Hats Were Never So Lovely

Flora And Fauna, Ribbons, Trim New Millinery

Fragile, feminine hats designed to make the plainest Jane look pretty are the perfect complement to the already firmly-established "look" of Fashion 1948. With snug bodices, short-and-simple haubos and softer, longer skirts, designers prescribe demure little bonnets, sailors and cloches for women of all ages. But especially for post-Easter afternoons and evenings, there is a nostalgic return to the frankly beautiful picture hat that so effectively balances the full, flowing skirt.

The subtle difference between the small, flowered hat of the new season and those seen earlier is its forward-moving line. Crowns continue to fit comfortably to the head and brims are narrower at the sides but extending forward from just above the hairline. At the nape, the brim is either turned up Watteau-fashion or cut away completely.

The profile-flattering side tilt in bonnets, toques and pillboxes is high on the hit parade of popular-priced hat fashions and will undoubtedly continue through the summer months. But even in their softly rippling picture hats, most of the name designers prefer the simple, straightforward pose of the head-fitting round crown.

The flowers and the flower-toned ribbons, straws, felts and veils of this Easter season are exquisite. Pastels are beguiling. They may be deep-toned or the most delicate tints. Pinks, mauves, orchid and periwinkle blues are marvellously lovely and many bonnets are trimmed with silk roses, fragile lilac blossoms, honeysuckle and lilies of the valley. Apricot, buttercup, jonquil and tangerine are among the soft sunny shades that also look wonderful with spring navy, grey and black costumes, as well as with harmonizing pastels.

Our Waist Is Encircled

Navelly belt, an important feature in any girl's look ward robe. The wide, bias-around-the-waist, Balenciaga belt, belted around the waist, is the latest fashion. It is made of the finest leather, little worn by the designers of the Middle Ages. But look! Balenciaga are seven more in their wide section and are belted of softest suede. For those whose skirt lack the fashionable amount of "hip" capacity, there is a navy blue capelet on either side. Particularly good for evening use. White is the westerly side belt in black or green checked taffeta.

AIR LINE STEWARDESSES NEED NO LEAP YEAR

SEATTLE, O.P. — Denise Ryan, supervisor of stewardesses for Northwest Air Lines, said stewardesses of the line are trading their exciting jobs for tips to the altar nearly as often as they did during the war.

Miss Ryan said of a total of 54 sky girls in the line's western region, 14 were married or announced engagements within the past six months.

During the past year, United Air Lines stewardesses were tripped by Dan Cupid, too, with 20 of them resigning to marry.

Western Air Lines stewardesses have showed reluctance to give up their jobs for marriage, while West Coast Air Lines isn't bothered by the matter. They employ men stewards.

FUEL SHORTAGE SOLVED

VIDALIA, Ga., (AP) — Vidalia residents have found a new use for corn cobs. When fuel supplies became exhausted during a cold spell, Hugh Thompson, milling company executive, turned a hill of cobs over to chilly residents. Everyone reported hot fires and little smoke.

sailors, bonnets with pleated brims, bonnets with scalloped or ruffled brims, bonnets with brims faced in flowers, fabric or velvet. Bonnets often tie on with ribbon streamers or yard of sheer illusion or flutter their ribbons down the back.
