TRUMAN WILL GET TAR HEEL GAVEL

President Truman received a home-grown gavel this week. It was presented to him by the Rev. Thomas W. Fryer, pastor of the First Baptist church at New Bern. The gavel is made from a tree that was standing at New Bern when the first Swiss colonists landed there in 1710.

KNIFING HEARING IS POSTPONED

Hearing of a charge against Charlie Peterson of Durham in connection with the alleged knifing of a University of North Carolina student during a disturbance at the recent Henry Wallace address in Durham, has been continued until next Tuesday. The court has been unable to find the student.

CHARLOTTE TURNS THEM OUT FAST

Charlotte was turning out divorcees at a mile-a-minute rate. The Mecklenburg county superior court granted 60 divorces in a little over an hour this week. Two courtrooms were used for the decrees. Judge Wilson Warlick and Judge George Patton presided.

By the time a divorce action reached the superior court it can be disposed of with two or three questions.

But said Judge Warlick: "What is civilization coming to?"

HANDLE 'EM BETTER IN KENTUCKY, SAYS HE

Snake handlers from the Zion Tabernacle in Durham will go to Harlan Ky., this week-end for a convention where they "handle snakes better than we do here," according to the minister, The Rev. C. H. Bunn.

SHORT FREEDOM FOR ALEX BROWN

Alex Brown was free last week, but it was so brief he probably didn't enjoy it much.

Alex Negro, was a jail prisoner in Asheville this week. He decided to make his break. As the prisoners were being returned to their cells from the washroom, he grabbed a gun and wounded R. E. Kyles of Durham, when he barred his path.

The Negro scooted out the front door, but Jailer W. P. Lassiter was right behind him and tackled him on the courthouse steps. Alex was back in jail today.

UGLY VISITOR TO HATTERAS SHORE

A grim reminder of the war visited the Cape Hatteras shore Tuesday at twilight when a torpedo washed out of the Atlantic Coast Guardsmen from a nearby sloop were sent to investigate the weapon, which rumor had said bore a ring of swastikas. The torpedo was eight feet long and had a damaged nose.

MORRISON AND SCOTT ARGUE ON TAXES

Former Gov. Cameron E. Morrison and Governor-nominate Kerr Scott had a brief debate in Morganton this week. At a ceremony for the opening of a highway, Morrison challenged Scott to ask his assembly for a 50 per cent tax reduction "across the board."

Scott rose quickly to the platform and said his program "calls for giving more not less service to the people."

YOUNG DEMOCRATS MEET ON SEPT. 17

North Carolina Young Democrat clubs will hold their state convention Sept. 17 at Greensboro according to President E. Hoover Taff.

CHERRY PROCLAIMS 'CONSTITUTION DAY'

Gov. Gregg Cherry has declared Sept. 17 as Constitution Day in North Carolina. He called on citizens to take part in programs honoring the nation's constitution.

MAYBE HE JUST WANTED A ROOM FOR THE NIGHT

In Faye'sville, last week a man came into the police station and the elevator up to the top floor, stepped into a jail cell and slammed the door shut.

"What you done in there?" asked police.

"Drunk," replied the man.

At court he told the judge that he had several suspended sentences hanging over him for public drunkenness. He had fallen off the wagon again and wanted to get out of circulation before the cops picked him up.

The police said he wasn't as drunk as he had been before. The judge let him go.

HENRY ISN'T THE ONLY ONE WHO HAS TROUBLES

The Eastern Republican Rally to be held at Rocky Mount on Sept. 16, had put out two nice twelve-foot signs in front of their meeting place. Over the week-end hoodlums sneaked over and destroyed the signs, said Chairman Lawrence Harris. "No," said Harris, "we don't know exactly who did it."

DRIVER BEING HELD FOR BURNING TRUCK

Woodrow Browning, 24-year-old truck driver from Zellwood, Fla., was in the Smithfield jail this week after insurance men charged that he had deliberately set fire to his tractor-trailer in the early morning hours Sunday. Browning admitted that he had soaked part of the cab in gasoline and fired it.

