Polio And Accidents

Dorate the past few months North Caroi.e., has been day concerned over police wall a toll of 1936 cases and 97 deaths for this year. This report is as of Sept. 9th, and more by the State Board of Health.

I have the is in the same period. North latestan has my been too concerned about a bally acceptants, which totaled 7.154 and resulted in the deaths - more than three The transport minute would we make light and the police situation, because we feel it has teen a serbus matter, and is still serious, masning as so little is known about the meaned ausease. At the same time, we feel teat North Carolinians need to be more secrets about the crowing number of highway accidents and the increasing number of mentles that result from these accidents.

The comparison of polio and highway accorent deaths is most interesting, and we trust that for the remainder of the year that lash will be reduced considerably;

Apple Displays

Hendersonville successfully staged their apple festival recently, and even with inelement weather, but the event over in grand style. The Tribune, of Hendersonville, said that the displays of apples in the store windows from the 39 orchards in Henderson county was the highlight of the entire festiover - shadowing the parade, queen co-vning, and the other colorful events of the week of activities apples as the commodity which was being acivertised, and which will bring to Henderson county thousands and thousands of dolbut, while the festivities were of a temthan to attract crowds:

We expect after all. The Tribune is corthat was the purpose after all.

Useless Objection

Up in Norfolk the other day, parents formed a picket line in front of the schools in protest to the "two-shift" schedules inaugurated by the school officials, who had no alternative because of lack of classroom

Last year, our neighboring county, of Jackson, faced with an acute shortage of classroom space after a building had been closed because of being dangerous, started on the 3-day week plan, and used the available classes six days a week. This plan worked, but was far from being ideal.

Norfolk is no different from a lot of other places-in having far more students than places to teach them. Haywood has some of the same problems right here in several schools

Until additional buildings can be built, it seems that parents must work with officials in trying to solve the problems as best as they can. This condition is not the fault of any one person or group. It is just the aftermath of conditions created by curtailment of building schools during the war years, while the school population zoomed to new high

It is difficult to teach students under the best of conditions, and certainly under crewded conditions, it is even more strenuous, and all this adds to the need of 100 per cent cooperation between parents, pupils and instructors. Picketing will not do it.

feeling has been blocked by too strict early training, life becomes a series of "swings" from extreme self-indulgence to no less intense self-loathing and self-condemnation. The freer from morbid shame you are about your natural instincts, the more moderation you will show in finding ways to satisfy them.

Are fainting and same thing?

Answer: Yes, maintains Dr. J. Walker Tomb in the New Zealand Medical Journal, Physically, both conditions result from the overstimulation of the sympathetic nervous system, and create in an exaggerated, pathological form the normal symptoms of extreme muscular exertion. When you faint from pain, for instance, it's as if your system had been overwhelmed by its own efforts to ward off a danger against which it is helpless, and the same thing happens in "shock," except that

MIRROR OF YOUR MIND

Are "sweet-tempered" people subject to depression?

Answer: Yes, says Dr. Lawrence F. Woolley in the Journal of the Georgia Medical Association. Pathological depression (formerly called melancholia) is apt to be brought on by shock or misfortune in the case of those "sweet individuals" who cannot accept the fact that they are capable of hostile feelings toward those whom they love or are expected to love. They "dam up" the anger which all human beings feel when disappointed or frustrated, and this ultimately is turned back upon themselves in the form of guilt hate sex?

Answer: Fairly often, on the principle that any time two sides of a personality are in conflict, the more vigorously one fights, the harder the other fights back. In the case of many men and still more women, where normal sex being conscious of it.
