The Hope for a Messiah

ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By Alfred J. Buescher

Scripture—Ezekiel 34:11-16, 22-31; Daniel 7:13, 14; Zechariah 3:8-10; 6:12, 13; 9:9, 10; 12:10; 13:1; John 10:14.

"As a shepherd seeketh out his flock in the day that he is among his sheep that are scattered, so will I seek out My sheep," saith the Lord.

God promised to gather His scattered people from their places of exile, and to bring them to their own land and "feed them upon the mountains of Israel."

"Rejoice greatly, O daughter of Zion; shout, O daughter of Jerusalem, behold, thy King cometh unto thee; He is just," saith the Lord God of Israel.

The Messiah would be a descendant of David, coming not as king, but "lowly, and riding upon an ass."
MEMORY VERSE—Psalm 100:5.

THE HOPE FOR A MESSIAH

A PEOPLE LOOK FOR A DELIVERER

Scripture—Ezekiel 34:11-16, 22-31; Daniel 7:13, 14; Zechariah 3:8-10; 6:12, 13; 9:9, 10; 12:10; 13:1; John 10:14.

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL

AFTER CENTURIES of wandering in foreign lands or of living in their own—subject to alien peoples—Assyrians, Babylonians, Medo-Persians, Greeks, Egyptians and Romans—and in modern times, the Arabs and British, the Jewish people have their own nation—Israel—with a president and a constitution, for which they are willing to fight.

Persecuted and slaughtered in many lands in which they have taken root, discriminated against in others, their final recent martyrdom in Nazi Germany brought to a head the vital need of a homeland of their own, where they would feel safe and secure. Here they hope eventually to transfer many of their now homeless people and be able, as their prophet, Zechariah says, to "call every man his neighbor under the vine and under the fig tree."

Through all their sufferings remote from their own country in that olden time of which the Bible relates, the Israelites were sustained by one great hope—that a Messiah, which means "the anointed one," would come to

MEMORY VERSE

"For Jehovah is good; His loving kindness endureth for ever."
—Psalm 100:5

lead them and set them up again as a great nation such as they had known under David and Solomon.

Ezekiel, one of the great prophets of Israel, who was with them in their servitude, comforted and rallied his people with the words, "Thus saith the Lord God: Behold I, even I, will both search My sheep, and seek them out." As a good shepherd He would deliver them out of the places where they had been scattered, and bring them to their own land. He would seek those that were lost, would bind up their wounds, strengthen them that were sick, and take care of them.

Furthermore, Ezekiel promised, the Lord would set over them one shepherd, "even my servant David." David had been their king in their time of glorious prosperity—but he had been dead for 400 years. He had been anointed with oil by Samuel, and combined in himself the functions of king and representative of God. His person was sacred, as with the anointing, a spirit entered into him. Some thought that David would come back in person, others that one of his line would be their Messiah.

How the hearts of those poor from his line that the Messiah was expected to come to restore the nation.

As long as the princes of David's family lived and received honors, not only from their own people, but from the princes and rulers of other lands, the renewed hope of national independence and eminence connected itself naturally with a descendant of the old stock. But the prominent members of David's family gradually disappeared, leaving the Jews still hoping that some time their Messiah would come from his line.

Jesus did come from David through His mother, but alas, He did not come in glory, and the authorities of His time, while marveling at His learning and good works, refused to accept Him as anything but a man of lowly means, and a disturber of the peace and even a blasphemer, and they cried "Crucify Him; crucify Him!" Even His humble followers were slow to realize that this simple Man was the Son of God, the Savior of the world.

So they crucified Him on the cross, but He lives and continues His healing work for all who will listen to His words and heed them—the true Messiah!

—The true Messiah!

Grandma Advised Scalf's - Now Able To Work; Gains 15 Lbs.

"I Was Unable To Work; Everything I Ate Seemed To Create Gas On My Stomach. I Couldn't Sleep Or Eat Right. The First Bottle Of Scalf's Helped Me," Declares Mr. Craft.

Mr. Alfred Craft, life-long resident of Wedowee, Ala., happily states: "I'm so glad my grandmother recommended Scalf's Indian River Medicine to me after it helped her so much I had suffered for two years from terrible misery in my stomach after meals. Often I couldn't rest and couldn't sleep. I lost weight and strength until I was unable to work. The first bottle of Scalf's helped me and when I had taken five bottles I felt like a new man. The awful smothering gas pains are relieved and I can entirely fill with no fear of later suffering. I can sleep all night and wake up feeling rested and strong and ready for a good day's work and I have regained fifteen pounds of needed weight. I trust my letter will cause others suffering like I was to find relief in Scalf's."
