POSTMEN WOULD PENALIZE BITING DOGS' OWNERS

SPRINGFIELD, III, (UP) - III)nois postmen plan to ask the state tegislature for a law to protect them from dog bites,

The mailmen want a bite out of the dog owner's pocket for every bite out of the seat of their pants. Edward F Henning, vice president of the Illinois Mail Carriers' Association, said that if dog owners are made financially responsible, a pair of gray pants probably will last a lot longer.

The mailmen don't want to collect personally for dog bills. They get compensation for injuries "recrived in the fine of duty from the government, anyway. The law would permit the tederal government to get back money it spent in patching up its mailmen.
