David Mobley, Decorator, To Lecture Here

David C. Mobley, lecturer on the art of living and a specialist in homes for better living, will give his More Livable Homes demonstration talks throughout North Carolina during the month of April, coming to Waynesville on April 13. Mr. Mobley's tour of North Carolina is made possible through the cooperation of the State Extension Service.

The More Livable Homes demonstration consists of a wealth of illustrative material on practical "fashions for the home" and includes actual procedures for improving home surroundings.

As an authority on his subject Mr. Mobley does not term his work interior decoration but rather home appreciation. The more livable home is simply the expression of the human love for color and comfort, an unaffected and sincere answer to that desire for pleasant surroundings in daily life. Where and how we live has much to do with the development of our mental, physical and moral fiber for we are unconsciously affected by our home surroundings.

During the past 15 years, Mr. Mobley has conducted home furnishings institute from coast to coast and some of the universities where he has given his graduate courses are the University of Chicago, New York University, Syracuse University, University of Vermont and University of Utah.

Every home, says Mr. Mobley, must be made a place of mental and physical comfort, a place where modern youth is contented to shape its future. Mr. Mobley looks upon the home as "a garden with parents as gardeners." But he believes that in many homes the weeds have been permitted to crowd out the green grass and the beautiful plants and that the non-makers have the job of weeding out cluttered furnishings and discordant and inharmonious colors and the cultivation of a life for peaceful surroundings in daily life.

Virlin Gibsons Observe 65th Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Virlin Gibson observed their sixty-fifth wedding anniversary on March 9, at their home in Dellwood. A number of relatives and friends called during the day for an informal celebration of the event.

Mr. and Mrs. Gibson, both natives of Haywood County were married in Marshall, N. C., on March 9, 1883, with the Rev. Rollins officiating.

Mr. Gibson is a retired farmer and although he is 84 years old still enjoys hunting and fishing. A few years ago he won second prize in a shooting match at Catalochee.

Mrs. Gibson is the former Miss Ellen Prater. She has devoted her life to making a home for her husband and children. Both she and Mr. Gibson are members of the Dellwood Baptist Church.

The Gibsons have eight children and one hundred and five grandchildren, great grandchildren and great-great grandchildren. The children include Mrs. Mack Edwards, Mrs. Amos Moody, Mrs. James Edwards, Dan Gibson, Grady Gibson, of Portland, Ore., General H. Gibson, of Rockwood, Tenn., Robert Gibson, and George Gibson.

Billie L. Queen Is Married To Gerald Mooney

The marriage of Mrs. Billie Lampkin Queen and Gerald Waldo Mooney was impressively solemnized in a candlelight ceremony on Saturday, March 27, at 7 o'clock at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred R. Moody on the Soco Gap road. Only members of the immediate families and intimate friends attended.

Rev. T. S. Roten performed the ceremony before an improvised altar of spring flowers arranged in the French doors of the living room and library. A recording of "Ah, Sweet Mystery of Life" was played softly during the ceremony. The bride was attired in a two piece navy faille suit with matching accessories and corsage of orchids.

Immediately following the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. William Leonard Lampkin, parents of the bride, and Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence McElroy, brother-in-law and sister of the bride, entertained with an informal dinner party at the Towne House for the bridal party and out-of-town guests. Guests were seated at one long table which was centered with a tiered wedding cake topped with a miniature bride and groom, and lighted at intervals with long white tapers in silver holders. Covers were laid for 20.

Mrs. Mooney was educated at the local schools and attended Western Carolina Teachers college at Cullowhee. She now holds a position in the office of the Welles Shoe corporation in Hazelwood.

The groom is a graduate of Fines Creek high school and served as chief petty officer in the U. S. Navy during World War II. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse L. Mooney of Fines Creek and holds a position with the Champion Paper and Fibre company of Canton. Out-of-town guests for the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence E. McElroy of Newport News, Va., Miss Tommie Price and Mr. Joe Cathey of Canton, and Mrs. Mae Pless and Mr. Glenn Robinson of Clyde.

Mr. and Mrs. Mooney are residing at present in the Noland apartments on Main street.

BEAUTY SPOTS.. Before Your Eyes

By BETTY CLARKE AP Newsfeatures Beauty Editor

The next time you see a young lady with what appears to be a smudge of dirt in the shape of a four leaf clover or a heart on her face, don't be alarmed. The newest trick to add to the grab bag of feminine foibles is the revival of granny's beauty spots though grandma may have blushed at the thought of wearing one at the bosom line of her dress as today's glamor girl is doing.

Little black patches in stars, crescents, triangles, clovers and hearts are taking their place along with petticoat frills and waistline nippers to round out the old-fashioned look. The fad, revived by Clarence Barnes, an artist, has been seen on models in showings of the summer collections of Mildred O'Quinn, Lilly Dache and Adele Simpson.

The girls wore them on the shoulder with decollete evening gowns, next to a dimple on the chin, or just below the corner of one eye.

U.D.C. To Meet At Towne House This Afternoon

The April meeting of the Haywood Chapter of the United Daughters of the Confederacy will be held this afternoon at The Towne House, at 3:30 o'clock. Mrs. Floyd Rippetoe will be hostess.
