Methodist Youth Fellowship Will Have Stunt Night

The Haywood County Methodist Youth Fellowship will hold its annual Stunt Night program at the Crabtree school Monday night, October 7, 7:30 p. m. Each local fellowship is expected to present a stunt as its part on the program. A drawing will be made to determine the order of presentation of stunts.

Betty Lee Reno, president of the county organization, will preside and conduct the business part of the meeting. Other county officers are: Hilda Dotson, vice president; H. C. Turner, treasurer; Dorothy Helen Worley, secretary; C. C. Poindexter, adult counselor.

GOOD PAY FOR MELON

HASTINGS, Neb. — Catching a man attempting to take a watermelon from his fruitstand, Newton D. Aycock insisted that the stranger pay for the melon. The man handed Aycock two bills, jumped into his car and drove away. The Aycock looked at the currency — one was a $20 bill and the other a $1 bill.

REVOLT OF ANTI-LEFT TRIBESMEN ROCKS IRAN

LARGE FORCES OF REBELLIOUS TRIBESMEN are reported attacking on a long front in southern Iran in a determined undeclared war against Premier Ahmed Ghavan's leftist government. Large contingents of government troops are being massed around Shiraz (above), capital of Fars Province. Map shows area of revolt. Tribesmen have captured the small Persian Gulf port of Ganaveh, and have occupied two-thirds of Bushire in their drive on Shiraz. Government declares rebels are being driven back. (International)

Cool, Dry Place Advised As Best To Store Cans

Canning is hard work, as any of the home demonstration club canning champions will testify. That's why the food preservation specialists with the State College Extension Service urge the club women to store their canned goods carefully.

Jars of fruit and vegetables should be stored where it is cool, dark and dry, the specialists say. They rule out closets and shelves behind which run furnace pipes. The pipes may make it too hot for the canned goods when fires are started.

As for placing the jars where they are apt to freeze, the specialists point out that freezing in itself does not spoil canned food, but it may crack a glass jar or break the seal and cause spoilage.

Dampness is also hard on metal caps, as it will cause some types of cap to rust. The jars should also be stored away from the light because it is inclined to fade the food exposed to it, and in some cases, lower the nutritional value of the food. Therefore, the specialists recommend wrapping jars in strips of brown paper if they must be stored on open shelves.

At the same time, they suggest that jars of food left over from other years be eaten first, and that the wise homemaker check the reasons for left-overs. If she finds that her family doesn't like the product, she can cut down on the amount she uses another year.

MID-47

Mid-47 may be the time when a customer can go into a store and expect to buy what he wants. There are exceptions, however, to this general statement.
