REQUEST LABOR VOTE

Nearly 400 workers at the Proximity Mill near Greensboro have asked the National Labor Relations Board to call an election to see if they still will be represented by the CIO Textile Workers of America. The workers, who are more than the 30 per cent required for an election under the Taft-Hartley Act, say the union leader represents a majority of workers at the mill.

patrol from Rowan county. The Rowan county Board of Commissioners has adopted a resolution charging the patrol with wasting its time with harmless, trivial and technical violations of the motor vehicles law. Hatcher says the patrol will enforce the laws whether they are trivial or not.

BIG "TONGUE-WAGGING"

College and university debaters Thursday began what is being called "the biggest tongue-wagging" session ever staged by the South Atlantic and Southeastern Forensic Society, at Hickory. Teams from 22 Southern schools were expected to enter this year's tournament, making it the largest in its 16-year-old history.

GYM FOR CAMELS

Campbell college officials at Duane say they are going ahead with plans to construct a modern $200,000 gymnasium. The student body has pledged its wholehearted support.

FORMER SENATOR DIES

Funeral services were held Wednesday at Washington, N. C. for E. A. Daniels. The solicitor of the recorder's court and former state senator died unexpectedly at his home Monday.

FUGITIVE FROM TRAINING SCHOOL ARRESTED

Atlanta, Ga., police arrested a 17-year-old youth after comparing a piece of bandage found on his finger with some found on the ignition system of a stolen automobile. Listed as Curtis Franklin House, the youth has admitted stealing and wrecking the car, and says he escaped from the Jackson Training School at Concord.

JAMES CALDWELL CHOSEN AS AIDE TO KERR SCOTT

Kerr Scott announced today that James M. Caldwell, Concord lawyer, has joined his gubernatorial campaign headquarters as assistant manager.

Scott, who has announced that he will serve as his own campaign manager, said that Caldwell would be in charge of state campaign headquarters here for the present.

TVA SIGNS HIWASSEE CONTRACT

The Tennessee Valley authority yesterday announced it had signed a contract with the state of North Carolina for conversion of Hiwassee dam village and 800 acres of adjoining land into a North Carolina state park.

The village was built in 1936 when the dam was constructed. Its present buildings are considered suitable for conversion to public recreation facilities.

The contract between TVA and the North Carolina division of forestry and parks calls for a three-year park development program.

STATE COLLEGE PLANS ATOMIC WORK THIS YEAR

A regional training center to implement the U. S. Atomic Energy commission's fellowship training program will be established at North Carolina State college in time for the 1948-49 academic year, college officials announced yesterday.

The Atomic Energy commission has announced that facilities to provide the training will be installed at the college sometime prior to the beginning of the fall term in September.

SENTENCED IN SHOOTING OF HENDERSONVILLE NEGRO

William Winkler of Hendersonville, former Air Force sergeant, has been sentenced to 16 to 18 years in prison for manslaughter. He pled guilty to the shooting of Leroy Cash, a Negro cook at the Mountain Home tea room, near Hendersonville, December 8.

THOSE SMALL EGGS—NOTHING TO CLUCK ABOUT

Mathilda, an 8-pound hen, has one thing common with jokesters. When she lays an egg, it's nothing to cluck about.

Her owners, Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Buck of near Whiteville, don't know if Mathilda is unhappy or what. But to date she has laid two eggs both no larger than an emaciated peccan.

Mathilda is pretty boiled up over the whole affair, too. Fowl play or not, her feathered friends have applied a "coop" de grace by snubbing her. However, if she lays down on her job much longer, Mathilda, the eight pound hen, may sizzle in more ways than one.

TRIAL DATE SET

Trial in Forsyth county Superior Court will start Monday for Tommy Lee Phillips, 16-year-old Winston-Salem boy charged with the New Year's Eve murder of both his parents. He has entered a plea of not guilty by reason of insanity.

FREIGHT RATE BOOST TO BE DECIDED SOON

Officials of the State Utilities Commission say they don't expect much delay before a decision is reached on the petition of North Carolina railroads for a 10 per cent rate hike within the state.

The railroads finished arguments Wednesday in favor of the boost in intra-state freight rates. The Interstate Commerce Commission already has granted a similar increase in shipments between states.

EDITOR ADDRESSES YDC AT UNIVERSITY

Jonathan Daniels, editor of the Raleigh News and Observer, told the Young Democrats Club of the University of North Carolina to avoid reactionaries and leftists trying to tear apart the Democratic party. When the party falls into angry groups, Daniels says, the greatest force for the security of democracy in the United States will be gone.

LABOR LEADER SAYS PARTY BOLT IS NO SURPRISE

Talk by some Southern Democrats of bolting the party is not surprising, claims Daniel Power, Charlotte director of the CIO political action committee. He says they have been voting with the Republicans in congress for years.

Within the next 10 years, he predicts, there may be a modern version of the old Populist movement sweeping the South. Farmers and industrial workers are learning that they are allies, he comments.

NINE OUT OF TEN PASS

If you're wondering how you'll make out when you take the test for your new driver's license, here are some facts that might interest you.

The Department of Motor Vehicles has released figures that show a little better than nine out of ten people passed examination in January. Some 3,665 people failed tests that month. The highway sign test tripped the largest number, road rules was another big pitfall, and 575 applicants failed to get their licenses because of defective eyesight. Also, 789 failed the driving test itself.

BEGINS RETIREMENT

Judge E. Yates Webb of Sylva, who has served for more than 28 years after being appointed federal judge of the W. N. C. district by President Woodrow Wilson, began his "partial retirement" March 1. Under the retirement act, Judge Webb may continue to hold courts as he chooses, maintaining his chambers at Shelby and being entitled to sit on the circuit court of appeals as in the past.

CIO ORGANIZATION DRIVE HAD SUCCESSFUL YEAR

North Carolina's CIO director, William Smith, reported this week that the organization has won 80 representation elections since the state committee drive got under way 20 months ago. During this time the CIO has signed 35,000 new members.

Tobacco manufacturing and processing plants top the list of companies where the CIO is bargaining representative for workers in this state. However, Smith adds that "important gains" have been made recently in lumber and wood-working mills, and wholesale and retail establishments. "The drive has met with better success than was anticipated," he said. As for the Taft-Hartley Act, "It has a certain nuisance value for representatives of management who refuse to recognize legally elected unions."

GETS DAMAGE AWARD

An Asheville woman, Mrs. Irene Penland, has won a $3,500 judgment against the Buckner Transfer company, a trucking concern, for damages received in an accident last September. The company did not file an answer to her suit.

Midshipman Lee Makes Visit To West Point

Midshipman Robert L. Lee, Jr., USN, of Waynesville, was in a group of Annapolis midshipmen who recently visited the U. S. Military Academy at West Point. While they were at West Point, 69 cadets visited the Naval Academy.

Six exchange visits are scheduled by the superintendents of the two academies to maintain a high degree of understanding between the services and to provide an opportunity for the development of friendships.

ELECTS OFFICERS

Principal officers and directors of Tobacco Associates, Inc., have been re-elected at the first annual meeting in Raleigh. Some 300 members from five Southern states re-elected J. B. Hutson of Raleigh as president; E. Y. Floyd of Raleigh, secretary; Mrs. Irby Walker, Greensboro, treasurer; and J. H. Vaughn, Elm City, chairman of the board of directors.

Tobacco Associates was organized last year to promote export of tobacco, and President Hutson says if congress approves the proposed foreign aid program that some 500 million pounds of flue-cured leaf will be sent overseas next year.
