

Rod and Gun

By TOM WALKER

FOR FISHERMEN A pick-up in good fishing news after a slackening off early in the month is the word for anglers this week.

A big boom is reported from Pisgah National Forest Preserve. Forest Ranger W. W. Huber announces that the 1945 season already has produced new records. Within two months of the opening, Huber said, 5,122 fishermen went into the streams of the area and tire took 23,112 fish. During the entire season last year, the totals were 5,092 fishermen and about 23,000 fish. Last year was the best since 1941, when 43,900 trout were hooked.

VACATION IDEA. The Durham Co-operative Club, a civic luncheon group, has an idea for a summer outing that is good one for other organizations to look into. This week the club is planning its annual five-day fishing excursion to Cape Lookout following an interruption during the war years. Dates for this year's trip are July 27-31, with Jack Christfield, Raymond Sorrell, and Louis Clark serving as the central committee in charge of arrangements. Excursions in the past drew nearly half of the club's membership and this year 25 to 30 of the roster of 50 are getting ready for Saturday's start.

The program offers variety enough to catch most anybody with some activity. Fishing boats are chartered for the five-day and regular daily trips are taken for all who want to go. Those who stay behind can take a 1942 six-seat fishing, horseshoes, softball, swimming, or— if things are too tough—sleeping.

The Co-op Club which is an organization similar to Rotary, Kiwanis, Lions etc., would like to see other civic groups or clubs plan annual trips of this sort. The Durham men say it's a good way to develop fellowship and association with your friends, on a party whose expenses don't run high.

RETURN SUGGESTION. Here's an idea from down South Carolina way that can go right back to the Co-op Club members, and to other organizations interested in youth projects.

The suggestion was put in the City Council of Spartanburg through a readers' letter to the Outdoor Forum or Wood's Rider's Outdoor Page in the Spartanburg Sunday Herald-Journal.

The reader, Charles O. Hearon, Jr., of Spartanburg, suggests that the council stock a lake in a residential section within the city limits, with bream, crappie and bass, and after getting the basic stock well established, restrict the fishing there to youth under 16.

Under Hearon's idea, the council would set up a supervisory commission of sportsmen charged with indoctrinating the young anglers in sportsmanship, law observance, and conservation, and instruct them in the fine arts of angling. The commission would hold each summer at least one fly-fishing tournament and one fishing rodeo with fish-fry and wildlife movies afterwards. The originator believes the project would cost the taxpayers little, if anything, while providing the facilities for a beneficial sport right within the city limits, especially for underprivileged youngsters. That, Hearon thinks, would put a stopper on some of the causes leading to juvenile delinquency.

Shook Home In Clyde To Be Dedicated Today At 4

Plaque to Honor Memory of Place Where Pioneer Bishop Preached

Dedication ceremonies at "The Shook House" in Clyde, now the residence of the Morgan family and a house memorable to Methodists as the stopping and preaching place for the pioneer Bishop Francis Asbury, will be conducted this afternoon from 4 to 5 o'clock by the Rev. E. B. Billups of Canton.

Assisting the Canton pastor will be the Rev. T. S. Kennett of Waynesville, president of the W. N. C. Methodist Historical Society, the Rev. Walter B. West, of Waynesville, Bishop Clare Purcell of Charlotte, and other church officials.

A plaque telling the significance of the house will be dedicated and placed there, largely through the efforts of Rev. Billups. The house was used by Bishop Asbury, the first Methodist bishop of America, to hold services during his trips through the mountain region in the days before paved roads. He made notes of his stops there in his daily journal, and one of his statements is included in the plaque inscription.

This service will be part of the program under the Methodist Historical Society of the Southeastern Jurisdiction which is now having its annual meeting at Lake Junaluska under the presidency of the Rev. Dr. E. H. Nease of Greensboro. Dr. Elmer T. Clark, national president, made an address on the Cataloochee Trail, a historic Methodist shrine at Cove Creek when the meeting opened Monday afternoon. H. C. Wilburn of Waynesville, formerly of the National Park Service, directed the ceremony at Cove Creek.

Americans in Berlin To Be Issued Pistols

BERLIN—Col. Frank I. Howley said July 30 that every officer and American civilian employe in his military government headquarters would be issued a pistol and taught to shoot "as a measure of self-defense against civilian violence, should it arise."

Maj. Gen. Frank A. Keating, United States Commandant in Berlin, has approved the plan of "mere preparedness," he said.

"Officers will be instructed to see that their wives and children also know how to use guns," Col. Howley said. "Our occupation forces are thin, so thin that we have to use German prisoners to do some of the defense chores."

Adults Blamed For Juvenile Delinquency, Says Tampa Man

"It's adult delinquency that is producing juvenile delinquency today," Dr. John Bramscomb, of Tampa, told Rotarians here Friday, as he discussed, "It is Later Than We Think."

"There is an old adage that 'boys will be boys' and just let them go ahead and sow their wild oats," the speaker said. "But we must remember, that boys will be men, and we must ever keep that in mind as we deal with youth."

"The world needs to give youth today those weapons with which to build a better world."

The speaker discussed briefly the plight of France and Russia, and the determination of each to survive. He touched on world affairs, and concluded his address by saying, "decisions made now around conference tables will determine the destiny of the world for ages to come."

There were 29 visitors from six states. Dr. Frank S. Love was in charge of the program.

German War Factories Turn Out Pots and Pans

Krupps, chief arsenal of the German war machine, has been re-purposed for peacetime production. It is to make equipment for depleted British kitchens.

The Allied Control Council now is considering abandonment of the previous plan to destroy what is left of the great munitions factory. Instead, it is to become a center for light industry. Wood and metal products are to replace tanks and guns, fertilizers will come from laboratories; previously making poison gas, and electric light fittings will emerge from shell fuse benches.

lin, has approved the plan of "mere preparedness," he said.

"Officers will be instructed to see that their wives and children also know how to use guns," Col. Howley said. "Our occupation forces are thin, so thin that we have to use German prisoners to do some of the defense chores."

OPA Urges Conserving Sugar, Gives New Rules On Controls

RALEIGH—OPA District Director Theodore S. Johnson urges housewives to keep a sharp curb on the family's sweet tooth—for the rest of the year at least. "Treat your sugar as you would a store of gold dust," Johnson said. "It's that precious and it is going to continue precious for several months."

Estimates show that it supplies were ample. Americans would consume eight million tons of sugar this year with our increased population and buying power, but the total coming in will be just under five and a half million tons. Other items:

Restaurant prices. No change in OPA regulations to the legal ceiling prices in effect on June 30. However, operators may recalculate the ceiling price for any meal, food item or beverage, the major of which is exempt from price control at all other levels, and file their change with local Price Control Boards.

Farm Equipment and Replacement Parts. Prices have been raised an average of six per cent above June 30 figures. Distributors have been granted the two per cent handling and transfer cost raise, also.

Used Cars. Prices on all used cars and now eight per cent less than they were at the end of 1945. This decrease is caused by an automatic reduction of 4 per cent every six months allowed for depreciation. All deliveries of new and used cars made after July 25 must be at or below OPA ceiling, even though an agreement to buy at a higher price may have been made when no controls were in effect.

Rich Port

Puerto Rico, meaning rich port, got its name from Columbus, and is the only land under the Stars and Stripes on which the New World's accredited discoverer set foot. Landing there on November 19, 1493, he claimed it for Spain. When, in 1898, Spaniards withdrew from the port of San Juan, Spain had relinquished her last slender foothold in the Western hemisphere. First governor of the island was Ponce de Leon, who moved from Puerto Rico to Florida in his quest for the Fountain of Youth.
