Money Safe

As far as the banks are concerned money has been mighty safe during the past 27 months, according to the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation...

Money, we are sure, has slipped through many careless hands during that period, since it has flowed in the mightiest stream it has ever been recorded in this nation.

The Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation also reports that of 14,710 banks in operation on June 30, 13,525 or 92 per cent, with deposits approximating $150,000,000,000 were insured by it...

Encouraging

The official organ of the State Highway and Public Works Commission of this state, recently published the following editorial on the status of the Blue Ridge Parkway in this section.

The editorial is as follows: The Blue Ridge Parkway, first of its type and scale, when completed will thread through 185 miles of eastern America's most beautiful mountain scenery...

The scenic drive averages 3,000 feet above sea level and more than 350 miles of the federally-financed project had been brought to various stages of completion prior to the war.

In North Carolina the parkway enters at Cumberland Knob Park in Alleghany county and winds 271 miles through the mountains across the state to Newfound Gap in the Great Smoky Park where the road dips into Tennessee.

The parkway is open to travel-hungry Americans from the Virginia line down to near Asheville with the exception of sections of the parkway near Blowing Rock and Mt. Mitchell.

However, the fate of the proposed 96-mile section between N. C. 691 northeast of Asheville to N. C. 107 south of Smokemont in the Great Smoky Park has troubled many interested North Carolinians.

One of them, Chairman A. H. Graham of the Commission went to Washington last week to seek support for completion of the parkway route as approved by Harold L. Ickes when he was Secretary of the Interior.

The Senator's interest and support in the parkway is already well-known. Only recently he pushed through Congress a boost in parkway appropriations from $7,500,000 to $11,500,000.

Did You Know That--

Although many people are not acquainted with the postal laws enough to know better, chain letters and postal cards are illegal and persons who write them expose themselves to prosecution.

Haywood Doing Her Part

Statistics show that in 1911 there were 2,791,800 live births registered in the United States. This is a birth rate of 20.2 per 1,000 population.

That date is well remembered, and the depression can easily account for the rise. Since that time it has been climbing steadily and we have an idea that the birth rate in 1915 and 1916 when compiled will bring up the figures of a generation ago.

You can always depend on Haywood county to do her part. For reference in this matter we advise those interested to check with the nurses of the maternity ward of the Haywood County Hospital, and be assured that Haywood will head some of the counties.

The Secret Is Out

We have read much about the attitude of Russia toward this country. Most writers are suspicious and have taken the attitude that we may expect anything from Russia in the future.

Harper's Magazine sent a reporter to study the situation and he has at last penetrated "Russia's iron curtain" and found that, of all things, it is fear that imperialistic fascism may be spawning in the United States today.

Some of the facts cleaned up by the Harper reporter reveal that Stalin does not run a one-man show government, as most of us have been thinking, but that he takes orders from a H-man control group.

It was brought out that it will be at least 10 more years before certain areas get back to pre-war conditions. Russia's approach to international affairs stems from necessity, and they are afraid of foreign attack and that the attack, they believe will come from the United States.

The Russians, it seems, are certain that the United States will not be able to repay an economic boom and another depression. This, they feel, will see the birth of an American dictator, violently anti-English, who will want to invade us Hitler style.

To most of us here in America, the encouraging sounds fantastic and we think it could not happen here. But we have to realize that it is not a cheerful thought to feel that the Russians are fostering such ideas which so doubt they will shape their policies to their dealings with us.

It is up to us now to dispel such ideas and the quicker the better, for all concerned.

Far Reaching

In a recent issue of the University News Letter it was revealed from a report compiled by Dr. Wiley R. Sanders, of the University, that one-half of the juvenile delinquents who have appeared in North Carolina courts during the past five years have come from broken homes.

Dr. Sanders has been making a study of juvenile delinquency for the state department of public welfare. Records of the marital status of parents were available for 8,528 of the 12,021 individual delinquents handled by the juvenile courts in the state from July 1, 1939, through June 30, 1944.

"The principal conclusion which was drawn in this survey," Dr. Sanders observed, "is that any forces which tend to preserve the family life in a community tend to prevent juvenile delinquency as well."

Divorce, separation and desertion accounted for 16.3 per cent of the broken homes, the report shows. In 15.9 per cent the father was dead, and in 8.1 per cent the mother was dead. Both parents were dead in 5.1 per cent of the cases.

The question always comes up of the responsibility of the parents to the child as against their own relations, and personal happiness. There is much to be said on both sides, for a child reared in an unhappy atmosphere is bound to have unstable emotional reactions. They are torn in their loyalty between their affection for both mother and father. The remedy goes back to the courtship days when more time and thought should be given to whether or not the couple have the qualities that will make for the deadly routine of every day living. It takes more than romance to establish matrimony on a sound permanent basis.

HERE and THERE

By HILDA WAY GWYN

Back to the business of the war... Willis Smith, of Raleigh, has been playing a German orchestra on the Danube River.

WILLIS SMITH, of Raleigh

Then there was another highlight of his trip on the Danube... He was the guest of the Lord Chancellor of the House of Commons for dinner.

Back to the business of the war... From the legal standpoint, there has been no question as to the right of Mr. Smith, the defendant, to have been given the opportunity to defend himself.

Dr. Sanders was appointed by the United States Department of Justice... He is expected to name another member of the War to accompany him and be close to the American Bar Association.

In 1939 he visited Nuremberg... He had never heard of the composition, whereupon the American secretary of Justice Jackson went to the piano and played it a couple of times.

But aside from such depressing memories, Willis had some light moments of contacts... He enjoyed the luncheon given him and Justice Jackson, whom he knew quite well back home, in Vienna. During the meal a string orchestra furnished music, wonderful Hungarian music.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE ALONG BROADWAY

Do you think the press should give all details of crimes or suppress them? G. C. PLOTT - I think it is best to give the details and the whole facts in the case. ALBERT ABEL - I don't think it helps matters to print all the details, because there are a lot of smart people, who read things and then try to put them in practice.

Capital Letters

WARREN - Jule Warren, now editor of "The People" magazine, has just received from publishers his new book, "The People Govern North Carolina". It is really good. Designed for use as supplementary reading for the eighth grade it gives in a down-to-earth, interesting, and easy-to-understand manner the political and governmental setup of this State.
