

Interest High In Farm Tour

Interest is running high in the sixth Out-of-State farm tour to be held Aug. 3-6, sponsored by the local county agent's office.

Over 100 persons have signed up for the four-day tour over the Southern states.

The tour will leave here by chartered bus on Aug. 3 and visit Georgia, Alabama, Tennessee.

Word has been received in the county agents office that the Chattanooga Chamber of Commerce would like to be hosts to the Haywood group on the first night of the trip. Bart Leiper, executive director of the Chattanooga Chamber of Commerce, will be on hand to greet the Haywood people when they arrive in that city.

The Haywood folks who make the trip will also be in the movies. Colored movies of the tour will be made by Steve Cassell of the Tennessee Valley Authority in Knoxville.

Persons interested in going on the farm trek should contact the office of the county agent in the courthouse so that accommodations may be arranged.

X-RAY EYE PIERCES STEEL

LINHART, Pa. (UP)—A 250,000-volt x-ray "eye" is being used to inspect castings at a Westinghouse foundry here. The "eye" is able to "look" through four inches of steel so inspectors can find inner defects.

Boosters Club To Give Band $250, $75 To X-Ray Fund

The directors of the Hazelwood Boosters Club voted to contribute $75 to the chest X-Ray survey which is now underway in the county, after hearing Mrs. Howard Bryson, public health nurse, explain the work last Thursday night.

Ernest Green, president, named Fred Campbell and Howard Clapp for three year terms on the Fourth of July celebration committee. They succeed Dr. Stuart Roberson and W. Curtis Russ, who have served of the committee now are R. L. Prevost, C. N. Allen, Paul Davis and W. H. Prevost. A treasurer's report that over $250 had been given the committee from the funds made on the Fourth of July program.

The club decided to have ladies night in August and Dr. Roberson, C. N. Allen and R. L. Prevost were named to make arrangements.

A number of visitors were present Thursday night, and the membership committee announced about ten names would be presented for membership next meeting.

The new board of directors is composed of Ralph Sumnerrow, Sam Knight and Claude N. Allen.

SOBER BICYCLING ADVISED

MOBILE, Ala. (UP)—Don't mix bikes and booze, Judge Tisdale Tourant advised Possey McCory when he fined him $25 for riding a bicycle while drunk. Reckless driving, the judge called it.

MORE ABOUT Rep. Redden

"In the old days, each man farmed for himself. He learned by trial and error. The farmer has kept his nose to the grindstone too much around his own farm, without looking into the future and organizing on his own behalf," said the speaker. "This is the day when those who fail to organize are simply counted out of the economic picture."

Rep. Redden praised the State Farm Bureau. "It is a great farm organization," said he. "It represents the needs of the farmer and it works in harmony with all other farm organizations. I suggest that the farmer should be a member of the great farm organizations of this country. . . they cannot survive without his cooperation."

"The Farm Bureau," Redden told the audience, "has meant a great deal to you in dollars. One of the greatest accomplishments of the Bureau was its promotion of the idea to stabilize farm prices. Now parity prices insure the farmer getting the right price for his crop today the farmer who sets out corn or tobacco knows he will get the same price as everybody else."

The congressman said that a sure barometer of prices was to watch the farmers along the streets of Waynesville. "When a man has sold his crop and he walks along the street, not looking at anything, not speaking to anyone, you know that prices are bad. But when he looks happy and wants to talk to everyone, prices are right."

Redden looked into the future and saw bright prospects for the farmers of this county. "I wouldn't be surprised if you were producing 2,000 bushels of corn per acre one of these days," predicted the speaker.

"The farmer is coming into his own in this state. With the new administration coming in, we have a governor who is interested in the farmer's welfare and will work for him." The audience applauded at this remark.

Rep. Redden concluded that "modern ideas have made Haywood county great. Organization will make it greater. I urge everyone to join the Farm Bureau and I congratulate you on your progress so far."

Before the representative spoke, David Kelly, assistant Farm Bureau secretary from Greensboro, talked to the group for a few moments on the drive to raise $35,000 as an endowment for agriculture professors in the state's colleges.

