Teaching Junior Unselfish Ways At Christmas Is Urged

—By DAVID TAYLOR MARKE—
Christmas is a good time to teach junior unselfish ways, according to Miss Norma Alessandrini of the Children's Recreation Center, Pediatrics Division, Bellevue Hospital. She adds, however, that parents should not expect too much from three-to-four-year-old tots. These children need the feeling that there are some things that are theirs alone. But, at the age of six, says Miss Alessandrini, children are first becoming aware that they belong to a group and to a community. It is then parents can begin to teach them by example and through participation in group activities, that they must share with others in order to enjoy the benefits belonging to all. And what better time is there, she asks, than at Yuletide, when whole families and communities get together to enjoy the giving and receiving of gifts. "How often have we seen children making a grab for the toys of other children as well as repeating all attempts of other children to play with their toys. This is the time when junior can be taught that if he will let other children play with his toys, he in turn will be permitted to share their toys." This, she says, because junior's interest in any one object is short. It won't be long until his attention is diverted to some other object. "Should junior insist upon playing with Johnny's toy, the alert parent can engage his interest in a substitute toy almost immediately, by displaying an active interest in it. Then, as junior's and Johnny's interests wane, their toys can be exchanged," she says. Children love to bask in the favor of their parents, says Miss Alessandrini. Should junior be aware that you favor his slot of his toys or sweets with his friends or others, he is more likely to continue doing so. Again, children are great servers, she says. They'll watch you making up Christmas packages to be sent to less fortunate children here and overseas and soon bring some of their own toys to make up their own packages. "I know of clubs of youngsters saving their pennies to buy things for children at the home," she says. Miss Alessandrini had learned to do the same kind of thing and religious organizations do it. Thadeus Deitz Has Served 64 Years In Baptist Pulpit

By LARRY W. MUELL

The history of the Rev. Thadeus F. Deitz, a picturesque retired Baptist minister, is a unique and colorful one. He is now 79 years old and 64 of those years he spent preaching the gospel. Since his retirement from Scott's Creek Baptist church in 1942, where he served more than 20 years, he has been supply pastor to Baptist churches throughout Western North Carolina.

Mr. Deitz began his career at the age of fifteen being elected at that time as superintendent of his Sunday School. He had few advantages of education, 18 months schooling being about all he could manage. He studied home arithmetic did not finish Reed and Kellor's Grammar and was in the third reader when he had to quit school to help his father on the farm.

Love Story

At the age of 19, he married Miss Theresia Bowman. In these days of the hasty marriage and quick divorce, it is most refreshing to hear him tell the love story of his life.

He said: "I remember the first day I ever saw her—a little thing six years old in a little white dress. I loved her that day and I've loved her ever since. We went to school together, we professed religion the same day at the same church; we were baptized the same day by the same preacher, and joined the same church the same day and— with a laugh— we were married the same day."

It was about this time that Mr. Deitz began to preach, "exercise in public," as he expressed it. He continued his studies at home buying what books he could and taking advantage of every opportunity to improve himself, studying the sermons of famous ministers and their works.

Walk 25 Miles

During his early years he would walk as far as 25 miles to "exercise in public." There were no easily-traveled roads, no fine highways and no cars of any kind. There were only rough trails and "dancing" log bridges. On occasions he walked from Bushnell to his home near Sylva. Thus began the career of this man of God, a born orator of unusual capacity; emphatically a mountain man, possessing the characteristics of the best specimen of typical mountaineers, and the ability to make a name for himself despite of meager advantages. It is the belief of most people who know him that he has preached more sermons, attended more funerals, married more people and pastored more churches than any preacher in this part of the state. Mr. Deitz has never driven any type of car except a Model-T Ford. The present one is the fourth he has owned.

SEEING DOUBLE

SAN FRANCISCO (UP)—One lecturer solved the problem of vision-obstructing women's hats. He had a large glass showcase installed in the lobby of the theater. Women with huge headpieces left them in the showcase. Result: everyone got to see the hats and, incidentally, the lecturer.
