Gives Facts About Haywood

First Watermelons Arrive At Markets

Bring out the salt and get set to wet your face—watermelons are here!

Big, round, dark green Stone Mountain melons, raised near the Keys town in south Florida, have been brought by truckers to Waynesville market places. Retail prices for these first of the season delicacies, which weigh an average of 35 pounds, are now $1.50 to $1.75 each. Cantaloupes also are on display, which helps prove that summer is just around the corner.

Calvin Francis, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. T. Francis, has arrived home from Mars Hill college, where he is a student. He is convalescing from an attack of double pneumonia.

Mrs. W. E. Britt, Asheville, bought a female from the Belmont Farm, Franklin, for $355.

Robert W. James, city, paid $210 for a female from the Tilson Farm, Weaverville.

Joe Haynes, Route 2, paid $195 for a female consigned by Pinemont Farms, Bristol, Tenn.

David Underwood, city, paid $225 for a female from the Pinemont Farms, Bristol.

Joe Haynes, Route 2, also bought a Pinemont female, paying $210.

P. M. Neisler, Kings Mountain, paid $210 for a female from the White Brothers Farm, Hamptonville.

A. R. Ketter, Murphy, paid $275 for a female from the Dockery Farm, Weaverville.

The Guernsey heifer, given by Pet Dairy Products Company, and bought from the Belmont View Farms, of Franklin, was won by Hugh K. Terrell, Jr., 4-H Club boy of the Bethel club.

Ward Snarr of Siler City, was auctioneer, and George B. Sally, of Orangeburg, S. C., read the pedigrees. The sales committee was composed of M. D. McNaughton, Hendersonville, G. H. Carter, Concord, Josh Quinn, Clemmons, and W. W. Fitzpatrick, Rougemont.

The local committee in charge of the event was composed of Wayne Corpening, R. B. Davenport, H. R. Clapp and G. C. Palmer, Jr.

is every reason why this county can produce more and better milk. There is still too much milk being shipped into North Carolina, we should correct this and produce a sufficient quantity for at least our own use. We just need to really try."

James Kirkpatrick, president of the Haywood Milk Producers, was master of ceremonies, and in welcoming the throng pointed out that Haywood was the natural blue grass county of North Carolina.

A musical program was given by Aaron Hyatt's orchestra, with J. D. Hyatt, vocalist.

The dinner was served by the county 4-H club council.

Wayne Corpening introduced the 26 guests present, and Jonathan H. Woody presented door prizes to milk producers. The gifts were contributed by the Milk Producers Association. Among those winning were: Jack Felmet, Frank Mann, Van Wells, Martha Moody Constantine, B. F. Nesbitt, Richard Bradley, Mrs. Hub Caldwell, Bennett Phillips, Mrs. Paul Hyatt, Hardy Caldwell, Earl Ferguson, Albert McCracken, Hershell Higgs, Mrs. Boyd, S. E. Conmaster, Dave Boyd, W. A. Bradley, Mrs. Grover Hooker, John James, R. T. Messer and David Underwood.

G. C. Palmer, Jr., explained the Junior Dairy Foundation just inaugurated in the county, and the speaker was introduced by Taylor Ferguson, a director of the Haywood Milk Producers Association.

Hoover Asks Mexico For Relief Supplies

MEXICO CITY Former President Hoover, seeking more food to lessen Europe's famine, has asked President Avila Comacho to help with all that Mexico can spare.

Mr. Hoover went to see the President, the first Latin-American chief of state visited on his tour south as President Truman's personal representative.

Haywood Ideal Place To Develop More Dairying

huntsmen became herdsmen," the speaker said. He continued by explaining that the dairy business began when Louis Pasteur discovered the means of pasteurization and sterilization that enable producers to keep dairy products over a period of time.

"Successful breeding is a science and an art, and it takes careful study, and continued research to keep the program going," he said. Mr. Fitzpatrick told of his visit to the Isle of Guernsey, and judging in an International Show. He explained that the breeders on the Isle of Guernsey culled their animals carefully, and paid lots of attention to cow families. That is a practice that has not developed to the highest degree in America, he added.

"The entire dairy industry must use better sires and more roughage in the program," Mr. Fitzpatrick said.

John Arey, dairy specialist of the Extension Department of State College, in a few brief remarks, said, "I have seen today in Haywood, some of the finest pastures I have ever seen in the state. There
