MORE ABOUT Lake Expansion

of the new board of trustees since the election July 2 by the Jurisdictional conference at the quadrennial meeting of the conference in Columbia, S. C.

Officers of the board in addition to Mr Jones are Bishop Costen J. Harrell of Charlotte, vice-chairman and Dr W. F. Quillian of Atlanta, secretary.

W. Hugh Massee, of Waynesville, is a member of the board and of the building and grounds committee.

The executive committee is composed of the officers and the following:

Mrs C. A. Rauchenburg of Atlanta, Bishop Moore, Bishop Paul B. Kern of Nashville; Dr. J. A. Engle of Richmond, Judge Benjamin H. Littleton of Washington, D. C.; Dr. J. O. Smith of Greenville, S. C.; Richard Brock of Chattanooga, and Dr. F. S. Love, superintendent of the Lake Junaluska assembly.

Chairmen of committees to carry on the work of the assembly were named by the conference as follows:

Dr. Elmer T. Clark of New York city, building and grounds; Dr. E. H. Blackwell of Gastonia, program and publicity; Bishop Clare Purcell of Birmingham, budget and finances; Dr. C. E. Lundy of Richmond, hotel management, and Bishop Kern, nominations.

Discussion of the improvement and expansion program for the Assembly and the opening of the annual Missionary Conference on Wednesday took the spotlight of interest at the Lake this week.

The Missionary conference will be held July 28-August 3. Methodists from the Southeast will gather to hear addresses by distinguished missionary leaders and to study the missionary movement both at home and abroad. The conference opens at the conclusion of the School of Missions, an assembly under the auspices of the Woman's Society of Christian Service.

During the week there will be daily addresses in the morning and in the evening by leaders in the missionary program. Included among the speakers are Dr. Eddy Ashu Brahmvatham, India, and Bishop John B. Subhan, also of India, and Dr. Alex Reid, Africa and Mrs. Induk Pakh, Korea.

The speaker for Wednesday at 11:30 is Dr. Asarvatham, while Bishop Subhan will speak Wednesday night. All services will be held in the auditorium.

Special emphasis during the conference will be placed on visual education. Discussions of rural work will also be held.

MORE ABOUT DDT Spray

The spraying units are scheduled to gather at the town hall at 7 o'clock Tuesday morning for a final briefing and the drive against the pests. Newspaper pictures of the DDT combat crews will be made and final plans laid at the time.

Directors Ferguson and Fisher have mapped out both communities so that no spot will escape the thin white blanket of the solution. Here is the way the offense against pests will operate:

A policeman will precede each spraying unit. He will spread the word that the "sprayers are coming." Each house in the area to be covered will be notified so that the occupants may cover food, close windows, if they wish, and protect canaries and gold fish from the DDT. Then the spraying crews will go to work. They will lift their 150-foot hose and aim them into any location where insects may live and breed. Shrubbery, trees and out buildings will get a thorough drenching. Yards and garbage cans will also get doused. Then the unit will roll to the next spot.

The DDT will be odorless, but at first it may leave a whitish, dusty appearance to surfaces. This will be temporary.

The only thing which could stop the DDT panzer on pests will be rain. The spray isn't effective during or immediately after rainfall.

The orchard spraying units are mobile and hold 100 to 300 gallons. They can shoot out spray at the rate of 35 gallons a minute.

The spraying units, it is emphasized, will not reach the interior of houses. It is up to the home owners to effectively spray the interior of their places. A five per cent DDT solution is recommended for this purpose.

The local drive also will not reach the rural areas. Farmers in the county are urged by the health department and county agent's office to do a thorough job of spraying every building, stable, hog pen and chicken house. The average vegetable sprayer will do for this work.

The two boards of aldermen met last week and agreed to sponsor the spraying program. The two towns are buying the solution and the health department, along with the civic clubs and town officials, are cooperating to make the project complete.

Richard Barber is representing the orchardmen, who will spearhead the drive. Other orchardmen who are giving their equipment and workmen for the program, include besides Mr. Barber, Charles Edwards, W. Hugh Massee, Bolling Hall, Henry Francis, Robert Boone, Robert McCracken, Zack Massey, Harper Evanston, and Walter Hawkins.

Dr. Mary Michal, district health officer, is urging the program as an effective preventative of the spread of disease.

Canton also has on a drive to eliminate insects.

seventh grades.

In the fifth grade, the new text is entitled "The American Nations"; in the sixth grade, "Nations Overseas"; and in the seventh grade, "The United States in the Western World."

The prices for the texts will be $1.52 for the fourth grade book, $1.79 for the fifth grade, $1.93 for the sixth grade and $2.07 for the seventh. These are substantial increases over the prices of previous texts, but it was pointed out that the Silver Burdett Company cancelled its contract some time ago because prices set during the depression period were too low for the present period of inflation.

Lions Club Will Sponsor Auction Here On Aug. 7th

Deaths

WILLARD R. JACKSON

Funeral services for Willard Riley Jackson, 47, who died Friday at Oteen Hospital, were held Sunday afternoon at Crawford Funeral Home with Rev. R. L. Young officiating.

Graveside rites at Green Hill cemetery were conducted by the American Legion and members of the Legion also served as pallbearers.

Mr. Jackson, World War I veteran was a native of Williamson Georgia. He resided in Morganton for a number of years and then moved to Baltimore, prior to coming here.

Surviving are the widow Mrs. Viola Miller Jackson, one daughter, Mrs. Fred Heilman, Jr., of Manchester, New Hampshire; two brothers, Henry Jackson of Asheville and Scott Jackson of Birmingham, Ala.; and one sister, Mrs. R. P. Albertson of Birmingham.

Plans have been completed for holding an auction sale, sponsored by the Lions Club, at the Waynesville Art Gallery on Saturday, August 7th.

O. R. Roberts, head of a committee which is planning the event, said that local merchants would provide objects to be auctioned. Several firms have already contributed to the event.

Jimmy Mann, auctioneer, has held two similar sales in Florida and reports them to have been a success.

Proceeds from the auction will go to the several activities of the Lions Club, which are carried on in this community.

At the meeting Thursday night, the Club agreed to join in the campaign to spray this area with DDT.

It was announced by Rev. L. G. Elliott, publicity chairman for the club, that the minstrel show slated for August has been tentatively postponed because of polio in other sections of the state.

Claude Rogers gave the Lions an interesting report on his recent six-week tour to the west coast.
