchins, superintendent of the Canton school district.

If sufficient numbers express their desire to enter such a school a general organization meeting will be held in the near future, it has been announced by Mr. Messer.

SCOTT'S SCRAP BOOK

All Bread Dealers Must Display New Weights On Cards

Agriculture Commissioner Kerr Scott has announced that all North Carolina retail stores and other businesses selling bread or rolls short of the weight printed on the package are required to have on display near their bread counters cards informing the public that "bread and rolls sold here may be short of the labeled weight up to 10 per cent, or not over two ounces."

He explained that pursuant to the recent government order, bakers are reducing the weight of their bread products in order to conserve flour.

At a recent meeting held between representatives of the North Carolina Bakers' Council and the officials of the State Agriculture Department it was agreed that the cards informing the public of the short weight of the bread and rolls would be preferable to having new wrappers printed, according to Scott. He said that the order, in effect only through June 30, would otherwise have necessitated considerable waste of paper and involved large printing costs for the baker.

The card system, he explained, has been cleared with the State Attorney General's office.

Elevator Operator Has Outlasted Six Governors

BOSTON — Elevator operating may have its ups and downs, but you certainly get to know a lot of Governors, says Richard (Dick) Morrissey.

For the past 20 years Morrissey has operated a lift at the Massachusetts State House, taking as much pride in his work as the pilot of an airliner. During that time six Governors have come and gone, but Morrissey is still on the job.

Morrissey has found every chief executive friendly and democratic, and has enjoyed shuttling them to and from the gubernatorial suite.

His favorite story concerns the present executive, Gov. Maurice J. Tobin. After 5:30 p. m. the elevator is self-operating. At 6 o'clock one afternoon Gov. Tobin stepped into the cage, preparing to operate it himself. Suddenly a woman squeezed into the car and said, "Fourth floor, please."

The Governor obliged.
