

BACK TO 'MANIFEST DESTINY'

ARMY CHIEF OF STAFF Gen. Omar N. Bradley and his wife are taken back to the days of America's "Manifest Destiny" as they attend the Centennial celebration at Fort Bliss, Tex. At left, a bearded sentry presents arms with his percussion cap rifle—the latest weapon of that period. He wears the uniform of 1848, when Fort Bliss was the center for the expansion south to the Rio Grande and west to the Pacific. (International)

Los Angeles Sustains Traffic Reputation

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI) — Link Waters, a farmer of Fort Dodge, Ia., decided he wouldn't drive all the way into Los Angeles on a visit because he had heard the accident rate there was high.

Instead, he parked 35 miles outside town and had relatives drive out to pick him up.

On the return trip he was driven back to his car and headed for Las Vegas. When he stopped for a traffic light in the desert town, another automobile plowed into him. It was a Los Angeles car.

The American fox squirrel is the largest member of the squirrel clan, measuring about 25 inches in length. Usually red, they are sometimes albinos or coal black. Baby squirrels are born blind and remain blind for about five weeks.

Silver Hoard Sought In Manila Bay Area

MANILA (UP)—A treasure estimated at $1,500,000 in silver coins still lies at the bottom of Manila Bay.

At the outset of the Pacific war, the Philippine government decided to throw the coins into the bay rather than have them fall into Japanese hands. The money was turned over to the army and was dropped into the bay near war-famous Corregidor.

The Insular Salvage Co. already has recovered almost $450,000 worth of the coins for the government. The salvage firm gets 25 per cent as its fee but has complained that the job was too tough for that share. So the cabinet has approved 30 per cent as the fee for future recovery.

you'll be smothered to death. With him you must change your corsage from left to right shoulder before he crushes it to pieces. If he gallops, hold your skirt up slightly, so it will not be torn to tatters. If his hands perspire, he probably is nervous. This may annoy you, but try to be sweet about it. The "creeper" is the biggest bone of contention. He is the annoying critter who holds his hand flat on your back, unconsciously pushing your dress up as he dances. You can handle him by calling his attention to it in a nice way — Say: "My gosh, my ankles are showing," or some such facetious remark. Then you won't hurt his feelings. Of course you can always ditch any of these high-flyin' trapeze Romeos merely by suggesting, "Let's sit this one out and talk" or "Let's have a snack or a drink." Of course your own dance floor manners may not be perfect. Here are some pointers on how to retain your dignity when dancing: 1. Don't try to lead your dance partner. As bad as he is it will look better for him to do the honors. 2. Never leave him on the dance floor while you dash over to see Joan's engagement ring

Salt Of The King Lake Still Producing Goods

EDINBURG, Tex. (AP) — Salt is still mined from historic Sal del Rey lake. The lake, whose name means Salt of the King, is said to produce the second best salt in the world. Only one other lake, in Bavaria, produces salt purer and it contains 99.4 per cent pure sodium chloride. When lake waters are low the salt crust is scraped up and crushed. When water is high a suction pump is used to draw the salt from the lake bottom.

- or new dress. 3. Try to refrain from holding long conversations with other couples on the dance floor. You can see them after the dance. 4. Don't hang on to your partner, dance cheek-to-cheek or snuggle up to him like a puppy dog on the dance floor. 5. Leave your purse at the table. Don't ask him to stuff his pockets with your paraphernalia. And remember your purse shouldn't look like a weekend bag. Take only essentials such as a comb, mirror, powder, lipstick, hair pins, house key and mad mousie.

Whatever happens, don't be tempted into exhibitionism. If your partner is not an doing word dances, tell him you'd prefer not to. After all, you don't have to be a dope just because he is. Don't think it's cute to solo dance and NEVER, NEVER dance with another girl.

Some girls dance together in the privacy of their homes, schools or clubs, when they are trying to learn new steps. This, of course, is a wonderful way to learn how to dance without spoiling a beautiful friendship with your best beau.