HOPE HE ENJOYED THE BALL GAME

William Wellons, Smithfield attorney, went to a ball game at Clinton last week. In his wallet was $1,400 in cash, $3,000 in checks and many valuable papers.

When Lawyer Wellons got up the next morning, he found he had no pocketbook.

The sheriff and deputies checked Wellons' trail from the ball park to home but were unable to find a trace of the missing wallet.

YOUNG DEMOCRATS TO MEET AT GREENSBORO

The state convention of Young Democrats will meet on Sept. 17 at Greensboro and State President E. Hoover Taff.

Daniel Edward of Durham was named as key speaker for the event.

CLASSES WILL OPEN AT DUKE ON SEPT. 16

School will formally begin at Duke University on Sept. 15 with the traditional flag-raising exercises on the West Campus. Classes won't get underway until the next day though. Capacity enrollment is expected.

DEATHS

MISS ADDIE CRAWFORD

Miss Addie Crawford, 62, died Wednesday at the home of a brother, W. R. Crawford at Balsam.

Funeral services were held yesterday afternoon at Mt. Pleasant Baptist church with Rev. N. L. Stephens, Rev. O. J. Beck, and Rev. Ben Cook officiating. Interment was in Crawford Memorial Park.

Palbearers were Ed Crawford, Jake Parris, Jr., Billy Crawford, John Jones, Clyde Cogdill, and Walter Smathers.

Miss Crawford, a native of Jackson County, was the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Crawford.

Surviving are two sisters, Mrs. Rufus Jones and Mrs. George Smathers, both of Balsam; and two brothers, G. C. and W. R. Crawford, also of Balsam.

Garrett Funeral Home was in charge of arrangements.

BOTTLES AND BIKES DON'T MIX, SAYS JUDGE

If you're going to drive a bike, don't drink.

That's what Mayor Henry Powell told Negro Robert Giggets in Henderson. Giggets had been arrested while wheeling down the street in an unsteady manner. It didn't pay off—the judge gave him 60 days on the roads, suspended on a $100 fine, and revoked his driving license for a year.

CLOTHES LEFT BEHIND DURING RAID ON STILL

If Walter Jeffers of Oxford wants his hat and coat, he might go by the sheriff's office and pick them up. If he wants them bad enough, that is.

Jeffers left the clothing at the sight of a whiskey still over the week-end. Another man, Richard Couch, also fled.

Jeffers is under $200 bond to appear in court this week.

LEGIONAIRES CONVERGE ON ASHEVILLE FOR MEET

American Legionnaires—several thousand of them—will roll into Asheville today (Friday) for their 30th annual department convention.

After executive and business meetings Friday, a parade through the business district will begin at 4 o'clock Saturday.

The 40 & 8 Legion honor society, will hold memorial services in the city auditorium Sunday afternoon at 5 o'clock.

Kenneth C. Royall, secretary of the Army, will address a general session on Monday at 9:30 a. m.

The traditional "wreck" of the 40 & 8 initiation service, will be held Friday. The organization will name its officers Sunday morning. Auxiliary women will elect their leaders Monday morning.

Among the guests will be Gov. R. Gregg Cherry.

PAROLE SOUGHT FOR WIFE IN DEATH CASE

A parole is being considered for Mrs. Mary Edna Currin Miller, 24-year-old housewife of Rowland, who was convicted recently of hiring a Negro to shoot her husband. Mrs. Miller was sentenced to four to eight years in prison after being convicted of secret assault on her husband, David Miller. Mr. Miller suffered chest wounds from which he recovered.

Mrs. Miller said she would return to her husband and two small children if paroled.

TWO HURT WHEN HORSES RUNAWAY

Two teen-age boys were hurt near Newton this week when their team of horses ran away, tumbling them from the load of hay on which they were riding. Clarence Leonard 16, suffered bruises and lacerations of the body. Alvin Hudson, 10, sustained a broken right arm.
