

Clyde Boys Have Nine Entries In Junior Dairy Show

Robert Evans, vocational agriculture director at the Clyde high school, reports that the Clyde Chapter of Future Farmers of America have nine entries in the Junior Dairy Show to be held in Asheville today.

All the entries are purebred Guernseys.

Each of the boys is taking dairying as a specialty in Vocational Agriculture planning in going into the dairying business, and are the owners of the cattle they are entering in the show.

Among the Clyde Chapter of Future Farmers entering animals in the Asheville show are Blount Osborne, Massie Osborne, Newell Jackson, David Joe, McClure, and Charles Holder.

Library Notes

MARGARET JOHNSTON
County Librarian

September, 1946

Dear Student:

It may not have occurred to you that your Haywood County Public Library has a great deal of supplementary materials which will be of benefit to you in your school work.

We are taking this opportunity to invite you into our Main Library in Waynesville or to use any of the stations in various communities.

You'll find encyclopedias, "Readers-Guide to Periodical Literature," and unabridged dictionary, "Current Biography," "World Almanac" and along with other reference books there are around 40 current magazines in our Reference Room. You will need to keep abreast of the times and you are welcome to come in and prepare your assignments in the library.

Other books may be taken out—the world's classics, grammars in foreign languages, science, aviation, travel, and most any subject you may wish.

For special programs, a stunt, a recitation, an oration or even a play may be found in our collection.

Particular stress is being placed on building up our holiday collection so that good stories and poems are available for these occasions.

The library hours are 10-12 and 12:30-5 every day except Sunday. Let us help you with your lessons.

Very truly yours,
MARGARET JOHNSTON,
County Librarian

Hobbies

We are planning on a hobby exhibit sometime this fall. A few articles to represent the various types of hobbies to be found in Haywood County will be on display. The purpose of this exhibit is to introduce you to many possibilities of aid from our books on hobbies.

What is your hobby? Would you let us have a sample of your hobby for display? Let us know so our plans may be made.

GOES TO SEE FATHER

ELGIN, Ill.—Truck driver Paul Parker, 32, recently returned from a belated trip to Missouri. He went there to find his father, whom he never had seen.

In 1913, Parker's parents, then living at Reed's Springs, Mo., had a misunderstanding. Rose Parker, the wife, came here to live with her parents.

Paul was born here and reared by his grandparents. His mother died when he was two years old.

The father, meanwhile, had been informed that Paul had been drowned in an accident. Paul grew up, planning some day to seek his father's relatives.

He and his wife drove to Missouri. He found his father and grandmother, Mrs. Amanda Parker living at Galena.

During the war we read in some religious magazines that the war might have been avoided in the Pacific if the churches of the nation had sent more missionaries to Japan. Well, now is the time to send them to prevent a future fight.

Reprints

Can you answer a simple question? What author, living or dead, has the greatest number of titles reprinted? The correct one is Grace (Livingston) Hill, an 80 year old grandmother now living and writing in Southern Pennsylvania. Seventy-three of her books are available in reprints. Zane Grey with 43 titles runs second. If you are a Hill or Grey fan try us for your favorite title.
