Church Bells Should Ring On The Hour Sunday

Rev. Paul H. Duckwall, pastor of Long's Chapel and president of the Haywood county ministerial association, has called for hourly pealing of church bells in the county on Sunday to observe the opening of the first assembly of the World Council of Churches being held at Amsterdam, Holland next week.

Each peal of the bells, Rev. Mr. Duckwall said, will call Christians to a moment of silent prayer. That Amsterdam Assembly will mark a re-birth of Christian Faith. Bells will ring from 9 a. m. to 6 p. m. on the hour.

Rev. Mr. Duckwall declared that the Protestant and Orthodox churches participating at the Assembly will be represented by delegates from 140 churches in 39 countries throughout the world. Twenty-seven American churches are sending a total delegation of 225 church leaders.

Miss May Boone Is Attending Appalachian

Miss May S. Boone, of Waynesville, is Haywood county's representative at Appalachian State Teachers college this summer, among the 1,498 different students who have been enrolled. Eighty-nine of North Carolina's 100 counties have representatives on the campus. Miss Boone is taking special work in library science, and is enrolled in one graduate course in library science, with credit toward a master's degree.

The college enrolled 1,123 for the first term of summer school and 849 for the second term, making 1,972 in all, including those who registered for both terms.

Legal Way Sensible WAY

In practically all North Carolina counties, beer is sold by licensed dealers—sold the legal way.

This, we know, is the sensible way.

It cuts the ground from under the bootlegger.

It assures to counties and municipalities a steady flow of revenue, without which public services would have to be curtailed or taxes raised.

It serves the cause of moderation by making legally available the beverage of moderation—beer.

Our purpose is to see that beer is sold in clean, law-respecting outlets—and nowhere else. You contribute to this end, and help protect the millions in beer tax revenue, by giving your patronage to those dealers (the overwhelming majority) whose establishments are a credit to their communities.
