Wilderness Hikers To Visit Mt. Le Conte

The Wilderness Hikers, a group organized to hike to points of interest in Western North Carolina, composed of many Asheville people and others in this area have planned a trip to Mt. Le Conte to see the rhododendron, it has been announced by Dr. Robinson.

The party will leave the bus terminal here at 8 a. m. Sunday and drive via Soco Gap and Grandy Patch on the Tennessee side of the Great Smoky Mountains. They will hike up the spectacular trail past Alum Cave and Cliff Top to the summit of Le Conte.

The return trip will be made by Myrtle Point and by the Boulevard Trail over Kephart to New Found Gap. The hike will cover 14 miles. Anyone wishing to join the hikers may call Dr. Robinson at 626 or 3039 Asheville.

China Asks UNRKA For New Supplies

Premier T. V. Soong told the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration's Far Eastern Committee today that the 500,000 tons of UNRKA supplies delivered to China was "far less" than the nation needs and that rice deliveries have fallen "far short" of the allocation.

Pfc. Carver Is Awarded Soldier's Medal In Europe

Private First Class John A. Carver, U. S. Army, who entered the service on April 23, 1946, has recently been awarded the Soldier's medal. Pfc. Carver took his basic training at Camp Rucker, Ala., and from there was sent to Fort George B. Meade, Md., from which he was sent overseas.

Before entering the service, Pfc. Carver was engaged in farming and also working with the REA in Haywood county. He is at present attached to the Bomb Disposal Sq. in Lambach, Austria.

The award read as follows: John R. Carver, private first class, Ordnance, United States Army, for heroism not involving actual conflict with an enemy in December, 1945, and again on 26 February, 1946. On the former date Pfc. Carver was supervising a group of men loading into trucks five tons of incendiary bombs with explosive charges. When two of the bombs were accidentally dropped and set afire, Pfc. Carver unhesitatingly and with complete disregard for his own safety, picked up the burning incendiaries and threw them over a nearby bank where they detonated.

Again on 8 February, 1946, Pfc. Carver disposed of four anti-personnel bombs containing four armed and highly sensitive fuses. Pfc. Carver, seeing the necessity of sandbagging these bombs to prevent hot shrapnel from burying itself into nearby stacks of ammunition, performed this task, knowing full well a slight jar would mean the loss of his life. His quick thinking and complete disregard for his own safety reflect with credit upon himself and the armed forces of the United States.

Residents Are Arriving For Summer Season

Among the summer residents who are now occupying their homes are:

Judge and Mrs. Frank Smathers of Miami arrived yesterday and opened their home on Smathers street for the summer. They were accompanied here by their granddaughter, Lura Myers.

Mrs. Bradley Haviland has opened the Satterwaite residence for the summer and has been joined here by her mother, Mrs. S. C. Satterwaite, of Atlanta and Waynesville, and her aunts, Mrs. Eva Moffitt and Miss Ella Smathers, both of New York.

Mr. and Mrs. James Mann, from Miami, will arrive tomorrow and will again occupy the Woodson Jones residence near the Waynesville Country club.

Senate Sends Bill To House Calling For 1 Year Draft

WASHINGTON — The Senate passed a draft extension bill last week which would continue the act until May 15, 1947, permit 18 and 19-year-olds to be drafted again after this month, and raise the pay of enlisted men.

The vote on final passage was 69 to 8. It came after the Senate defeated, 63 to 14, a proposal that actual inductions be halted while the volunteer system got a further trial with the pay of an army private raised from $50 to $75 a month.

The main features of the Senate bill, which grants most of the administration's requests, are subject now to House action. That chamber voted an extension only to February 15 with a ban on teen-age inductions, and approved pay increases in a separate measure.

The Senate and House, in seeking to adjust their differences, will work against a July 1 deadline when the temporary draft extension expires.

Wool Producers Are Offered Market Pool In Asheville July 2

Sheep growers in Haywood county are advised by W. A. Corporation, county agent, to take advantage of the wool-pool being set up in West Asheville July 2 for shipment of wool from this section to buyers.

Prices are again being supported by the Commodity Credit Corporation, and first payments are expected to range up to 48c per pound for the best grades of wool.

The West Asheville Builder Supply and Coal company is the assembly point for the wool. All that is collected will be shipped through the United Wool Growers association.

Wool received at the pool not tied with paper twine will be penalized 2c per pound, and that tied with a seal or binder twine will be penalized 1c a pound. Growers

DEATHS

JOHN JASPER JORDAN

Funeral services were held at Pleasant Hill Methodist church, Buncombe county on Wednesday afternoon for John Jasper Jordan, 55, of Candler, father of Mrs. Hugh Campbell, of Waynesville, who died in an Asheville hospital on Monday at 11 a. m. Rev. Oler Burnett, of Haywood county, and Rev. T. A. Groce, of Asheville, officiated. Burial was in Laurel Hill cemetery, Buncombe county.

Mr. Jordan was employed as a painter for many years by the American Enka Corporation and prior to his recent illness had operated a grocery store at Luther.

Surviving are the widow, Mrs. Zona Mann Jordan; one son, William Jordan, Candler; four daughters, Mrs. J. Hill, Mrs. Ervory Allen, both of Candler, Mrs. Earl C. Hoshell, of Society Hill, S. C., and Mrs. Campbell, of Waynesville; two brothers, Jake and Walden Jordan, of Murphy; three sisters, Mrs. Betty Falls, Mr. Claman Hughes, both of Murphy, and Mrs. Herman Green, of Ensey, Ala.; nine grandchildren. One son, Corporal Ben Jordan died in 1942 in a Japanese camp.

The Crawford Funeral Home of Waynesville, was in charge of the arrangements.

Grains saved in the 30 per cent reduction in brewer's allotment will be used as feed in this country, releasing wheat for foreign shipment.

New political activity by labor unions endures, yet unorganized sections of farm labor.

are cautioned to double tag all bags of fleece with their name and address, both on the inside and outside of the bag.

Neighboring growers can go together in hauling their product to the pool, it was pointed out.
