

McElroy-Morrow Vows Are Pledged In Impressive Church Ceremony

Miss Billie Carole McElroy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Everette Austin McElroy, became the bride of Benny James Morrow son of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Morrow in an impressive candlelight ceremony which took place at the Presbyterian church at 8 o'clock Wednesday evening, April 30, with the pastor, Rev. Malcolm R. Williamson, pronouncing the vows.

The altar of the church was arranged in palms and ferns, with floor candelabra bearing many lighted tapers. Placed among the candles and greenery were tall baskets of white gladioli and white stock. The windows were also arranged in greenery and lighted tapers.

Prior to the taking of the vows, a program of wedding music was rendered by Mrs. L. M. Richeson, organist, and Miss Ida Jean Brown and Miss Ida Lou Gibson, vocalists. Mrs. Richeson played "Salute to de Amour," "Melody of Love," "Because" and during the ceremony softly rendered "O, Promise Me," the traditional wedding marches for the processional and the recessional.

Miss Brown sang "I Love You Truly" by Bond, and Miss Gibson sang "O Perfect Love," and as a duet at the close of the ceremony they sang "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of antique slipper satin, modish with a fitted bodice and an off-the-shoulder neckline with a wide upstanding bertha of satin which narrowed in the front. The sleeves ended in tala hly points over the hands and were trimmed with shell-covered satin buttons. The skirt was full and fell in a long rounded train. Her finger-tip veil was worn with a coronet of orange blossoms and seed pearls. She carried a bouquet of bride's roses with a detachable corsage, and her only ornament was a string of pearls, the gift of the bridegroom.

Miss Devonne Morrow, sister of the bridegroom, was maid of honor. She wore a gown of aquaorgette over tulle, modeled with a sweetheart neckline and a fitted bodice with a full skirt. Her gloves and headpiece were in yellow and she carried an arm bouquet of mixed flowers in pastel shades tied with satin ribbon.

Mrs. Harold Fry, of Oak Ridge, Tenn., aunt of the bride, was the matron of honor. She wore a pink satin gown, fashioned with a fitted bodice and butterfly sleeves and a full skirt. Her accessories were in light blue and she carried an arm bouquet of mixed pastel flowers tied with satin ribbon.

similar to the matron of honor, all modeled of broad satin and fashioned along the same lines. The maids were Miss Patricia Jean McElroy, sister of the bride, who wore a yellow brocade, with blue accessories; Mrs. Bruce Stamey, of Pensacola, Fla., aunt of the bride, who wore a gown of blue brocade, with pink accessories; and Mrs. Edwin Russell, who wore an orchid gown with yellow accessories. They all carried arm bouquets of flowers in pastel shades, tied with satin ribbon.

The bridegroom had as his best man, Francis Boyd, and the ushers were Edwin Russell, Bobbie Mills, John Davis Medford and Burton Green.

The bride's mother wore a gown of purple crepe and her corsage was of purple yellow-throated orchids. The mother of the bridegroom wore a powder blue suit with corsage of red roses. Mrs. S. M. Melton, grandmother of the bride, wore a black crepe ensemble and white accessories with a corsage of white carnations. Mrs. J. F. McElroy, grandmother of the bridegroom wore a blue gown with blue accessories and a corsage of white carnations.

Following the ceremony at the church the parents of the bride were hosts of an informal reception at their home on the Dellwood road, honoring the bridal party, members of the families, close friends and out-of-town guests.

The reception was arranged in apple blossoms and the bride's table was covered with a lace cloth with arrangements of apple blossoms, blanketed with pink candles. The three-tier wedding cake bore the bridal motif.

Assisting in serving and receiving were Mrs. Joe Limer, Mrs. Margaret Simmons and Mrs. Fred Campbell.

For traveling the bride chose a suit of purple wool with white and black accessories. After a wedding trip to points in eastern North Carolina, the couple will make their home in Waynesville.

The bride is a graduate of the Waynesville township high school in the class of 1945. At the time of her marriage, she held a position with Miss Pauline Williams of the North Carolina Blind Commission. The bridegroom is also a graduate of the Waynesville township high school in the class of 1944 and did graduate work with the class of 1944. He was recently discharged after serving with the Army Air Forces, having returned from a period of several months overseas duty.

Among the out-of-town guests attending the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. G. R. Dubus, of Mobile, Ala.; Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Stamey, of Pensacola, Fla.; Mr. and Mrs. Harold Fry, of Oak Ridge, Tenn.; Dewey Sumner, P. W. Summey, Mr. and Mrs. Joyce Green, and Mr. and Mrs. Albert Robinson, Mr. and Mrs. Boyd Stamey, all of Canton; Mrs. Frank Fry, of Bryson City, and Mr. and Mrs. Clark Jenkins, of Clyde.