Those attending a luncheon given for Mr. Redden included Frank M. Davis, Fred Campbell, William Osborne, W. G. Byers, C. C. Francis, W. Curtis Russ, Charles E. Ray, Charles B. McCrary, Joe Palmer, Herbert Singletary, Howard Clapp, David Kelley, C. E. Brown, George Forthing, W. A. Corpening, Miss Mary Margaret Smith and O. L. Yates.

MORE ABOUT Record Crowd

On home. It was then about 9:20. In answer to questions of Solicitor Bryson, she said there were no houses in the area where the car was stopped, and she saw no traffic. She said she did not mention the incident to anyone, not even her mother, until Monday morning. She remained in bed all day Sunday, and for the following two weeks. She described the bruises on her legs and body.

Upon cross examination, for 20 minutes, the plaintiff said she was two-months pregnant when she married Horace Pressley on July 6, 1944. The baby was born on January 25, 1945, the testimony showed. She did not live with Pressley after the marriage, and has since gotten a divorce.

The plaintiff testified that the alleged act took place on the front seat of the car.

Dr. J. L. Reeves, a well known physician was the next witness to take the stand, and told of practicing for 35 years. He said he examined Mrs. Pressley on Monday following the alleged attack on Saturday night. He said he could not tell whether she had been raped or not, as there was no evidence to prove it upon examination. The Canton physician said the patient was nervous, and had two or maybe three bruises or blue spots on her leg and thigh. He said she complained of being sore about the chest. Dr. Reeves said he had her come back to his office two times following the first examination for further check-ups.

After the noon recess, Dr. Reeves told the court that he could not declare positively what had caused the blue marks on the girl's body, that they could be of traumatic origin. In answer to questioning by Attorney John Queen, he said that he could not tell at the examination two days later whether she had had intercourse.

Mrs. Cora Sharp, mother of the girl, then took the stand. She told the court, "My daughter left the house at about 7 o'clock to go to town. She came in soon after 9 o'clock. She was real sick when she returned and very nervous." Mrs. Sharp said that her daughter told her that she was picked up in town in front of Studer's Furniture Store by Lewis Wright, taken onto a dirt road, and raped.

In reply to questioning by the state's attorneys, the mother said that her daughter's body was "badly bruised and scratched upon her return home." When Attorney John Queen asked her if she had observed her daughter's body before that time, she replied yes. "I saw her while she was bathing before she left and she was not bruised," said Mrs. Sharp.

Mrs. Sharp stated that her daughter stayed in bed for two weeks after the night of the alleged crime.

The father of the girl, Mr. Sharp, was then called to the stand. He corroborated his wife's statement. "She was sick all day Sunday," said Mr. Sharp of his daughter. "She told me that the boy drove up to her while she waited for a bus and asked to take her home. Instead of taking her home, he drove up through Highland Park, turned off a side road, stopped the car, and saying nothing, threw her down in the front seat and raped her. She told me that he brought her back to town and dumped her out in front of the house, saying that if she told anything, he would get her." Mr. Sharp was visibly shaken as he gave his testimony.

Mrs. Kate Nichols, niece of Mrs. Sharp, said that she visited the house on Monday morning. The girl was deathly ill, according to Mrs. Nichols. "I saw bruises and long scratches on her body and thighs," said she.

The defense then called in five character witnesses. They were W. D. Hawkins of Canton, D. A. Dean, a former resident of Canton, Ben Abernathy of Canton, and Mrs. Shepherd of Canton, and Mitt Williams of Canton.

Mrs. Grace Shepherd said that she saw Mrs. Pressley on Sunday morning after the alleged crime, in her adjoining backyard.

The defendant, Lewis Wright, then took the stand. A slender, tanned boy in a white shirt, without a tie, he told his version of what occurred on the night of March 6.

"I saw her (Mrs. Pressley) about 7:30 p.m. standing in front of Studer's Furniture Store," said Wright. "I was alone in the car. It was raining so I stopped and asked her if she wanted to get in the car. She did, and said she wasn't in a hurry to get home. So I rode around until I saw two of my boy friends. They got in the back seat. We drove around the block three times and they got out. Then she and I drove back toward Waynesville. All the time she had her arm around me and was kissing me. I drove up and stopped near the rock quarry outside Canton. We stayed there about fifteen or twenty minutes. Another car drove up within a few yards of us and turned off its lights. Then she said she wanted to drive. I got out of the car and got back in on the right-hand side. She slipped under the wheel. We had intercourse there."

