Eat Right, Live Right, And You Can Go Places, Says Professional Hiker

It's all a matter of eating the right vegetables to Gertrude Woodley Roth.

Mrs. Roth is a walking example of the ancient adage, you're just as young as you feel. This slender little woman in spectacles is over 60—she won't say how far over—but she says she feels like twenty.

The way Mrs. Roth gallops about the countryside, you would say she was right. She's the lady who wrote "Thirst for Adventure" and she certainly has one. She has climbed mountains and hiked through the open country in every part of America. This week she's in Waynesville.

"I can hike 30 miles a day easy," says Mrs. Roth. "Yes, sir,

Business Slow With State Car Inspectors

The North Carolina State car inspection lane has been set up here this week—but Superintendent C. P. Sawyer says that motorists have been shying away from the inspection like the measles.

Waynesville car owners did fairly well in the first round of the inspection. Mr. Sawyer says that about a third of the cars in Haywood county were checked in that period, which is average for the eight counties that his inspection crew works. But things are slowing down this quarter.

"People are going to wait until October, the next time we'll be at Waynesville, and there's going to be one big rush," said Mr. Sawyer. "I want to urge all motorists to have their cars inspected this week while we have plenty of time. There will be no waiting and no expense to the check-up. But they had better come on before it is too late."

The lane here will be in operation until July 13.

On Friday of last week—an average day for this area—77 cars were checked through the lane. Of this number, 32 cars were approved by the inspectors and 45 were rejected for mechanical defects.

Most of the rejects have been because of faulty headlights, according to the figures kept by the inspection crew. Thirty cars were turned back Friday because of headlight trouble. The local in-

Over 100 People Will Tour South From This County

Over 100 farmers from Haywood county will be in the caravan which will make an agricultural tour of the South in early August.

Wayne Corpening, the county agent, announced that the tour would begin at Waynesville August 3 and extend to August 6.

The sixth annual tour from Haywood county, this caravan will include many wives in the roll call.

The group will be feted at three banquets on the southward swing. It will visit two farm experiment stations and will observe farm methods on cattle, dairy, tobacco, and horticulture.

The tour will roll through Chattanooga, Tenn., Sheffield, Ala., and Tullahoma, Tenn. in its 870 mile jaunt. It will visit the Wilson and Wheeler dams in Tennessee and Lookout Mountain.

Mr. Corpening said that the tour will be broken up into three one-day sections. A close schedule of events has been worked out by the county agent.

Large Crowds Attend Programs On Fourth

Dr. Paul Hoon Delivered Address on Democracy Here Monday

A large crowd heard Dr. Paul Hoon, pastor of the First Methodist church of Philadelphia, as he delivered the annual Independence Day address at the high school stadium Sunday morning.

Dr. Hoon's address was the last part of the formal program for the third annual event, with the State Fox Hound Bench Show, scheduled to begin promptly at 2 o'clock. Everything was in readiness for a record-breaking show, as The Mountaineer went to press at noon Monday.

Dr. Hoon used as his subject, "An American Ideology," and told his audience that "when the Declaration of Independence was signed it launched into the world something new in the history of man in the providence of God—Democracy."

"But democracy is more than a document, or a celebration commemorating it. It is an idea in men's minds and an attitude in their hearts. Above all, American"

Dr. Homer Rodeheaver Leading Musical Group At Junaluska This Week

Traffic Is Unusually Heavy Over Week-End

Traffic through this section was extremely heavy over the week-end. All highways were heavily traveled, but Highway No. 19 caught the brunt of the burden, with motorists traveling into and from the Park Highway No. 276 saw an extra heavy load, with visitors from the Pisgah National Forest areas.

As far as could be learned, as of noon Monday no accidents had occurred on Haywood highways. One small accident took place Sunday afternoon. It was reported, but no one was injured and the property damage was minor.

City police reported a quiet week end, with only a few being arrested for being drunk. Two were being held for driving while drunk.

The large crowds at the High School grounds for the Fourth of July program, and the rides were orderly, and police said "everyone is too busy having a good wholesome time to get into trouble over here." The Hazelwood Boosters Club, sponsors of the event, do not permit any side shows, or gambling places to operate. Only rides, and one eating concession, and a popcorn stand.

Jersey Herd At Test Farm Ranks High During Tests

The registered Jersey herd owned by the Mountain Experiment Station, Waynesville, has recently been classified for type under the program of the American Jersey Cattle Club, whose headquarters are here. Dr. Milton P. Jarnagin, department of animal husbandry, University of Georgia, an official classification inspector for the cattle club, made the classification of the Experiment Station herd.

Under the Jersey herd classification program animals are compared for type against the breed's score card which allots 100 points for a perfect animal. Animals are given individual ratings of excellent, very good, good plus, good, fair or poor in accordance with the number of points which they receive on the score card basis.

The 13 animals classified in the Mountain Experiment Station herd include 3 very good, 8 good plus and 2 good for an average of 82.88 per cent. This score exceeds the average rating of 82.85 per cent for all animals classified in the Jersey breed and these breeders are to be congratulated on the type of cattle in their herd.

E, F And G Motorists Need To Get New License Before Last-Minute Rush

Examiner W. W. Moore, the man who issues driver's licenses in the basement of the court house, felt like hanging a sign up on his wall Saturday—"better never than late."

Last week was the end of June and the beginning of a new month. All the people whose names begin with "C" or "D" should have been checked through the examination and given their new license. But were they?

"During the three days I was in Waynesville, all I did was check out C and D drivers," says Mr. Moore. "Not but two drivers in the E-F-G group came in—and I was really busy."

Moore and his associates spent a hectic day Thursday trying to

Noted Musician Di- recting Choirs and Others Through- out the Week

Homer Rodeheaver, noted evangelist, singer, trombone player, lecturer, composer and leading apostle of putting music into the minds of all people has arrived at Lake Junaluska to direct the third annual Sacred Music Conference this week.

Rodeheaver was for 20 years song leader for the late Billy Sunday and with him campaigned for souls in practically every large city in the United States. It is estimated that he has led more than 70,000,000 people in song and has directed as many as 50,000 at one time.

At this conference he will sing many favorites, tell stories and lead the congregation in familiar songs. With him will be his famous trombone. During the conference, classes will be conducted in sightreading and theory, platform deportment, interpretation of gospel songs, anthems and oratorios, and the use of the Hammond organ in churches. These classes will be conducted by the members of Rodeheaver's staff. The evenings of the week will be given over to great song services, inspirational services and meetings for young people.

Rodeheaver, whose voice has thrilled millions, had a humble beginning on a farm in southern Ohio. He worked his way through school and college and being naturally musical, always played some instrument, from the bass drum, before he was big enough to carry it, to the cornet which he played in the Ohio Wesleyan University band.

One day a fellow student, finding himself broke, offered to sell his trombone to "Rody" for $7. That was the same trombone that accompanied him to the battle fronts of Europe during the World War and has thrilled thousands of listeners in meetings and over the air.
