

Bethel Future Farmers Close Successful Year

(Contributed)
1945-1946

At the beginning of this year, the Bethel Chapter of Future Farmers of America set out for a busy year, preparing themselves to put the work ahead, behind.

At first the chapter met and elected its officers and set up their goals for the year.

Our class room study has changed quite a bit this year. Since the school has purchased a motion picture machine, the advisor of our chapter orders films of information to farmers. We also have magazine study and some book work.

Outside the class room great accomplishments have been made. The chapter bought a patch of beans and took the responsibility of clearing the chapter one hundred dollars. We donated this to the cannery. For the food relief fund the chapter earned, gathered and donated, along with the help of some other chapters, over fifteen hundred cans of fruits and vegetables. We canned 4,000 quarts of food for the school lunchroom. We also helped the other farmers of the community harvest beans that otherwise would have gone to waste.

We also set up our goal to enter all FFA contests, in which we have thus far met. First was the Ritual and Parliamentary Procedure held at Cullowhee. We won first place there and look forward to going to Asheville for the district sometime in May.

Next was the crops contest held here at Bethel. Richard Stanley, Davis Whitesides and Frederick Murray represented the chapter. They taking first place, got to go to Raleigh in which they won 8th place out of 47 schools.

Our 12th annual Father and Son Banquet was held in the gymnasium, April 12. The main feature this year was a moving picture "The Green Hand". There were approximately 150 present. The second year Home Economics girls served.

Our chapter initiated 34 boys this year and 15 boys have the Future Farmer Degree.

Richard Stanley has qualified for the State Farmer degree. Some of the qualifications are:

1. 35 or above on all high school subjects.
2. Held office in chapter.
3. Entered contests outside chapter.
4. Earned and invested for project.

In the Field Day contest, Clyde won over us with 74 points to our 69. There were 10 schools that entered.

The Livestock Judging Contest will be held here May 17. The Home Economics girls will serve refreshments.

Thirteen boys have Certified Hybrid seed corn for a project this year.

This ends our work this year and as the years come we hope to advance.

Russians Employ German Tutors Penalty Rate Of

BERLIN — Reliable American and German informants who declined to be named report that the Russians have been engaging certain expert army, navy and air force men of the former German armed forces for service as instructors for the Red Army and Navy.

Russian authorities here would not comment on these reports, some of which came from deep in the Russian zone of occupation.

An American officer who reported this Russian use of German personnel—all presumably disarmed and disbanded — observed that "German stuff is not hard to sign up."

"Why, I can show you lots of applications from Germans wanting to join the American Army," he added.

This officer said — and an informed German editor of a Russian-controlled Berlin daily newspaper concurred — that the Russians were calling specialists from the ranks of captured German soldiers and were putting them to work teaching the Russian armed forces in branches where the Germans excelled.

In aviation, for instance, these sources said, the Germans were teaching the Russians advanced aerodynamics, especially wrinkles of instrument navigation.

NEGOTIATIONS HALT CIVIL WAR

THREAT OF civil war in Iran has been delayed by storms which kept Azerbaijan's Premier Jafar Pishevari from leaving Teheran by air. The Premier then reopened negotiations with the Central Government on plans for returning the self-proclaimed independent province of Azerbaijan to Iranian jurisdiction. 229,239 Army Deaths During The Past War

WASHINGTON — Casualty lists for World War II released this week by the War department set the number of army battle deaths at 229,239 for all theaters, and the total number of battle casualties of all types, including wounded, injured, captured and missing, at 948,418.

The figures cover the period from December 7, 1941, through February 28, 1946.

The difference of 719,180 between the total casualties and the total deaths represents 691,700 returned to duty, 16,273 currently carried as wounded, 3,083 former prisoners of war not yet accounted for, 7,814 missing in action still subject to search, and 310 who died while in captivity and were already counted in the total deaths figure. The figures do not include such non-battle casualties as illness not the result of action, training accidents, domestic plane crashes, and traffic deaths and injuries traceable to civil life.

The War Department cautioned against considering the total casualty figure of 948,418 as representing that many individuals. Many persons were injured or wounded twice, and other individuals fell into two or more casualty categories; for example, a man wounded and then captured is counted as two casualties. Figures on the number of separate persons who became casualties were not available.

The European theater, with the greatest number of casualties in all brackets. Of the 592,074 total battle casualties recorded in the ETO, 106,261 were killed in action; 336,075 were wounded in action, of whom 16,240 later died; 76,671 were captured and 778 of this group died, and 23,067 became missing of whom 8,798 later died or were declared dead. The Mediterranean theater, with 178,602 total casualties and 43,200 deaths, was second in total casualties followed in order by the Pacific theater commands, the China-

Burma-India theater, Africa-Middle East, United States army strategic air forces (the B-29 command) in the CBI and Pacific areas, the Alaskan department and the Caribbean and South Atlantic areas. A total of 835 battle casualties, including 548 deaths, were listed as "enroute and not chargeable to any command."

The total number of persons killed in action reached 173,441. The other 55,797 included in the battle deaths total of 229,238 were broken down as follows: 26,908 died of wounds or injuries suffered in action; 9,617 died while captured as prisoners of war or as internees of neutral countries; and 19,272 on whom an administrative finding of death was made under public law 490, 77th Congress, while in a missing status, or were reported dead.

Personnel captured in all theaters totaled 124,927, of whom 111,917 were later returned to military control. Deaths in captivity numbered 9,617, leaving 3,393 listed in the report as still "captured." Of these 3,393, a total of 3,083 were still missing on February 28, and 310 died of wounds but are already included as deaths in the 26,908 figure above.

Missing persons totaled 61,115, but end of the war has solved many of these cases. A total of 24,029 persons missing in action were returned to duty, and 19,272 were determined to have died. The dwindling list of persons still carried as missing now numbers 7,814, which, with the 3,083 unrecovered from captivity, totals 10,897.

Of the total casualties of 948,418, officers suffered 98,066 and enlisted personnel suffered 850,352. These were in the same approximate ratio as officer and enlisted strength on V-E day, when army strength was at its highest.
