celebrity who came to the town, with a special kind of hospitality.

We heard through the Chamber of Commerce how one smart man has worked out a perfect system for enjoying a vacation. The man, a prominent M.D. from South Carolina, likes to send his patients and former patients, as well as friends a card while on his vacation. He asked Miss S. A. Jones to send him no less than 500. He addresses them and writes his messages on them before he leaves home, has them stamped and ready to go in the mail—and upon his arrival simply goes by the post office and mails them. All his friends are remembered and he can forget them the rest of the time. Now to our mind that is really a brilliant scheme. Make a vacation has been spoiled by putting off that card you intended to send—and when you get back home and hear, "Well I guess you forgot your old friends on your trip, I didn't even get a card from you."
