TEEN TALK

Dear Judy,

How do you feel about the "little people?" The kids here are all excited about leprechauns. It all started with the play "Finian's Rainbow" in which there is leprechaun prancing around the stage. Now the kids are wearing leprechauns on their lapels. And the little kids have big leprechauns which they can bounce on an elastic string.

Leprechauns are supposed to be good luck and here is the version of one ancient Irishman:

"The little people are really little fairies who are still Irish shoemakers. But, unlike other shoemakers, the leprechauns will mend only the left shoe believing people should stand on their own two feet. Leprechauns like people, but they don't like other leprechauns and they don't like to be stared at. They will give you anything you ask for if you look them straight in the eye but they definitely do not like to be ogled.

So now the kids go around madly staring into each other's eyes to see who can stare the longest. The one who wins is a good leprechaun and the one who gives up is a right-footed leprechaun. The only way you can hex the starer, say the kids, is to rub the little leprechaun lapel pin in front of their eyes.

By the way, did you know that Woody Herman was giving up his hand to be a singer? I've always wanted to be a singer and I've finally decided to give up my successful hand to do it. Tell the kids if they have hopes they should stick to 'em even if it takes years. Eventually ambition will pay off. But it takes perseverance and courage to give up a good paying proposition for something brand new.

Ten high school kids who were among the 3,500 attending a three-day convention of the Columbia School Press Association in New York, became reporters for a day and interviewed New York's District Attorney Hogan. The kids from Malden, Mass., Washington, Conn., and Bayonne, N. Y., really put the DA to work answering questions. And don't think the experience won't help 'em if they ever become real reporters.

DUTCH HERO WELCOMED TO AMERICAN FARM HOME

FORMER MEMBER OF THE DUTCH UNDERGROUND, Hans Kloosterman is welcomed at his new American home, the Stephen Judd farm at Cannonville, N. Y., by members of the family. During the war, a son, Stephen, was killed in the crash of his Army plane over Holland. Hans helped bury him. When he communicated with the Judds, they invited him to live with them. Looking at a book he brought from Holland (l. to r.) are: Mrs. Richard Judd; Richard; Hans; Mrs. Stephen Judd; Grandpa Judd, and Gleason Judd. (International)

Bronx Bus Driver Back Home After Trip To Florida

NEW YORK—William Cimillo, the Bronx bus driver who wandered 1,400 miles off his route to get away from it all, came home from Florida Tuesday in the role of a back seat driver.

The owners of the bus were in the driver's seat, but they weren't lacking in understanding. Victor McQuiston, president of the Surface Transportation System, announced that the company had arranged for their wayward driver's $1,000 bail on a charge of grand larceny.

McQuiston declined to say, however, whether the company would press the charge against Cimillo, an employe for 16 years, or whether they would rehire him. Cimillo was booked on the grand larceny charge this afternoon, several minutes after the $18,000 red and buff bus he drove to Hollywood, Fla., rolled through the Holland tunnel with a substitute driver at the wheel.

Greeted By Crowd
 At the Beach Street police station, a crowd of cheering hundreds greeted the bus driver with spring fever. Aboard the bus were two detectives, John Anderson, a company mechanic dispatched to Florida to drive the bus back home, and a handsome forgotten prisoner being brought home from Florida to face abandonment charges.

Farmer Loses $2,200 On Way to Dunn Bank

DUNN—AP—E. L. Peterson, farmer of near Dunn, reported the loss of $2,200 in cash en route to deposit the money in a Dunn bank.

He had placed the money in an inside overall pocket and not until he got to town did he discover that the bottom of the pocket was out.

The loss included 10 $20 bills and all the others were $100 bills. He said he had been keeping the money in a trunk at home.
