By LAWR

THE MOUNTAINEER

Waynesville, North Carolina The County Seat of Haywood County

THE WAYNESVILLE PRINTING CO. W. CURTIS RUSS Editor Curtis Russ and Marion T. Bridges, Publisher PUBLISHED EVERY TUESDAY AND FRIDAY

HAYWOOD COUNTY	020100
One Year	$3.00
Six Months	1.75
NORTH CAROLINA
One lear	$4.00
Six Months	2.25
OUTSIDE NORTH CAROLINA
One Year	$4.50
Six Months	2.50
Entered at the post office at Waynesville, N. C. ond Class Mail Matter, as provided under the March 2, 1879, November 20, 1914.	as Sec-

Obituary notices, resolutions of respect, card of thanks, and all notices of entertainment for profit, will be charged for at the rate of two cents per word

MEMBERS OF THE ASSOCIATED PRESS The Associated Press and United Press are entitled ex-clusively to the use for re-publication of all the local news printed in this newspaper, as well as all AP and UP news dispatches

TUESDAY, JUNE 22, 1948

We Are of The Same Opinion Still —

The Asheville Times attempted to give this newspaper, the Waynesville Chamber of Commerce directors and the Transylvania Times an editorial spanking last week. The Asheville paper disagreed on the action and opinions recently taken as to the use of the word "tourist."

The directors of the Chamber of Commerce here several weeks ago went on record asking the local people to refrain from using the word "tourist" and instead use the word "visitor" or "guest." The board of directors felt the two suggested words would be more dignified, and in keeping with a progressive organization and town.

The editorial in the Asheville paper, about a column in length, came out a few hours before the board of directors met for their June meeting. Needless to say, the opinions of the Asheville editor came in for plenty of discussion, but he failed to convince a sinele member of the board.

In order to get outside opinions on the n atter, it so happened that there were two public relations men from Florida seeking information at the Chamber of Commerce office. The query was put to them, and they both said: "In Florida we use the words vacationists" or "visitors." The reason for this is that during the war, the word "tourist" was cheapened to the extent that many people referred to many as "tin-can tourists." Our advice is to drop the word "tourists" es recially when you are in Florida."

Perhaps we should not be so harsh on the A heville editor, because in a large metropolitan area, the citizens do not have the close contact, the fellowship, and the same appreciation of visitors as those of us in small neighborly towns who rub elbows with each other every day, share each other's troubles, and live as one big happy family.

Then, too, the Asheville paper said ", ... a person who visits this famous summer resort region for recreation and sight-seeing."

Just imagine that, and all the time, we thought we had it definitely understood that Western North Carolina was fast becoming a year-round resort center, and here the A heville editor goes just naming the short st mmer season.

We are re-printing the Asheville editorial in which he freely quotes Webster. We are a g. eat believer in Mr. Webster, too, but on many things he is out of date and we honestly feel that the use of the word "tourist" is

Under the caption, "We Differ on the Word "Tourist" But We Agree on Hospitality." the Asheville Times carried the following edi-

"Two excellent community newspapers and a chamber of commerce in Western North Carolina have expressed disapproval of the word 'tourist' to designate a person who visits this famous summer resort region for recreation or sight-seeing. They favor the use of the word 'guest' or 'visitor.' We never like to disagree with our good neighbors, but in this case we shall have toknowing they will not consider it an unfriendly act.

"We understand the Waynesville chamber of commerce initiated this proposal and that it was promptly given the endorsement of The Waynesville Mountaineer. Then the Transylvania Times over in Brevard approved the idea. The Waynesville and Brevard newspapers, however, admitted that the word 'tourist' is too firmly established in the general usage of the people of the nation to be abolished merely because of local prejudice against it.

"The Brevard paper summarized the situation as follows: "The Waynesville chamber of commerce a ggested the use of the word "guest" or "visitor," pointing out that the word 'tourist' has a suggestion of cheapness. They also opined that it was "overworked and too commercial."

" 'We agree with the reasoning of the Waynesville body, but like The Mountaineer, we doubt that it will be possible to squelch the word. Once a word becomes imbedded in the popular vocabulary it is hard to eradicate. Explain it how one will, it is undoubtedly the truth that over the years the word "tourist" has acquired a derisive overtone which does not attach to either "guest" or "vis-

"Prior to this time we had never heard any objection to calling a person a 'tourist' if he were one. Likewise we never heard it suggested before that the word carried implications of 'cheapness,' or that it was 'overworked,' or 'too commercial' or had a 'derisive overtone. On the other hand we rather considered the word 'tourist' had considerable dignity and carried a complimentary overtone.

"More important than any of these personal reactions, however, is the real meaning of the words under discussion. A 'guest' or a 'visitor' is not necessarily a 'tourist,' although, of course, we all think of our 'tourists' as our guests and visitors.

