Sugar Rationing Will Continue Under War Bill

WASHINGTON.—Sugar rationing goes on unchanged, despite the expiration of price and rent controls.

Sugar price ceilings are out beginning Monday, along with ceilings on all other items.

OPA derives its authority to ration sugar under the second war powers act and not under the vetoed price control act.

An executive order issued by President Truman gives OPA specific authority to continue its rationing operations. Sugar is the only commodity still under rationing.

Wilmington before being called to the army.

Commissioned as first lieutenant in the Medical Corps, Dr. Owens began his army service in July, 1943. He spent 16 months in the Pacific theater, assigned as battalion surgeon to several field units, and for a short time was on the surgical staff of the Fourth General Hospital in Manila. Upon returning home he was discharged with the rank of major, his terminal leave expiring June 18.

With his wife and two children, Betty, 3 years old, and Bill, one, Dr. Owen will reside at the home of Mrs. F. A. Burkin on Love Lane.

County Health Dept. Opens Office In Canton

Plans have been completed for the opening of a branch health office in Canton, it has been announced by Dr. C. N. Sisk, county health director. Through the efforts of the Canton Woman's Club and the town officials, office rooms have been secured in the Horton building formerly used as the surgical dressings room during the war.

Mrs. Fannie Sell McCracken, a member of the county public health nursing staff will be in charge of the Canton office and may be found there each day, except such times as her work makes it necessary for her to be on field duty in the county, it was announced by Dr. Sisk.

Clinics heretofore held at the town hall will be handled in the new offices. Mrs. McCracken stated that persons desiring services of the health department are asked to contact the office.

Melmus, pastor of the Canton Presbyterian church. Afterwards, his body was taken to Winston-Salem for cremation, with burial rites to be held in Holyoke, Mass., his former home.

Mr. Walker was a native of Burnside, Conn. After serving as vice president of the Reading Paper mills he came to Canton 12 years ago to take the position as production manager with Champion. He was active in local masonic affairs, and served four years as chairman of the Canton Red Cross chapter. He died after a week's illness while in an Asheville hospital.

Surviving Mr. Walker are the widow, Mrs. Marion Pierce Walker; one daughter, Mrs. Alta W. Harper of Eric, Pa.; and one son, Douglas P. Walker of Canton; two grandchildren, Pierce Harper and Jo Ann Harper of Eric, Pa.

Bethel FFA Chapter Wins In District Contest

The Bethel chapter of the Future Farmers of America won the district contest in Ritual and Parliamentary Procedure held at Brantfordville Wednesday night.

The charter was represented by Harold Pless, Richard Stacey, Frederick Murray and Louie Reece. W. P. Whitesides, acting advisor since I. A. McLain moved from the community, accompanied the boys.

Winning in this event entitles the chapter to enter the state contest to be held in Raleigh for the privilege of competing for national honors at Kansas City, Mo. later in the summer.

Cash prizes were awarded the three top winners in the district event. Bethel led with 254 points, Casa second with 250 and Cove Creek took third place with 193 points.

E. J. Hyatt Dies Suddenly Thursday

and Margaret Jones Hyatt. He graduated from the local schools and attended the Knoxville Business College.

He had been prominently identified with the business, civic and religious affairs of this section for many years. He taught school for two years in the county after which he worked in the commissary of the Junaluska Leather company. He was later associated with D. K. Collins in the operation of a general store in Bryson City. He left this county in 1907 and went to Nevada, where for six years he was employed by the Southern Pacific Railroad on the Ogden Division.

Mr. Hyatt returned to Waynesville five years later and in October, 1912, entered into a partnership with his brother, the late W. A. Hyatt, becoming a member of the firm of Hyatt and Campbell, later known as Hyatt and company. The business was operated under that name until February of this year when all departments of the business were sold. The lumber division had been bought last October by H. L. Liner, Sr., and his associates. In 1917 the firm took in the late W. T. Shelton, brother-in-law of Mr. Hyatt and the three carried on the business until 1932 when the interest of W. A. Hyatt was bought by two other partners. Mr. Hyatt had bought the interest of the late Mr. Shelton and was the sole owner of the firm at the time all departments were sold.

For several years Mr. Hyatt operated a sawmill and had carried on a number of real estate projects. He was a director and vice president of the Haywood Home Building and Loan Association for almost 20 years.

He was an active member of the First Methodist church and had held numerous posts of duty in the church including chairmanship of the board of stewards and trustees as well as headed many important committees.

He served on the board of directors of the Chamber of Commerce for many years and was also a member of the school board of Hazelwood. During the early part of the war, he was a member of the Farm Transportation board. He had taken an active part in the Waynesville Masonic Order and held a rank in the Knights of Templar order.

Surviving are his widow, the former Miss Pearl Shelton; one daughter, Mrs. B. R. Pilaski; one son, Howard Hyatt, both of Waynesville; three brothers, Walter Hyatt, of Ela, Frank Hyatt, of West Asheville, and Harry Hyatt, of Waynesville; one grandchild, Gail Pilaski.
