

IT'S ALL DONE WITH SCARFS

HOOD . . . For riding in an open car, this is tops. Fold as you would to make a paper-cocked hat, roll and tie beneath the chin.

— Give a smart girl a couple of scarfs and she'll come up with a complete wardrobe.

The fad for thinking up new uses for a popular scarf has become a national pastime, and nowadays there's practically nothing, from an evening dress to a sarong, that can't be made from a scarf base.

There's an incentive to practice scarf tricks this summer, since the new designs and fabrics are more beautiful than ever. Tops in the summer lineup are polka dots of all colors and sizes, printed on pure silk squares. Ingenious amateur designers are using them for cummerbunds, for halters, for blouses, for bra tops to a swim suit.

Some of our best-known society women have taken up the hobby of scarf collecting.

You'll be seeing scarfs used in divers ways on beaches and dance floors this summer. Here are a few ideas for the modern scarf fancier. The assorted polka dot scarfs are designed by Glensder.

BLOUSE . . . This pure silk scarf has white com dots on four different background colors. Use as a blouse under your new suit jacket.

BRA . . . You do this one simply by folding diagonally, wrapping around from the back and tying in a knot in front. Smart, huh?

SARONG . . . Tie it around your bathing suit when you want to promenade on the beach. Dorothy Lamour herself would approve this.

Mrs. Athel Jones Entertains For Young Son

Mrs. Athel Jones was hostess of a children's party on Wednesday afternoon in honor of her young son, Joe Jones, on the occasion of his fifth birthday anniversary. She was assisted by Mrs. John Queen, Jr., and Mrs. Douglas Moore.

After numerous games a picnic supper was served. A color note of pink and green was observed in table appointments. Favors were presented to each guest.

Attending the party were Margaret Queen, Mary Mac Moore, Kaye Bryson, Roddy Edwards, Frank Fry, Paul Davis, Jr., Edwin Davis, Max Jones, John Queen, III, and Michael Tuttle.

Visitors Are Feted At Dinner

Mr. and Mrs. Homer Plett were hosts of a dinner at their home on Tuesday evening honoring Mr. and Mrs. Fred Slipper, of Seattle, Wash., who are guests of Mrs. Slipper's sister, Mrs. J. R. Plett.

The dining table was centered with an arrangement of larkspur, delphinium, roses and gypsophila. Guests present were Mr. and Mrs. Slipper, Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Plett, Miss Marie Plett, Miss Carmen Plett and Miss Elizabeth Henry.

Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Westberry of St. Augustine, Fla., and Mrs. Ivan Mann of Sylvester, Ga., arrived on Wednesday for a visit to Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Sloan, Sr. They were accompanied by Mrs. Jack Wimpy of Dalton, Ga., who is visiting Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Way, Jr.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Sloan and small son, Robert Sloan, Jr., will arrive today from Nashville to spend 10 days as guests of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Sloan, Sr.

Pisgah Had-Busy Week-End; 15,000 Visited That Area

More than 15,000 persons entered Pisgah National forest through highway 276 last week-end, according to Ranger W. W. Huber.

Mr. Huber said the mountain laurel and purple rhododendron in the Pink Beds and on Mount Pisgah will reach their peak the end of this week. He invited recreation-seekers to "come and spend the day," adding that recreational and camping facilities in the forest have been greatly improved.

The ranger suggested that sight-seers take highway 276 to Wagon Road gap, take a left turn and travel over the five-mile parkway stretch now open, return and take a right turn on the road to Mount Pisgah. A public eating place is now open for the convenience of visitors at the parking area below Pisgah, he stated.

HOLLYWOOD

HOLLYWOOD—What they want

Loretta Young wants "a nice fat comedy" to follow her present homical role in "Accused." Not a career woman comedy, the screen's most gracious lady specifies. "Men like women to be feminine and most career-woman roles are not feminine." Her agent and his helpers are scanning new books and magazines for ribtickling yarns.

Dick Powell wants to warble again on the screen. "Not in a musical but in a good dramatic story where I could sing a couple of songs," he said on the "Rogues Regiment" set. Maybe, he muses, a story of a singer turned private eye or an actor who has put crooning behind for more two-faced roles. But Dick postponed his suggestion. "The Dick Powell Story."

Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., wants suggestions on who should play the King Arthur and Guinevere roles in "Sir Lancelot," in which he will star. His company will produce the color picture in England with J. Arthur Rank financial backing. First, though, he'll star as a Spanish cavalier in an early-California musical movie here. Currently he is dashing around old-fresh sets in "The O'Flynn," in which for the first time, he sings. His voice isn't supposed to be good and isn't he explains.

Niven Busch, who wrote "Duel in the Sun" and "Pursued," wants to direct movies occasionally as a refreshing change from authorship. He has just finished a western novel tentatively titled "The Furies" with a wonderful part in it, he says, for his wife, Teresa Wright. Teresa's working in "Take Three Tenses," on the set of which you find the only two Nivens in Hollywood: Niven Busch and Teresa's costar, David Niven. "Niven" means "nephew" in Scottish, David told me.

Thomas Mitchell, back at movie-acting in "The Dark Circle" after four months on Broadway in Priestley's "An Inspector Calls," wants to see more plays produced. He calls 'em the acorns that grow oaks of talent. But increased costs for labor and sets are vexing a problem as most families find their budgets. "A play that used to cost $15,000, costs $50,000 to produce now," he complained.

Civilian meat consumption per person in the first quarter of 1948 was around 38 pounds.

Andrew Jackson was nominated by the first national party convention held in the United States in 1832.

Button, Button

A polka dot or circlet print can take a head-trimmed plastic button. Square buttons are well suited to square plaids or checks. Hand-twisted, knotty buttons are good on scroll prints and bow knot designs.

New Position

J. W. "PINKY" STONE, who has been active in community life since arriving in Haywood county, will leave this week for High Point, where he has accepted a position with Rutherford Freight Lines. Mr. Stone has lived in Canton for the past two years, where he has been associated with his brother, Bill Stone. He was organizer and president of Canton's first Exchange Club.

Old-New Look

A wonderful way to make an ankle length dress do double duty is to make it with a button up hem. That way it can be worn to dinner at night and buttoned up to the shorter length for afternoon wear. This is a particularly good method with a cotton sunback frock.

MEMORY OF MY FATHER

REV. W. A. LONG

His Memory Liveth On!
We often think of Father, every live long-day,
Never, have we wondered why he was called away.

God has a talent for every living creature
Proud of my Dad, he was an honest Preacher.

Oh, how we old love daddy, He was so loving and kind,
Friend to everyone from time to time.

He loved all beauty, Moon, Stars, the beautiful sky,
He knew the God of Host, he did reign on high.

A lover of music, teaching was his theme,
Dad, we know you are happy, as you hear the Angels sing.

Many sinners felt that they were without friends,
They felt low, deep in Sin
Dad did his best, their Soul to Win— For Jesus.

How sweet forever is the rest
When in Christ, a man does die.
How could he ever be more blessed
When Jesus says Awake and Rise.

We truly believe, he finished his course,
He fought a good fight.

He is happy with Jesus, both day and night.

Dad's voice is silent, his memory lingers on,
Remembering it in a Godly tone,
He would say, As I am now, you all must be,

So prepare to die in Christ and follow ME.

By Mrs. Herbert Tucker,
West Hillsboro, N. C.
For Mrs. M. L. Dixon.