"Let's consider what Webster's dictionary says about the meaning of these words:

"Tourist-One who makes a tour; especially, one who travels from place to place for pleasure or culture.

"Guest - Any person who lodges, boards, or receives refreshment, for pay, at a hotel, or the like." (Definition of the non-paying guest is not given because it does not apply here).

"'Visitor-One who makes a visit; specifically, one who makes formal visits of inspection."

In the light of these definitions it seems clear to us that a person who comes to Western North Carolina to enjoy our climate. scenery and other attractions, is definitely one who travels from place to place for pleasure or culture.' That is quite dignified and complimentary, as well as entirely ac-

"Even if it were desirable and possible to drop the word 'tourist' into 'oblivion,' we should have to coin some other word to express our meaning. The vague and general words 'guest' and 'visitor' just don't do the

"While we've taken this exception to the respected opinions of our neighbors, there is certainly solid agreement in Asheville, Breyard and Waynesville, and the other mountain communities, on how to welcome and treat all the good people who come to see us scales based on skill and experi-older persons, invalids), and the and our recreation wonderland-whether they are called 'tourists,' 'guests,' 'visitors' or any other worthy name.

"This is the season for them and Western hold planning and work simplifica- fair distribution of tasks among North Carolina extends to them our cordial tion should be established. There is greetings. It is our privilege, as well as our a definite relation between such ployes if she would make it her responsibility as hosts, to assist them in every possible way to make the most of their done by employes. In estimating stay with us and enjoy themselves to the

"'Tourists' by any other name would be just as welcome and our pleasure in having them just as sweet."

Citizens Must Work For Schools

Reports from the State Education Commission on results of a series of surveys on what the people of North Carolina think about the schools continue to come in-and continue to prove interesting.

Latest report reveals that North Carolina citizens think schools of the state should place more emphasis on how to get along with others, how to study effectively, religious training and sex education.

In answering one group of questions, Tar Heels called for more emphasis on developing a well-rounded personality and preparing for marriage and parenthood. The citizens also believe that the schools should give more attention to understanding the operation of These surveys conducted by the Education Commission are a worthy project and school officials now know more about what people think about the schools than they could have found out in any other way. However, it should not be forgotten that the responsibility for putting into action the projects or the changes that people seem to want rests in the local community.

With the state-wide survey guiding the educational leaders of the state, local citizens interested in the schools can look forward to greater cooperation on the part of the school officials. Nevertheless, it rests with the patrons of the schools in each community to press for any changes they feel would be beneficial to their children. For this reason, it is at least as important to have informed parents in a community in this time of change, as it is to have informed officials. -Sanford Herald.

Rambling 'Round

-Bits Of Human Interest News Picked Up By Members--Of The Mountaineer Staff-

He certainly was optimistic for it was rush hour along about dusk. and he was pushing a wheelbarrow. This vehicle was piled higher than the man's head with corrugated paper cartons, and he had to strain to see around it as he crossed the street just below the courthouse It was risky traveling.

Do you ever wonder what the birds do when one of those drenching rains descend upon the earth? We have never been able to discover their hide-out

. . but we always know that as soon as the rain has stopped they will come out in all their glory with a song: or that cheerful little chirp that must be their conversational way of 'getting it over" to each other,

It must be summer. Or a reasonable facsimile of same. On a car just passing, was hung two wet bathing suits.

So many folk that drop in, re-Continued on Page Three

WASHINGTON LETTER

By JANE EADS

bucking industry, with its regular apartment, the composition of the hour and work schedules and wage family presence of small children,

The U. S. Women's Bureau gives some tips to would-be employers First it says that efficient housemanagement, says the bureau, and responsibility; the amount and quality of the work

It's getting tougher and tougher structure and size of the house or

The Woman's Bureau suggests: "It would help the employer to achieve an efficient work plan and members of the family and em-

> To eliminate (Continued on Page Three)

MIRROR OF YOUR MIND

Does crying easily mean you are weak-minded?

Answer: It may mean that you are suffering from repressed selfpity, due to the fact that adult life has not come up to your childish expectations. You may cry at other people's troubles because you don't want to admit your own, or be moved to tears by art or music because their beauty suggests the perfect happiness you no longer dare to hope for. But unless you carry your indulgence in them to extremes, such "outlets" are good for you, acting as a safety-valve for feelings which it might be dangerous to bottle up ville?

VOICE

PEOPLE

Have parents a right to "dis. own" their children?

