Moisture and What It Means to Ironing: The more brittle the fiber the more moisture it requires Thus linens and cottons require considerable moisture while other fibers need less

Remember, moisture must penetrate the fabric evenly or finish will be blotchy-rough and smooth shiny and dull, Just enough moisture must be used to make the fiber pliable-if fiber is too wet it slows down ironing. Some authorities recommend that such fabrics as silks and rayons be ironed when partially dry, rather than dried completely and then dampened. If moisture is distributed evenly. however, these fabrics seem to finish satisfactorily when dried and dampened. Many of the lighter weight spun rayons needn't be dampened at all, as the dry fabric irons very satisfactorily

Ironing may be detrimental to a few articles such as elasticized por tions of garments, fabrics waterproofed with waxes, rubber or oth er coatings which may melt easily Study labels of such articles carefully for ironing instructions. Some knit garments may be pulled out of shape by ironing. Don't iron washable pile fabrics such as chenilles or corduroys because ironing will mat the pile. Brush up the pile when thoroughly dry.

Three C's for Salads: The ingredients for a fresh fruit or vegetable salad shoud be clean, crisp, and cold. Salads should be served with dressings that are not too tart, too salty, nor too sweet,
