

Plans Made For W.N.C. Fair At Hendersonville

New Officers Announce Program For Events, Which Will Be Held Oct. 7-13

The annual Western North Carolina Agricultural and Industrial Fair, a war casualty since 1941, will be revived in Hendersonville this fall and will be held at the fairgrounds during the week of October 7.

Sam Pickford of Flat Rock was named president of the association at a recent meeting of directors and E. D. Mitchell of Asheville, H. E. Buchanan of Hendersonville vice-presidents. P. F. Patton of Hendersonville was made treasurer and H. B. Kelly of Hendersonville and Naples, Fla., secretary-manager.

Although the time is short for planning a 1946 fair, the effort to revive the institution is being made in order that the pre-war plans for making this a great fair may be carried on in the future, Mr. Pickford said.

Manager Kelly said that progress was being made in planning the agricultural, livestock and industrial exhibits and that the program of fair entertainment was being rapidly completed.

The Johnny J. Denton Shows have been contracted for the week's midway entertainment and a program of afternoon and evening grandstand entertainment is being rounded out. Included will be night contests by square dance teams and callers, an old-fashioned Singing Convention, two afternoons of automobile racing on the half-mile track, a junkyard derby, and an afternoon of local horse racing.

Several thousand dollars were spent on improvement of the fairground property prior to the recent horse show and automobile races were held on the track about two weeks ago.

Mr. Pickford stated that examination of the past fair records showed there was a number of payments to exhibitors of the last fair outstanding. Officers are anxious that all such payments be made before this year's fair. He requested that unpaid premium winners submit claims to the county farm agent in their respective counties. Agents will then submit claims to the association for payment.

HUGH HAMMOND DAY

RALEIGH — Governor Cherry proclaimed September 9 as Hugh Hammond Bennett conservation day in North Carolina in honor of Bennett's work in soil conservation in this and other countries. A homecoming celebration will be held on that day in Bennett's home county of Anson. He has been in soil conservation work for 43 years.

Power Will Be Off Sunday P. M.

H. M. Burleson, local representative of the Carolina Power and Light Company announced that power will be off four hours Sunday afternoon, from 2:00 until 6:00 at Hazelwood, Lake Junaluska, Balsam and the Bellwood road areas. The interruption will not affect Waynesville or REA lines, he said. It is necessary to cut off the power in order to make some necessary repairs on the lines in this area.

Supt. Messer Says Students May Ride Bus To College

Prospective students who still are not able to find a college in which they may enroll are asked by Jack Messer, county superintendent of education, to contact him if they are willing to ride a bus from Waynesville to Cullowhee to attend the regular classes at W.C.T.C. There was considerable interest shown after the recent announcement of a college center that was planned for Waynesville, and from 35 to 40 persons indicated a desire to attend it. After the plans fell through, Mr. Messer feels that many still desire to continue their education and are unable to find an institution with sufficient rooming facilities.

"I have called Western Carolina," reports Mr. Messer, "and they state that there are no more rooms for students on the campus or at Sylva, but that they can accommodate additional students in their classes. If enough students from Waynesville would be willing to leave here by bus about 7:30 in the morning to attend classes there, I feel sure I could make arrangements to secure the bus."

45,567 Dependents Of GI's Arrive In United States

WASHINGTON — The Justice department said that 45,567 spouses and children of members of the armed forces were admitted to the United States during the year ended June 30, 1944. The figure includes 44,775 wives of GI's, 61 husbands of GI's and 721 children. They came in under special legislation exempting alien spouses or alien children of members of the services from immigration quotas and certain other immigration requirements.

No breakdown was given on the countries represented by the spouses. But the Immigration service in May quoted Army estimates of 60,000 G. I. brides and children in England, Scotland and Wales; 2,500 in Ireland; 3,000 in France, Belgium and Holland; 2,000 in Italy and a much smaller number in Norway and North Africa.

The service said that up to April 5, 1944, 2,603 G. I. brides and children had sailed for the United States from Le Harve, France; 22,754 from Southampton, England; about 1,000 from Belfast, Ireland, and 1,200 from Naples, Italy.

In addition, several hundred G. I. brides had embarked from points in North Africa and other places and about 4,000 from Australia and New Zealand.

About 30 per cent of the English G. I. brides inspected by the service had one or more children averaging 1 1/2 to two years of age. There were some step-children 16 to 18 years old.
