NEW, WELL-PAID JOBS ARE OPENING UP IN THE REGULAR ARMY'S FIELD ARTILLERY
All Expenses Paid, and $75 a Month To Start

Startling changes are taking place in the U. S. Army Field Artillery! Even veterans of the recent war would not recognize the thrilling new equipment which today's Artillerymen are operating. Some men are chosen for the Guided Missile School, working on rockets and rocket-launching in New Mexico. Others learn to fire some of the Artillery's new "sky-busters," such as "Little David," the 914-mm mortar which hurls a shell weighing almost 2 tons!

If you are 18 to 34, inclusive (or 17 with parents' consent) and otherwise qualified, you can sign up for 3 years or more with the Field Artillery. If you are an ex-serviceman, you can begin a secure career close to home, with reasonable assurance of a one-year assignment in your own Army Area.

Learn while you earn - receive the highest pay in history, free food, clothing, quarters and medical care. You'll have the chance to save up to $2,000 during a 3-year enlistment.

At no obligation to yourself, see your nearest U. S. Army and Air Force Recruiting Officer at the Post Office Building, Asheville. He'll be glad to tell you of the opportunities in store for you. Sept. 12 its first dress and with its christening on Wednesday, we feel that it is quite a big girl now.

It is such a warming feeling to have friends drop by to tell us how they enjoy WHCC and what a real joy it is to get programs without a squeal or static it is impossible to repress in long distance programs.

He came in through the front door like a gust of good fresh air and after he had chatted a few minutes and left, we felt that we had been treated to a most refreshing tonic. Wonder why more folk don't realize what an impression (good or bad) they can leave with the people whom they have contacted, whether it be business or social!

Each day the distant mountains come a little closer to our windows; or, that is the way it seems. But we know it is because the leaves are thinning on the trees that have hidden the mountains all summer.

York.

The train will be on display in Manhattan under the Waldorf-Astoria hotel.

"The baggage car's got three-quarters of an inch clearance there," O'Brien explains. "It doesn't make any difference about the locomotive, because we will push the train in with an electric

MUTT AND JEFF

As to how the train will get to New York, O'Brien still doesn't know.

"We may have to go up around by Poughkeepsie," he says.

The railroads will take special care of the Freedom Train all along the line and will give the train its ice for free. That makes the Erie look particularly generous. The train will be on Erie track for only six miles of the 33,000, and the Erie will donate not only an inspection but a day's supply of ice.

There is one thing not even the resourceful Mr. O'Brien has figured out yet. That is a mail and laundry schedule.

"As nearly as we can tell now, we will have to ship our dirty clothes about four stops ahead every time," O'Brien said, "and get our mail the same way."

With 24 Marines and three Marine officers on board worrying about keeping their dress whites, you can imagine how that one has O'Brien worried.
