

Three Properties To Be Auctioned Early Next Week

Liner, Sims and Blalock Lands To Sell Monday And Tuesday

Land from three different properties around Waynesville will be sold at auction Monday and Tuesday, June 10 and 11, according to an announcement by the Penny Brothers, who will conduct the sale.

The Hardy Liner farm on the Dellwood road, including two houses, eight small farms, and several homesites, will be auctioned Monday morning, beginning at 10:30. During the afternoon a number of homesites on North Main Street will be sold from property owned by L. E. Mims. This sale will start at 3:30 p. m.

At 10:30 a. m. Tuesday the 233-acre Tom Blalock estate south of Waynesville, shall be sold in farm and home sites. Three houses and one barn are included.

The Penny Brothers, twin auctioneers from Charlotte, state that sales will take place on the grounds rain or shine, and will offer music and cash prizes to entertain those present during all auctions.

Enough Grain Bought To Meet Exports

WASHINGTON—Clinton P. Anderson, Secretary of Agriculture, announced last week that the Government has bought enough wheat and corn to meet export commitments to hungry areas for the marketing year ending June 30.

Department officials say these promises totaled about 400,000,000 bushels of cereals—roughly 350,000,000 of wheat and the remainder corn and oats.

Latest reports showed 81,280,016 bushels of wheat were bought under the wheat bonus plan which expired May 25 and 33,496,122 bushels of corn under a similar bonus offer withdrawn May 11.

State Increases Value Of Crops During 1945

The value of the production of 35 principal crops harvested in North Carolina during the 1945 season is estimated by the State Department of Agriculture at $636,900,000, or $3,646,000 more than the value placed on these crops in 1944.

The value of production last year would have been higher if there had been a larger cotton crop and better wheat, rye, and fruit crops, according to Frank Parker, head of the Raleigh unit of the Federal-State Crop Reporting Service.

He explained that value of production includes actual sales plus the value of products used on the farm.

The value of crops marketed last year was estimated at $487,492,000—an increase of 2 per cent over 1944.

Last year's corn crop was valued at $79,023,000 as against $76,527,000 for 1944. Money received for the sales of the 1945 crop was placed at $9,933,000, an increase over 1944 sales, but there was a four per cent decrease in the amount consumed in the household. However, there was an eight per cent

Bad Luck Doubles Up In One Day

AULANDER—John R. Early of Aulander went through a day of "double trouble" last week.

It all started when he was fessed to the ground by a bull on the farm of Hal Rawles, farmer, near here. Early's collarbone was broken in the accident and he was taken to the office of a local physician, who set the collarbone.

Later in the evening, while attempting to light a cigarette, Early accidentally set fire to the cotton bandage. The bandage flamed and Early was severely burned, in extinguishing the flames he once again dislocated his broken collarbone and had to have it reset.

increase for 1945 over the previous year in the amount of corn fed to livestock.

Wheat production in the state decreased 36 per cent and the 1945 harvest was valued at $10,567,000 as compared with $14,210,000 in 1944. North Carolina's hay production for 1945 was estimated at 1,300,000 tons.

Library Notes

MARGARET JOHNSTON County Librarian

Some of the recent books added to the Haywood County Library are as follows:

Barnes, Margaret Campbell, "My Lady of Cleves," the rich and racy story of England's bluebeard king, Henry VIII, and his fourth wife, Anne of Cleves, the only woman in his colorful impetuous life who was able to outwit him and live to tell the tale.

Caldwell, Taylor, "This Side of Innocence" Taylor Caldwell's new story deals with the powerful and far-reaching emotional conflicts that result from the meeting of two vital, strong-willed, passionate and resourceful people. The scene is an upstate New York town—and the novel, which begins in 1868, concludes almost twenty years later.

Carr, John Dickson, "He Who Whispers" Miles Hammond's connection with the case of the body on the tower began at a meeting of the Murder Club. Is it possible for a person to be frightened to death? That was the problem presented to Dr. Fell and Dr. Fell, tracking down a ghost entirely on physical evidence, comes up with a solution so amazing that only he could have imagined it.

Crabb, Alfred Leland, "Lodging at the Saint Cloud" In this tale of occupied Nashville in 1862—a muddy, turbulent city, harrassed by an occupying northern army—General Forrest, desiring information about Federal troop movements and seeking to rescue one of his spies, sends Lt. Beasley Nichol and Sergeant Goforth into Nashville. Disguised as Yankees, these two find themselves lodged at the Saint Cloud, and though they are suspected, sympathizers assist them to contact the imprisoned spy.

Perkins, J. R. "ANTIOCH AC-TRESS" This narrative of dramatic conflict is laid in second-century Antioch in Syria, one of the most turbulent and colorful periods in ancient history.

Seifert, Shirley, "CAPTAIN GRANT" The drama and romance of Ulysses S. Grant's younger and less known years are captured in this biographical novel—beginning with his entrance at West Point and ending in the summer of 1861—when he took command of a regiment of Illinois Volunteers.

Walworth, Dorothy, "NICHODEMUS" The story of four people—in search of an answer, who seek out a fashionable New York church on Easter Sunday morning, 1944. The four are closely interlocked because of their mutual search for meaning in a seemingly directionless world.

Seventy-Four Enrolled In Reading Club

Interest is growing in the Cherokee Indian Reading club which is being sponsored by the Haywood County Library for the children in the county and in this area, as evidenced in the enrollment to date of 74 members, it was learned from the county librarian, Miss Margaret Johnston.

The bulletin board with the pictures taken on the Cherokee reservation has attracted the attention of the adults who have visited the library as well as the children in this section. The club will continue from June 1st to August 30. An Indian head will be given each child, and a feather for his headgear for each of the ten books required to be read as members of the club for qualification for reading certificates.

A credit book is given each child after his first book is read in which to keep a record of his summer reading. Special "pow wow" sessions will be held during the summer to be announced later, the first on the 8th at which time R. W. Livingstone will talk on Manufacture of Indian tools, arrow heads, axes, and spearheads.

Three Japs Give Up After Long Sail

HONG KONG (Reuters)—Eight Japanese have arrived in Hong Kong after a 1,500-mile voyage taking over five months to surrender themselves to British authorities.

Starting from a port in the Sunda Strait between Sumatra and Java last December, the Japanese intended to sail to Japan in a 10-ton Javanese-type sailing vessel but changed their course for Hong Kong because of difficulties.

The vessel anchored outside the colony, three of the men rowing to the island to give themselves up. They directed police to the vessel where the rest of the party were waiting.