The defendant stated that "I never did anything against her will." From the rock quarry, Wright said they drove over to a camp at Lake Logan where he had some friends. While driving down from the camp, his car became stuck in

Rotarians Hear Florida Pastor

Dr. John W. Branscomb, of Orlando, Fla., told Rotarians here Friday of the three R's in a civic organization, in an address that was filled with humor, and homespun philosophy.

Dr. Branscomb said the three R's were, romance, responsibility and reward. He termed the romance as an appreciation of the many blessings we have, and said "God is romance, and all the creation."

As for responsibility he pointed out that members should attend regularly, and take their membership in any organization seriously. He said attendance was one of the biggest problems facing the churches today.

The reward of being a faithful and working member, comes in seeing things accomplished, and others made happier, he concluded. His talk was broadcast over WHCC.

The club voted $100 to the Chest X-Ray survey fund.

The mud. He went back to the camp, Wright said, borrowed a friend's Buick and took the girl home. "I would say we got home around 10:30," said Wright. "She told me to come back the next night and I said maybe I would."

The defendant told the court that he had been married, was now divorced, and had a small son. He said that he had known Mrs. Pressley for a year and a half.

The judge here recessed 'till the court until Tuesday.

Lawyers for the state include Solicitor Thad Bryson, Grover C. Davis, W. C. Meekins and J. Bat Smathers, the last two are from Asheville.

The defendant is represented by John M. Queen, Frank Ferguson, Jr., A. T. Ward, R. E. Sentelle and I. C. Crawford.

The jury serving on the case includes T. C. Davis, Iron Duff farmer; Clayton McHaffey, Maggie farmer; Hugh Rogers, Waynesville businessman; W. W. Hill, Crabtree farmer; John A. Vance, Pigeon farmer; J. Aaron Prevost, Hazelwood businessman; Rateliff Medford, Waynesville farmer; Gerald Fish, Clyde railroad man; Clarence Hill, Clyde farmer; Charlie Noiland, Clyde farmer; J. H. Woody, Waynesville banker; Lachlan Hyatt, Waynesville businessman, and the thirteenth juror, J. Wilford Ray, Waynesville businessman.

"3. Care as to personal hygiene habits of all employees at work and at home. We advise they keep away from congested areas, especially tourist areas, and not use public swimming places. We advise they make only necessary trips to any potential epidemic area and use every precaution when they have to go.

"4. As a special note to all campers, we advise positively that no new short-term registrations be accepted. This is in line with the policy we have outlined, with the Daniel Boone Boy Scout Camp having been closed, and other camps not accepting short-term campers. It is necessary that we make this requirement.

"5. It is to be noted that we are not advising the closing of any group meetings involving people of our own areas, although definitely advising special care in protecting children from any possible contact with individuals from epidemic areas. In other words, our plans are made to minimize any spread of the neighboring epidemic to our area. Our situation at present is surprisingly satisfactory. We have no cases in Haywood county, Macon county nor the Cherokee Indian Reservation. The one case in Swain county, on-set three weeks ago, and two cases in Jackson county, both in rural areas, onset of the first at least two weeks ago, and the second at least a week ago."

Horse Shoe Man Back At Work, Thanks Scalf's For New Life

"I Couldn't Eat Anything Without Suffering From Gassy Stomach—Couldn't Sleep—Was Too Weak To Work—Scalf's Made Me Feel Like A New Man And I'm Able To Work Now."

Mr. M. J. Hudgins, Route 1, Horse Shoe, N. C., is one of the thousands who have just cause to praise Scalf's Indian River Medicine. It is no wonder he says Scalf's is the best medicine he ever tried for, as he declares: "For twenty-two years I had spells of stomach misery that were often so severe I couldn't sleep or rest. My appetite would become so weak I didn't want a bite of food and for some time before I started taking Scalf's this loss of appetite and awful gassy stomach distress robbed me of sleep and I felt so weak, run-down and nervous that I was not able to work. I had heard Scalf's praised so highly that I decided to try it. This decision was a wise one for in a very few days I was lots better and I was surprised at how quickly I was back at work and feeling fine. I am glad to tell others about Scalf's Indian River Medicine."
