beer during the past few months in North Carolina. In most instances the vote was 10 to 1 or even higher for prohibiting the sale of the two products." Rev. Mr. Williamson said.

The ministerial association could have easily gotten hundreds of more signatures, but felt that two hundred extra was sufficient. We met with a hearty response in every area, and have every reason to believe that Haywood will vote out wine and beer by a big majority."

The petitions will be presented to the Haywood Board of Elections just as soon as it is definitely determined that there will not be a state-wide referendum on liquor. Rev. Mr. Williamson added.

Mr. McLean tunes pianos, and operates a small mattress shop at his home. The dog would be more for Mrs. McLean than him. It was explained by a citizen who knows the family and circumstances.

One Wayneville citizen hearing of the case has already started the fund with $10. Another added $3. All money received will be acknowledged by publishing the names in this newspaper, starting Tuesday. The money will be turned over to the Bryson City Lions Club who will see that the project is carried to completion.

The Mountaineer is entering the case only because so many people here took such a keen interest in the case, and saved the tabs which they were led to believe were valuable in this particular instance.

Farmer Takes A Wife - By Mail

Arthur G. Putman, 66-year-old farmer who appealed to the Red Cross last Christmas for a wife, smiles happily upon his selection before their wedding at Gaffney, S. C., Tuesday. The bride is 22-year-old Ruby Evans of Laurel Hill, N. C. He chose her from 70 applicants after wide circulation of his appeal by radios and newspapers. They will live on Putman's farm near Blacksburg, S. C. He was a widower. (AP Photo.)

70 Women Seek Farmer's Hand; Takes Young Girl Who Can Milk As Bride

Ready To Ride

AP Newsfeatures NEW YORK — Hugo Koblet, Swiss six-day bike racing ace, is training for the big international journey to nowhere to be held here from Feb. 27 to March 5. Fifteen teams, representing nearly as many foreign nations, will vie in the race. Koblet and his partner in the coming grind, Walter Diegelman, rode their bikes to Miami recently to improve their endurance and now are working on speed tests. Both are expert skiers and soccer players.

POSTMEN TO FEED BIRDS PEKIN, III. (UP)—Rural mail carriers have asked Pekin residents to give them corn, seeds and stale bread for snow-bound birds in the area. The postmen promise to scatter the feed at spots where hungry birds gather along country roads.

DEER JOINS SHEEP SPENCER, W. Va. (UP)—A small deer has been keeping strange company on the Byron Holswade farm. Eye-witnesses report seeing a doe cavorting with a flock of sheep. It has been living with the sheep for several months.

GAFFNEY, S. C. (UP)—Arthur G. Putman, 66, called in the Red Cross and the newspapers and culled over 70 women's qualifications before picking his 22-year-old North Carolina bride-to-be. Now Putman is impatient. The ceremony will unite the plump widowed man, who just plain wanted a wife, and trim, blonde Ruby Lesan Evans of Laurel Hill, N. C. They mailed their marriage license to Probate Judge Roy C. Cobb here. But the judge didn't register it. So when Putman and Miss Evans showed up to be married, Cobb told them they'd have to wait one more day to comply fully with South Carolina's 24-hour waiting period. Putman appealed to the Red Cross several weeks ago to help him find a wife, please. The newspapers picked it up. The retired farmer, spry and claiming to have a comfortable income and a great loneliness, said he got letters from about 70 women from all over the country. But he decided Miss Evans was the girl for him because the picture she sent was pretty, "and she sounded like she meant things in her letter." She met him face to face and that clinched it. He got offers from widows with houses in big cities. But Putman said he is a farmer at heart and wanted a girl who knew how to milk a cow. One woman traveled all the way from Charleston to Blacksburg to try for Putman's hand. But she was turned down because she couldn't milk a cow. Then too, the Charleston woman said she didn't want to live on a farm any more because she liked to get things two-punch. But now, says Putman, he's found the girl of his dreams, Miss Evans, who lives on the farm near Blacksburg. And presumably she can milk a cow. She is an attractive woman, about five feet three, weighing about 110. She, like Putman, is impatient to get the wedding over with.

LONG TIME BORROWED MIDDLEBURY, Vt. (UP)—In 1922 a student borrowed a book from the Middlebury College library. The book, titled "Letters From an Elder to a Younger Brother," has just been returned to the library by the borrower's granddaughter.

GOOD ENGLISH PREFERRED PEORIA, Ill. (UP)—Bradley University, broad of science specialists who cannot write the king's English, has instituted compulsory English proficiency examinations each year for all students who make less than "B" in freshman rhetoric.

Recordings Of Little Symphony To Be Heard

Recordings of the program to be presented at the Children's Concert of the North Carolina Little Symphony Orchestra will be played at the Haywood County Library Saturday, March 5, at 10:30 a. m. under the direction of Mrs. Edna-Than Woody and Miss Betsy Lane Quinlan.

All children and young people are invited to hear the recordings in order to become familiar with the music. A brief description of each number will also be given.

Mrs. Woody and Miss Quinlan will be assisted by Miss Margaret Johnston, librarian.

The Little Symphony Orchestra will appear here in two concerts on March 17. An afternoon concert will be given for children and an evening concert for adults.

DRUG IS VERSATILE

CHICAGO (UP)—The National Society for Medical Research says aureomycin, a drug used to combat at least seven diseases, was the most important discovery within the last year. Aureomycin is used to fight virus pneumonia, spotted fever, typhus, "Q" fever, parrot fever, eye infections and urinary infections.

Here's North Carolina Trio Of Track Stars

These three track stars for the University of North Carolina won sweepstakes in the Southern Conference Indoor Games at Chapel Hill. Left to right, Deane Johnson and Bob Morrow. They took the top three places in the 70-yard high hurdles. Johnson row second, and Morrow third. Johnson set three new records and won five of his 25 victories came in both hurdles races, the high jump, the broad jump, and the 25 points amounted to nearly half of the Tar Heels' winning total of 52 points.
