Champion Fibre's Plane, "Champion Knight"

Reuben B. Robertson, president of the Champion Paper and Fibre Company, Canton, is pictured above with the pilot and co-pilot in front of the company's new private plane. Dubbed "Champion Knight," the ship is a Beecherfit, twin-engine monoplane. In addition to the pilot and co-pilot, the plane will carry five passengers. The photograph was taken at the Asheville-Hendersonville airport as Mr. Robertson boarded the craft for a business trip to Cincinnati, Ohio, and points in the northwest. Left to right, are: Raymond T. Rickards, co-pilot, formerly an army pilot for three years; Mr. Robertson; and Paul C. Craig, pilot, who served four years with the navy transport air service.

He holds the Asiatic-Pacific theater ribbon with three battle stars, American theater and the Philippine Liberation ribbons.

$15,000 in the last two years making improvements at that beautiful hotel.

The Providence will be open for guests this year after being closed about two years. It will be under the management of Rev. and Mrs. Forest McClure, of Livermore, Ky.

Dr. and Mrs. R. E. Stackhouse have returned to their home after spending the winter in Griffin, Ga., and Montgomery, Ala. Dr. Stackhouse was very ill, but is much better, and now able to get about. Mrs. Stackhouse had the cataract removed from one eye, and is very happy over being able to see again. Their son, J. M. Stackhouse and wife have been here getting ready to occupy their cottage. We missed them last summer.

Mrs. T. L. Bivens, of Pickens, S. C., has been up, opening her home and planting flowers.

Col. Christian, of U. S. Army, and his family are occupying the King cottage until the middle of June.

The Rev. and Mrs. S. D. Hart of Chattanooga, spent several days here opening their house and working their garden.

Mrs. Ella S. Andrews of Greensboro, has opened her cottage which will be occupied for the summer by Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Tippens of the Board of Education at Nashville, Tenn.

Mrs. Hearn and Mrs. Davis have opened up their cottage which they purchased last year from the Dr. J. A. Harmon estate.

Mrs. James McCree who purchased the Bishop Arthur Moore cottage, has opened up her house for the summer.

Dr. R. J. Chady of Lake Wales, Fla., has arrived and is occupying the cottage purchased from Dr. Gug E. Snively last year.

The Rev. E. S. Butterley of Jacksonville, Fla., is having the lumber shipped for his cottage that he expects to build here soon.

Philip Barber will have charge of the Big Boat, and the renting of the row boats. A number of new boats have been purchased and expected to be on hand soon.

Dr. G. D. Parker has rented his cottage, Loma Linda, to Mrs. Redwine, who will take guests.

ments being made at the Terrace Hotel. The lobby has been enlarged, decorated and much improved. The kitchen has been entirely worked over, and a large refrigerator room installed, new fixtures, and generally overhauled. The dining room has been enlarged and painted. A number of rooms have had new furniture and furnishings. Mrs. Grady Hardin will be the hostess at the Terrace this season, and she will make a good one.

Mr. and Mrs. Claude Medford are in their new location. They bought the cottage on the Amen Corner formerly owned by Mrs. Joseph Mizell. This house has been painted and completely overhauled. Mrs. Medford will have a number of rooms for guests which are already engaged for the season. John Medford is very busy answering correspondence and trying to arrange to take proper care of a capacity crowd expected at Cherokee Inn. This popular hotel has had many improvements made since last season.

A. C. Tipton of the Sunday School Board at Nashville spent about two weeks here last month installing a new refrigerator and other improvements at the Sunday School cafeteria.

Mr. and Mrs. L. Dale Thrash are planning to open their dining room this season. This will help very much in feeding the large number of visitors expected at this popular hotel.

New Events Of Interest In And Around The Lake

Reported By J. B. IVEY and MRS. HELEN CARTER

Owing to the inability to obtain priority the building of The Memorial Chapel will be delayed until conditions are improved. The playground has been moved to the location near the bath house. The ground has been leveled off, grass sown, and the new location will be very fine for the children. The new stone bath house has been finished outside, and adds very much to the beauty of the surroundings.

Dr. and Mrs. Ludd Spivey, their daughter, Louise, and son, Myrl, of Lakeland, Fla., spent a few days last month at their attractive cottage. While at the Lake, we had a snow which was the first one that Miss Louise ever saw. Imagine the thrill she enjoyed.

Rev. Emmett McLarty of Greensboro, and Charles Bowles of Statesville, have conquered the housing situation. They, with Rev. Frank Jordan of Concord, bought lots last year in the rear of the Lakeside Lodges, intending to build this spring. When unable to do this, they heard through Mr. Edwin Jones that the government would sell some fabricated houses at Oak Ridge, Tenn. Rev. Mr. McLarty and Rev. Mr. Bowles were lucky enough to purchase two units each. They have been shipped and are on the building sites. One of them was up Wednesday, May 15th, when the masculine editor of this infrequent news was at Lake Junaluska to look after the planting of dahlias and making arrangements for summer occupancy of the Ivey cottage. Revs. John Carper of Matthews, and Frank Jordan of Concord, were helping their friend Emmet raise his house, which was shipped in weighty sections. They were three very tired young men, but expected to have the two units owned by Rev. McLarty ready for occupancy soon. I think they would have welcomed a husky carpenter to assist them. The units are 16 foot square rooms. They expect to connect two with a passage way, using one for sitting and bedroom, and the other one for a kitchen and dining room. The units cost $71.00 each at Oak Ridge, Tenn.