Answer; If a parent is the and who wants to do this, his children are doubtless better off withinhim, but I know of no more tonardly or empty form of self-deception. For your children lite the Capital

What is your favorite scenic

Mrs. Stanley Brading: "My fav- leigh and making time to ! orite drives are on the by-ways of within the past part in the conthe mountain roads as, for in- to find who the warmed come

Mrs. Eric Clauson; My favorite drive is to the water falls beyond Lake Logan on the road which leads to the new Skyland Drive. It is the place we always take visitors and the drive is perfectly beautiful. At this time the whole road is affame with rhododendron and there is a lovely place to pienic near the falls."

ning past Pisgah Inn into Candler."

Mrs. R. Stuart Roberson: "To me one of the most beautiful drives WASHINGTON-Went to know the time and skill required for is the trip to Wagon Road Gap, I how to get and keep good house- specific tasks in the home, the em- made the trip last fall and the ployer should consider the physical coloring of the foliage was the most beautiful sight you can imagine."

> Mrs. John E. Barr: "I believe the trip to Wagon Road Gap is my use of modern labor-saving devices. Lavorite, I think it is quite picturesque and beautiful. There are so many beautiful drives, it is hard to > > Mrs, Linwood Grahl: "I think the prettiest drive is through Soco Gap, especially the road on the other side of the gap.

They make their statement while bearing in still is claiming more than 300 met fallet Stassen also has almost to chance at all to

The tender of the highly-Stassen by a Repullman pre to satisfy thousands of Su Political though the offer

Forrestal a man with ample Stassen Served with ability the Navy in World War II on the staff of Adm.

he would stipulate that he would serve for only They point out that it would be folly for a nounce such a decision, and say that he will be like any other candidate, would keep he feter

II experience—and there are thousands of the looking for better jobs-are being recruited for

However, the government "looked the other " citizens fighting in the carly days of the San Spanish civil war. The Flying Tigers who helped China hold of the were largely military aviators on inactive duly placed on inactive duty before they could go about Spanish Loyalist flyers were recruited more American aviator signed up recruits cally is Recruiting by the Israel forces has not resistage, but a competent pilot who wants to fy for does not have to look far for a job.

• PEACE FIASCO-Diplomatic observers les States-Russian "peace talk" has to has further

On the United States side both the State a between the two countries. White House are completely a numeral the Russ a conference was not asked for, and the sed acceptance public was no more than a torgue maneuver. As a result, Moscow's moves a suspicion in the future On the other size.

Soviets now have ample and mathem for their ment that the United States as malf with "imperialism" than peace

They can, and undoubted yould street ust the United States does not make to all dost a conference table, peace is not defined

• WILL HIRE—The Commerce department B troubles—in the $10,000-a-year bracket Averill Harriman took several top men with roving ambassador for ECA. Now his species is finding it difficult to fill the the incies

Men who have been contacted feel that the porary. They reason that if a Republican ad they'll be out. So they ask why should they is to take what may be a temporary position

Looking Back Over The Years

15 YEARS AGO

Mrs Sydie Ray and daughter, Miss Elizabeth Ray, attend the room World's Fair in Chicago.

Chevrolet belonging to Dr. Earl Barefoot of Canton is stolen from Bradley-Davis Company opens office in Canton.

10 YEARS AGO Drive is started to raise funds or Box Scout work

Governor Hoey dedicates new Canton Armory

Aaron Prevost wins first flight in

new Hazelwood School

Rotary Golf Tournament

addresses members of Woman's Mountaineer and dedicated to men Missisonary Society

Glenn Palmer completes a modern barn with milkroom and feed be open soon.

Building program in Hazelwood is indving rapidly. Several new homes are under construction.

W. P. A. approves application for

Dr. Elmer Clark of Nashville

5 YEARS AGO V C. Dasher, new manager of Hotel Gordon, announces hotel to

Roy Parkman is installed as president of Lion's Club. Asheville group studies operations at the Haywood County Mutual Cannery Civilian defense workers receive certificates Zebulon Weaver expresses approval and appreciation of the spe-in service.

cial edition to be published by The

By EULA NIXON GREENW PRAV TELL IS ALLED ---

out the State, men who are drive in the vicinity of Waynes- posed to know trends than the access to have been whoma troud it is stance, the road to the firetower be Why Southey can be not above Soco Gap and the road run- the winner. They want to be the winner! This between to the deane to be wall to thing else to empile de mon-

Defense Secretary Post Possibility for Stassen

Special to Central Pies WASHINGTON - Political expedit agree that

W defent by Gov Thorans F. Is seven the C dential nomination choice, and that the best the ermor now can hope for a s Republican administration That post, the experts my, place in the office now belong Harold E. Stassen and knowledge

 ONE-TERM VANDENBERG !—Experienced discount reports that if Senator Arthur H Varia

gan, were tendered the GOP presidental non-For this and many other reasons observed

• FLYERS FOR PALESTINE-American available

The United States says that citizens who go foreign force abandon all right of protection by