In the 1939 World Series (below), three runs scored on a single. Two scored with Catcher Ernie Lombardi on the ground as a result of being run down by Charley Keller. Another odd play happened in the 1941 Series. Though Umpire Larry Goetz is going through the motions of calling Tommy Henrich out on strikes, the picture also shows Owen chasing the ball. Had he caught it the game would have ended. Instead four came home following this play and the Yanks won.
