'SHIP OF HOPE' BRINGS 800 REFUGEES TO AMERICA

IMMIGRANTS OF 16 NATIONALITIES, many of whom had suffered incredible hardships at the hands of the Nazis, wave and shout as they swarm the deck of the S. S. Marine Flasher which brought 800 persons from Bremerhaven to New York. Emotions ran high as, in the dawn hours, some saw an illuminated city for the first time in their lives. Hundreds of women and children ate their first substantial meal in five years aboard the "ship of hope." Large groups of orphaned youths are among the happy arrivals.

Is Your Child a Cry-Baby? By GARRY CLEVELAND MYERS, Ph.D. | youd the age of six prove embarc WHAT can be more annoying to the mother or the child himself than constant whining and crying

Writes a mother of a child of six, the only child: "She is a terrible cry-baby. I tried spanking her to give her a reason for tears but it proved in vain. Finally, in desperation, one day at the beach when she cried just for the fun of it, I put diapers on her and fed her with a spoon and let her sit on the floor like a year-old baby.

Children Laughed "Of course all the children laughed at her and the shame was just too much for her. I thought it had cured her. For two months she was not a bit of a cry-baby lest I do it again and embarrass her. However, the past two weeks she has nearly driven me frantic."

Enclosing my bulletins, "The Nervous Child" and "The Nervous Mother," I replied: This crying habit may have begun when the child was very weary or not well. A careful check now by a physician may be wise. But even though some physical disorder be found and corrected, the crying habit might continue.

Annoy You Obviously she has discovered she can greatly annoy you parents by her crying, which fact may give her general satisfaction or win her favors otherwise denied. I need not tell you how unfortunate was the humiliation you subjected her to at the beach. I am sure you will not do anything so bad again. Of course you thought you were doing the best. Naturally you have often called her a cry-baby, shamed her, and told her how bad her crying made you feel. A great many children far be-rassing to themselves and their parents, and become the butt of ridicule of their playmates, by cry-ing over small things; and they are forever hounded with, "Don't be such a cry-paby." If the case is a boy it becomes particularly

We wish to help such a child? Then we shall work first on our-selves. We shall not allow ourselves to be affected at all by the weeping. And we shall say nothing to the child at the time, not charge him with being a baby, not shame or ridicule him in any way.

We shall wait until some favorable moment when alone with him, and when our relationship with him is one of affection and comradeship. Then we shall quietly suggest to this child that he might wish to work for self-control under trying situations, so he might be happier. We shall lose no opportunity to praise him for the slightest evidence of success.

All the while we shall do our utmost to help him find more en-joyments with other children of his age, more ways of gaining selfregard, more opportunities to win achievements. Most of all we shall try to make him feel he is really

I have a new bulletin, "Your Child and His Playmates" to be had in a stamped addressed envelope.

Solving Parent Problems

Q. I believe my child, 414 years old, should soon be able to count to ten and recite the alphabet. But he makes very little progress at it.

A. You expect too much. He might profitably learn before entering the first grade to count a bit and to recognize some of the letters of the alphabet. But there is no good reason for him to learn the letters in order until he begins using a dictionary.
