W. N. C. Methodist Fund Reaches Half-Way Mark

CHARLOTTE.—The campaign of the Methodist college advance to raise $1,245,000 in the Western North Carolina conference of the church has passed the half-way mark, it was announced here by the Rev. J. S. Hiatt of Elkin, conference executive secretary of the advance.

Dr. Hiatt said pledges to the fund now total $633,611.90.

Duke divinity school, Greensboro college, High Point College, Lenoir college, and Brevard college are beneficiaries of the drive.

Moscow Imprisons 43 Women Officials

MOSCOW, July 15.—The Government newspaper Izvestia reported here that three women officials of the Kirovsky District Housing Department in Moscow were found guilty of accepting bribes from apartment seekers. One was sentenced to serve 10 years in prison, another to serve eight years, and the third was placed on probation.

Probation was granted the third woman because she was the wife of a Red Army soldier killed at the front and the mother of a young child, Izvestia said.

Adversity is the only scale that gives us the correct weight of our friends.

BEEF A LA MODE IS UNDRESSED

UNDRESSED BEEF, bought "on the hoof" by butchers who said they were willing to take meat that way in order to supply customers, has made its appearance in New York butcher shops. Here little Harry Gilbert, 3, finds his attention attracted to a freshly killed steer. (International)

Can Acid Foods At Lower Temperature Than Others

Canning is not difficult if the rules are followed. Foods for canning are divided into two groups.

One group of foods contains acids. The acid foods are fruits, tomatoes, pickled beets, ripe pimientos, and rhubarb. These foods can be processed in the boiling water bath at the boiling temperature of water—212 degrees F.

The other group of foods, non-acid we call them, do not have acid in them and must be processed in a steam pressure canner at temperatures of 240 to 250 degrees F. These temperatures are obtained when the pressure gauge registers 10 pounds (240 degrees F.) of pressure or 15 pounds (250 degrees F.) of pressure. The foods in this group include all vegetables except tomatoes; such vegetables as asparagus, beets, peas, beans, corn, okra, and greens. Meats, poultry, and fish also come in this group.

Pfc. Sammy Smathers Promoted to Corporal

Private First Class Sammy Smathers, 19-year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Smathers of Canton has been promoted to Corporal. He is now stationed with the AAF at Tyndall Field, Fla.

He took special training at Fort Bragg and Sheppard Field, Tex. prior to serving at his present post. He entered the service in July, 1945.

Operate Cow without License

From West Jefferson comes the tale of two good Ashe county men who, while under the influence of liquor, took charge of a Jersey cow—against her wishes—and started leading her up a mountain road. The two men were arrested by the police and booked on public drunkenness, although spectators preferred a charge of "operating a cow upon the highway without proper license and under the influence of some intoxicant."

The cow was not taken into custody, it was reported.
