NEWS from Transactions In Real Estate HOLLYWOOD

Hollywood is expanding South of the Border, where RKO has already practically completed a new fourteen-stage studio in the Churu-Allen, et us. busco suburb of Mexico City, at a ost of 20,000,000 pesos, or $4. Billy Haney, et ux. 000.000 The first of a series of bilingual films is scheduled to go Robinson, et us, before the cameras in January to J. H. and Bavolia Powell.

The Mexican ventures of other companies, while less ambitious han RKO's, are indicative of the avorable labor and taxation conditions which prevail below the border. For example, a studio carpenter in Hollywood makes $2.25 an hour; in Mexico he gets 7 pesos, or $1,40 a day. The Mexian income tax is only 10 per cent. without any surtaxes, we're told.

In making a bilingual film, two Hudson directors will be used, one American and one Mexican, and two pairs of stars, with the remainder of the cast being recruited from among Mexico's bilingual actors Bilingual production will lengthen shooting schedules by about 33 per cent, but the difference in labor costs and salaries will not make the finished product as expensive as in Hollywood.
