The bride wore for her marriage a black and white pin checked suit with black accessories. She is a graduate of the Proctor high school near Fontana Dam.

The bridegroom is a veteran of World War II and served 18 months in the Pacific theater. He is now employed by the A. C. Lawrence Leather company.

The couple will make their home in Hazelwood.

Clyde FHA Group Gives Mother-Daughter Tea

The Clyde high school chapter of Future Home-makers of America gave a Mother-Daughter tea on Friday between the hours of three and five o'clock.

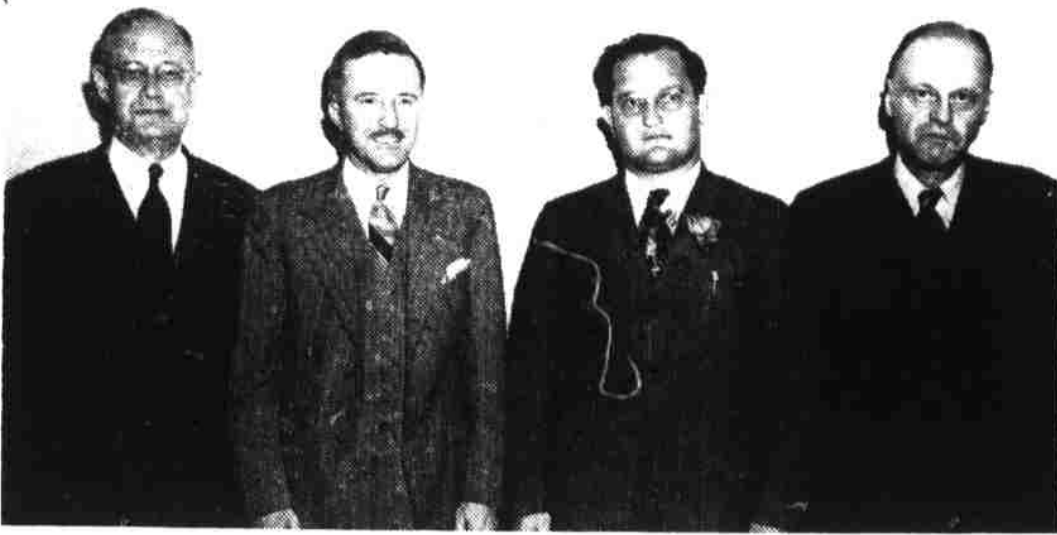

The tea was given in the Home Economics department which was decorated in an arrangement of red and white spring flowers. Miss Sara Queen, Home Economics teacher, presided at the punch bowl, and she was assisted in serving by various members of her Home Economics classes.

Special guests invited were the women faculty members, the lunch room workers, and Miss Mary Margaret Smith and Miss Helen Smith, Home Demonstration Agents.

Not Meat

When buying nuts in their shells, homemakers sometimes are uncertain as to how much "meat" they will yield. This yardstick suggested by experts will help eliminate guesswork: One pound of unshelled almonds yields about one cup of shelled kernels; one pound of filberts, about one to one-third cups; one pound of peanuts, about two cups; one pound of pecans, almost one and one-half cups; one pound of English walnuts, a little more than one and one-half cups halved kernels, and one pound of black walnuts, about one-half broken kernels.

The Main Topic Was "Summer Visitors"

Morgan Tells How State Board Of Elections Works

"There is a general feeling in many sections that the absentee ballot should not be done away with," J. R. Morgan, member of the State Board of Elections told Rotarians here Friday.

"Several attempts have been made to get the law changed in the legislature, but without success," he continued. "The law now limits the use of the absentee ballot to general elections, although it was amended at the start of the war to include those in service for voting in primaries."

Mr. Morgan discussed the rules and working of the state board, giving interesting highlights of some cases of fraud which the board had cleared up in the past few years.

He told of one case where extra ballots had been printed and used throughout the county. In another case, the lights went out as the votes were being counted, and the board was called in to hold an investigation and determine the results of the election.

"Each year, we have some candidates who wait until one minute before six to file for state or federal offices. It is quite interesting to watch them wait until the last minute to make the final decision."

Mr. Morgan has been a member of the board for the past five years.

J. G. Gibbs Talks To Legion And Auxiliary Friday

J. G. Gibbs was the speaker at the joint meeting of the American Legion and Auxiliary held on Friday night, having as his subject a discussion of his hobbies. He was introduced by Robert Livingston.

The Legion and the Auxiliary had separate business sessions following the joint meeting, with Mrs. J. R. Burgin presiding over the Auxiliary and J. C. Patrick, commander of the Legion presiding over the latter group.

During the meeting of the Auxiliary, plans were formulated for the sale of poppies on the street of the community and in the industrial plants. Among those who have signified their intention of helping in the sale are: Marie Stranger, Peggy Brown, Lucile Calhoun, and Frances Leatherwood. The girls will sell poppies in the morning and the members in the afternoon.

Ahead of Time

When the Swedish scientist Arrhenius submitted his thesis on electricity for a doctor's degree, it was given the lowest grade that could be granted without refusing the thesis entirely. Nineteen years later he won the Nobel prize—for the same thesis.
