EATING NO DOWN PAYMENT TODAY

mother gests that if one of the more wideast as ly known national parks is your destination, you would be smart to North make reservations well in advance knows the late -- for barring that, "you might be faced with the atternative of steeping in your car."

In most of the major national parks there are hotel, lodge, housekeeping cabins, cafeterias, bus transportation, saddle horse, and similar services, provided by concessioners operating under contract with the government, and under the supervision of the National Park Service.

Rates for accommodations compare favorably with those charged at other resorts, or in the vicinity; and this despite the fact that in some of the parks, such as Yellowstone, Giacier, and Crater Lake. the concessioners receive returns on their investments only short months of the year

This year, National Park Service says, motor transportation, saddle horse, and lodging rates will be about the same as last year. The main increase is in meals, which have increased in some of the parks from 10 to 15 percent

In addition to hotel, lodge and abin accommodations, free pubhe campgrounds are operated by the National Park Service in most of the parks. Visitors may bring their own equipment and camp there. Each campground has fireplace, table, and benches, on eparate individual campsites.

If, however, you are so "conditioned" to steam heat that roughing it does not appeal, there are hotel rooms as low as $5.50 a day American plan, or as high as $14. The prices vary, of course, with the from the famous Godey print col- Day location of the parks and the types lection of long ago. Her tiny pigof accommodations.

Girls Accept Boys' Hint, Spruce Themselves Up

LAKIN, Kan. (UP)-Lakin boys think Lakin girls are the prettiest in the southwest.

The boys thus got tired of seeing the girls come to school in blue jeans and with their shirttails hanging out.

The boys of the local high school organized a "blue nose club" with 100 per cent membership to outlaw sloppy attire. Then they went to school in their Sunday best

The girls looked worse than ever. They took the hint.

There is something fascinating about watching a person just after they have purchased a paper from our counter. If it's a man, he usually starts reading and extends an abstract hand for change (if any). A woman nearly always folds it carefully, and tucks it under her arm, or in a shopping bag, and then opens her purse. That always carries him torward. for the money,
